CHESAPEAKE MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER HERE

BLACKWATER—A 48-year-old Chesapeake man has been charged with murder in the Saturday slaying of William Eason, 50, of Blackwater Borough. The victim, who had been arrested Friday in a whiskey still raid was out on bond.

Asbury Edward Cuffee was arrested by Virginia Beach Police several hours after the 6:10 p.m. slaying as he walked along a highway about a mile from the death scene.

Detective A. E. Smith, who headed the investigation, said Eason was killed at his Blackwater home as he sat chatting with neighbors.

Cuffee opened the door behind Eason and shot him in the back of the head with a .22-caliber rifle, then walked into the room and fired another round point blank into the back of the victim's head as he lay on the floor, Smith reported.

The shooting followed a raid on a whiskey still in Blackwater Borough about 12:30 p.m. Friday by officers of the federal Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, Virginia Beach police and the state ABC board.

Eason was arrested in the raid, charged with the manufacture of illegal whiskey and was released on bond, according to an Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division source.

Police said a link between the raid and the shooting had not been established but that such a possibility was being investigated.

Smith said Cuffee had hidden the murder rifle in a wooded area before the arrest but he allegedly showed officers where the gun was located.

Eason was alone at the 100-gallon still at the time of the raid, federal authorities said. The still was in operation at the time and fourteen gallons had been run off. Two hundred and eighty gallons of mash were found at the scene, they said.

Center Planned In Bayside District

BAYSIDE — A 158-acre site at Bayside has been acquired for a shopping center, it was announced last week.

Located at the northeast corner of Bayside Road and Pleasure House Road, the tract was purchased from E. R. Ayres by Five Parts, Inc.

John J. Woodard is president of the company. Sales price was reported as $100,000.

Woodard said the shopping center would serve numerous subdivisions in the area between Shore Drive and Virginia Beach Boulevard.

Independence Boulevard, which is planned to connect the two thoroughfares, will abut the shopping center.

Misha Rafal of Woodard Realty Co. handled the sales transaction.

Elizabeth Yates

VIRGINIA BEACH — Elizabeth Yates, one of the nation's leading authors of juvenile books, spoke at Friends School Sunday afternoon. Many of her books will be featured in the school's annual Book Fair which opens today.

The author, who in private life is Mrs. William McGraw, came to Virginia Beach after being presented the Kings Arms Friday by the Virginia Education Association in Richmond.

Miss Yates' best known book is "Amos Fortune, Free Man," which won the Newberry Award in 1951 as the "most distinguished contribution to American literature," and also the Herald Tribune Spring Festival Award as the most outstanding book for older children.

Her "Mountain Born" is presently being made into a movie by Walt Disney.

Of the 25 books she has written, her own favorite is "Sir Gribble," originally published in 1878 by George MacDonald but edited this year by Miss Yates.

"Now and then a book is as real as a friend and after a life is not the same, nor will it ever be the same, for it has become richer, more meaningful, more challenging," Sir Gribble did this to me. It holds that within it covers to do something for all who read it," she told the group Sunday.

About 800 books will be displayed at Friends School during the Book Fair, which will run through Saturday and will be open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Schools Get Heart Models

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Tidewater Heart Association presented the Virginia Beach public schools with six heart models Friday to be used in the health and science classes.

The presentation was made at the School Administration Building at 2 p.m.

The models were presented to Joseph Owens, assistant administrator of the Virginia Beach School Board, by Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court Judge L. Travis Branch, chairman of the Virginia Beach Heart Fund, and William Campbell, vice president of the Tidewater Heart Association.

Also on hand for the presentation was Paul K. Mergler, executive director of the Tidewater Heart Association.

The six models will be used in Princess Anne High, F. W. Cox High, Floyd Kellam High, Virginia Beach High, Kempsville Junior High and Union Kempsville High Schools.

Their purpose will be to serve as a visual aid in teaching the functions of the heart and circulatory system.

Judge Branch also said during the presentation that he hoped, because of the tremendous shortage of nurses, physicians and physical therapists, etc., that the students would not only learn from the models but would become interested in a health career in the future.

The Tidewater Heart Association will also provide the schools with hundreds of pieces of material and charts to be used in the health and science curriculum.

Bayside Woman Charged With Man's Murder

BAYSIDE — A Bayside woman has been charged with the murder of James Willie McPerson early Monday at his home in the 7000 block of Bayside Road.

Police said that McPerson, 42 or 43 years of age, was killed at about 1:30 a.m. His body showed multiple knife wounds in the chest and back according to Capt. R. H. Stone of Virginia Beach Police.

Frances Mae Hudson, 53, of the same address has been charged with murder, Stone said. The case was investigated by patrolman H. H. Unroe and detective A. R. Nobles.

Beach Mother Fatally Injured In Auto Mishap

VIRGINIA BEACH—A Virginia Beach woman was killed early Sunday when her car swerved off Virginia Beach Boulevard and overturned. The victim, Mrs. Beulah F. Orr, 35, of 405 Sharp St., Eastern Park, apparently fell asleep at the wheel just before the crash, police said.

Mrs. Orr was driving home at about 4:25 a.m. when the wreck occurred about 500 feet west of Princess Anne High School.

The car swerved off the left side of the highway, traveled 177 feet then hit a cutoff road and bounced back across the boulevard.

The car crossed both west-bound traffic lanes, the feeder road and travelled another 210 feet before overturning in the ditch.

The lack of skid marks indicated Mrs. Orr dozed off at the wheel, police said.

The victim was the wife of Elwood Wayne Orr. She worked for a supermarket chain.

She was a native of Broken Arrow, Okla., and had lived in Virginia Beach for three years.

She was a daughter of Mrs. Delpha Reynolds Kelly of Broken Arrow and of the late Arthur Reynolds.

Besides her mother and husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Glenda Sue Watson and Mrs. Norma Lou Westcott, both of Virginia Beach; two sisters, Mrs. Freda Mae Cauthern and Mrs. Oleta R. Greene, both of Kansas City, Mo.; and a grandchild.

KELLAM TO SPEAK

William P. Kellam, candidate for the House of Delegates, will speak to the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at Pine Tree Inn. The program, on legislation, will be under the direction of Mrs. J. James Davis.

The body was shipped from Simiele Funeral Home to Clinkingbeard Funeral Home in Gainesville, Mo., where services will be held later this week.

Engineers Give Nod To Study Of Hurricanes

WASHINGTON—A major hurdle in the city's attempt to obtain a federal survey of the Virginia Beach shoreline in regard to hurricane protection and beach erosion was overcome recently when the Army Corps of Engineers favored a resolution requesting the study.

In a letter to Charles A. Buckley, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, Maj. Gen. Jackson Graham, director of civil works, said that the survey "appears to be warranted at this time."

Maj. Graham estimated the cost of the study at $75,000 and said it would take about two years to complete after receipt of the funds.

The House Public Works Committee recently asked the Army Corps of Engineers to provide them with a report on the possibility of such survey, and the Committee's action has been pending until this report came through.

Maj. Graham's letter states that the authority to make the study could be provided by the adoption of a resolution in accordance with Section 110 of the River and Harbor Act of 1962.

This law states that: "The Secretary of the Army is hereby authorized and directed to cause surveys of the coastal areas of the United States in the interest of hurricane protection and related purposes..." but stipulates that specific areas must go through the House or Senate Public Works Committees.

Virginia Beach's shoreline extends from Cape Henry at the entrance to Chesapeake Bay to the Virginia-North Carolina State line, a distance of 26 miles.

An existing present project outdated provides for Federal support on sand replenishment along the shore between 2nd and 49th Streets, boundaries of Virginia Beach Borough. This is a distance of 3.34 miles.

This project was designed to widen the beach berm to a minimum width of about 100 feet at elevation 7 feet above mean low water.

The city receives federal aid in the cost of the program, which provides periodic replenishment of the beach over a 25-year period within the project limits.

All former reports on the city's erosion problems were limited to what is now Virginia Beach Borough. But with the Jan. merger with Princess Anne County, Virginia Beach's shoreline jumped to 26 miles rather than 3.34.

Gen. Graham states that in view of this additional shoreline "and increase of property values along the Virginia Beach shoreline, a study appears to be warranted at this time."

The survey will concern beach erosion control and hurricane protection and will particularly determine the type of measures required for protection against the more severe hurricanes and prolonged northeast storms.

The Ash Wednesday storm of 1962, which caused such severe damage to the beach and sand dunes, prompted City Manager W. Russell Hatchett to ask Rep. Thomas N. Downing to initiate a resolution in the House Public Works Committee calling for a study of Virginia Beach.

The city has asked that the resolution not only determine what protective measures will be needed, but also determine the amount of funds the city would have to spend each year in maintaining the project and other items the city would be responsible for.

After the March, 1962, storm, the Corps of Engineers constructed an emergency wooden bulkhead in front of the damaged seawall and strengthened portions of the sand dunes in North Virginia Beach.

However, this was strictly an emergency and temporary measure and has left Virginia Beach vulnerable to more severe damage should another Ash Wednesday storm occur.

Rep. Downing, who has supported the resolution ever since he introduced it to the House Committee last August, said he was "delighted" that the Corps of Engineers favors the survey. "I will do everything possible to encourage the House Public Works Committee to adopt the required resolution," he told the Sun-News last Friday.

TEEN TOPICS . . . By Lucy S. Oliver Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

Fashion, fashion. The wonderful world of fashion seems to draw our interest like a magnet. (Whether they admit it or not, boys are often as interested in their changing styles as girls are in theirs.)

Being in style is never more important than it is when you are a teenager. Here is something about 1963 fall fashions for the female teenage set that may interest you. According to the information I have, these fashions are supposed to be "in" for you young folks. Check and see how you rate!

V-neck pullovers and vests, jumper styles, wrap around skirts, and skirts made up in corduroy, denim, poplin, and batik prints are supposed to be good.

As you well know, the shift is now the rage and so are A lines in dresses and skirts. Suspenders with an A line skirt are news, too, for sports.

Basque tops are popular in madras, denim, and batik. Suede elbow patches are being worn on sweaters. Purse made of batik, madras, or denim combined with leather are also still in the running.

Dress shoes are the ankle strap pump, Mary Jane, or colonial pump. School shoes are loafers, laced phillies, or boots.

Well, how did you do. Does your wardrobe match up. If it does I say fine, but if it doesn't, of course that does not mean a whole lot either.

Styles and fads vary from region to region and school to school. School dress regulations may also have some effect on your wardrobe.

A little common sense will tell you that if you lose your individuality in the way you dress you have lost a great deal. Even if you would like to dress like your classmates, I am sure you will agree that there is much to be said for that extra pin or the light colors and combinations to make your outfit look like you and no one else.

Don't forget that even if a certain color is "in" that does not mean that you should wear it even if it does make you look green. Many times some shades of the same color may be more flattering than others. Choose carefully before you buy—try the different shades to find the one that looks best, especially if you are choosing something to be worn next to your face.

Style lines are pretty important too. Some people just plain don't have the face shape to wear a high round neckline. If a high neck makes your face look as round as a quarter, get a fashionable color instead.

Cosmetic news is changing also. The natural look is becoming more and more popular. The trend is to go light on the eyeliner. Your eyes are now supposed to blend into your face. Of course we all know that make-up is supposed to enhance our best features, but over-emphasis looks much better on stage or on a magazine cover than it does in day light. So go easy with the eye-brow pencil, mascara, and powder base.

Fashions change frequently, but your personal standards of grooming should not. Don't forget that no stylish outfit looks smart unless it is clean, pressed, and accented by good posture, nice work, and a well-groomed wearer.

P. S. Don't forget the smile!

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

By SAM MASON, R.Ph.

Although medical science has long devoted much time and effort to dredging up a cure for the common cold, the magical cure may still be a rather distant dream.

Recent research now lays the cause of most colds at the doorstep of a virus called COXSACKIE A-21, a slum-dweller of the intestinal tract, which is one of over 214 strains of viruses in its group.

If nothing else, the suspected link between viruses and common colds has been verified and this should narrow the gap between the cold and eventual cure.

While we're all waiting around for this magical cure, BAKER'S REAL PHARMACY will continue to fill any and all prescriptions with exacting care. Prescriptions are something of a specialty at BAKER'S REAL PHARMACY, 17th & Atlantic Ave. Phone GA 8-1211. Free prescription delivery.

Early Hunting Mishaps Claim Three Lives

RICHMOND—The most recent tally shows eleven injured and 3 dead in early season hunting mishaps with the main hunting seasons not scheduled to open until November 18.

Woodchuck hunters accounted for a large number of the accidents so far on record. The bow-hunters' good record was marred with one injury and one fatality.

Hunting accidents already appear to be jumping ahead of last year when only 40 accidents including 5 fatalities were recorded.

Small Talk

Virginia Beach High School

The last four Senior Superlatives of Virginia Beach High School were formally chosen just prior to Oct. 18. This was due to a tie resulting in the choice of the "Most School Spirited" boy. The senior superlatives chosen are as follows: (1) most athletic, Peggy Garvin and Rick Nolan; (2) Wittiest, Clara Katsias and Ken Caffey; (3) Most dependable, Gail Kapland and Mike Courain; and (4) Most School Spirited, Billy Hart and April Ramsey.

Last Friday, Oct. 25, the fruits of many weeks of activity materialized at Virginia Beach High School. As you may know already, this was the date of the annual Virginia High School homecoming.

The homecoming festivities were inaugurated by a 42 unit parade which promenade from 17th on Atlantic Avenue through 31st street and then returned to the High School. The winning floats of the parade were as follows: first prize of $15, cheerleader's float; second prize of $10, Y-teen club float; and third prize of $5, Eighth grade float.

The homecoming game in which Virginia Beach played Cox High School followed the parade at 8:00 p.m. The halftime ceremonies were highlighted by the presentation of the Beach Bowl attendants and the crowning of the Beach Bowl queen, Miss Caroline Boshier.

The final homecoming touch was added in the evening with semi-formal Beach Bowl dance which immediately followed the game. The band playing was the Rondels. The dance continued until 12:00 thus ending a delightful evening which was a tribute to the many weeks of preparation which preceded it.

Festival Takes On Family Air

RICHMOND—For the second consecutive year, Thanksgiving Day in Richmond will be a family affair. The Richmond Thanksgiving Festival is stressing family togetherness during its 1963 observance of Thanksgiving by again sponsoring the traditional Thanksgiving football game at City Stadium between the University of Richmond and the College of William and Mary.

The game will be a family affair with special prices in the reserved section. Youngsters under 18 years of age may sit in adjoining seats with parents or adult sponsors in the reserved section for only $.95 each. Reserve tickets for adults are $4.00 each. Tickets for this traditional football game in Richmond are priced for the entire family. Also, tickets for high school students sitting in the end zone are $.75 each. All tickets may be obtained from W. Fred Caylor, Business Manager of Athletics, University of Richmond, Virginia, AT 8-5308; or Ed Derringer, PO Box 399, Williamsburg, Virginia, CA 9-3111.

The 1963 Thanksgiving Day Football game between the University of Richmond and the College of William and Mary will be the 72nd annual gridiron contest between these two rivals. The game will get under way at 2 p.m., November 28th at Richmond City Stadium.

A highlight of the UR-WM game will be the half-time activities. Festival officials are hopeful of coming up with something new and rare. Dr. Davis Y. Paschall, President, College of William and Mary, and Dr. George M. Modlin, President, University of Richmond, have extended an official invitation to Governor and Mrs. Harrison to attend this annual football classic on Thanksgiving Day.

The Cavaliers of Princess Anne, girding for their upcoming battle with undefeated Wilson, bore down on a game Craddock eleven to win by a 23-6.

Cox High defeated Chuchuck, 12-0, and Kellam put up a furious battle before bowing to Northampton, 21-12.

Chris Hanson, the district scoring leader, tallied twice in the Seahawk victory over Holland, 14-7. Hanson leads the conference scoring race with 109 points.

Barry Robinson was outclassed by Christ Church, 26-6. It was B-R's third straight defeat against four wins.

American Enterprise Pioneers Again

Business Jets, a division of Pan American World Airways, has just closed a contract with the French manufacturers of a ten-passenger Baby Jet aircraft to be sold in the United States and Canada. The planes produced under this program will cost some $900,000 apiece and be acquired largely by corporations to provide fast and convenient travel for business officials between offices and plants here and abroad. Pan American is organizing its airport facilities around the world to efficiently serve such corporate aircraft abroad. In addition, this unusual agreement is expected to provide foreign exchange earnings over the years for the United States as well as France, and thus help to reduce our balance-of-payments deficit.

The airframes for these small jets will be built in France. But the contract provides that they will be fitted with U. S.-built engines, along with flight instruments and other components of American origin. These will be exported for installation, and their value will more than offset the cost of airframe imports. So, it is estimated, net U. S. foreign exchange earnings under the cooperative U. S. - French program will total almost $20 million.

Mutually beneficial arrangements such as this will, it is to be hoped, be affected in many fields. Little by little, old trade barriers are being lowered. This brings profits to all concerned—not only in money, but in understanding between nations and their peoples.

This is an outstanding example of vision and business courage in pioneering in a round the world field which maintains the tradition of U. S. enterprise.

Long Overdue

Senator Dominick of Colorado is no enemy of the rural electrification movement. But—like many other members of Congress—he is gravely disturbed by the special, taxpayer-paid, favors granted the REA co-ops, and by certain of their present policies.

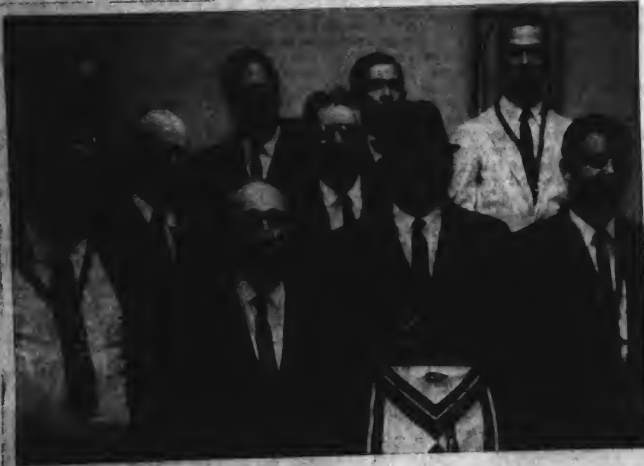

He urges that the law be changed so that co-ops pay the going interest rate for the money they borrow from the Treasury, instead of the below-cost 2 per cent rate established almost 30 years ago. Moreover, to quote him directly, "Since 1936 we have invested more than $4 billion of taxpayer funds in the REA. Yet today, in spite of the fact that over 98 per cent of the rural areas now have electricity, we are called upon to approve larger and larger budgets for REA." And he went on to show that five out of every six new REA customers are in the nonfarm category, and that the co-ops — using their taxpayer-subsidized loans to make themselves a profit — have gone into the money lending business in unfair competition with private enterprise.

The Joplin, Missouri, Globe, in an editorial devoted to Senator Dominick's moderate and thoroughly-justified criticisms, says: "Others have pointed to this growth of public power. Trouble is that over a period of more than 25 years REA has become a congressional 'sacred cow,' with virtually no effort made to curb its expansion into fields not originally intended."

Perhaps a change is, at last, in the offing. A swelling tide of demands that REA and the co-ops operate on a business basis, instead of a tax-subsidized basis, may pre-empt that. It is long overdue.

FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS

Boys Will Come Back Another Time Is Good Bet

By C. D. Smith

You forgot to make note of this fact. It's important. If you are in your early teens, you are much too young to be dating and your parents are right in not permitting you to do so.

is ready for dating is something no one is more qualified to do than parents, who have the responsibility for guiding footsteps in the proper direction.

We grant that the average teenager believes himself or herself "ready" to date long before parents are in agreement. Also, some parents use every tactic in the book to keep their children from dating as long as is possible. Still, it remains a family matter and the wise teenager will recognize that cooperation and consultation with parents on the matter of dating will do far more good than resentment or rebellion.

One thing is sure, however. The boys aren't "turning away from you." The word is out that you aren't dating yet. The line will form again when your parents decide that you can have dates.

Cavalier CAPERS

PRINCESS ANNE—For a while it seemed as though Princess Anne's 1963 homecoming was doomed with the threat of hurricane Ginny. But Lady Luck stepped in and the Cavaliers enjoyed a beautiful homecoming. Miss Linda Howell, senior, was crowned Homecoming Queen during the halftime ceremonies. Linda is a variety cheerleader, an honor court judge, and a member of the Keyette Club. Members of her court were Jane Harrison, Pam Kerber, Patsy Fox, and Suzi Blankenship.

The winning floats of the evening were National Theatricals, first; Trinity Tri-Hi-Y, second; and Scepter Tri-Hi-Y, honorable mention.

Fred Gray, senior co-captain of the football team, was awarded the most valuable player trophy following Princess Anne's romp over the Deep Creek Hornets 27-6.

Saturday, the Seniors will have their day on the class trip to Williamsburg. After the tour, the Seniors will attend the William and Mary-VMI football game.

The newly elected Junior Class officers are Billy Montez, president; Frances Pollack, vice-president; Peggy Mannen, secretary; and Martha Davis, treasurer.

One of Trinity Tri-Hi-Y's many projects for the month of October has been the donating of 70 stuffed animals to a children's home. The girls made the animals themselves.

This coming week, the Cavaliers meet the Cradock Admirals at Cox Stadium.

College board exams will be given at Princess Anne High School December 7. Seniors are reminded that the deadline for mailing fees is November 6.

Use Of Blood Here Ahead Of That Given

VIRGINIA BEACH — In the period of time between the last two visits of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Virginia Beach, residents received, free of cost from the blood program, 205 pints of blood more than they bothered to replace.

These figures were released Friday by Mrs. Lois M. Nelson, local blood program chairman. Between July 19 and September 20, area residents used 297 pints of blood, according to Mrs. Nelson, but during the Bloodmobile's last visit, Sept. 20, donations only totaled 92.

"It just doesn't seem possible that 205 pints of life giving blood were given without a thought of thanks for that life," Mrs. Nelson commented.

The Bloodmobile will again visit Virginia Beach Friday, Nov. 15 at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center from noon to 6 p.m.

1964 FAIRLANE SIZE SAME AS '56 FORD

If you have a garage that was just right for your 1956 Ford, you might take a look at the 1964 Ford Fairlane.

It was the growth of the size of "conventional" cars on the one hand, and the move to "compact" cars on the other, that led to the "intermediate-sized" Ford Fairlane.

The Ford Fairlane was designed to combine interior roominess comparable to the 1959 full-sized car with a smaller exterior size more nearly like that of the 1956 full-sized car. The combination proved to be just what many motorists were looking for and 1962 sales of 298,116 Fairlanes rose to 344,000 during the 1963 model year.

The restyled Fairlane again is the answer for the driver who wants excellent roadability, no parking problems, and plenty of room inside.

The fresh, new styling of the 1964 model suggests big-car interior roominess — and that's exactly what the Fairlane has. Retaining the same overall dimensions they had before, new Fairlane models offer high seats for better driver visibility, high door openings in front and back for easy access, and head and leg room equal to or greater than some full-size cars.

For example, leg room in the front compartment of all Fairlane models measures 42 1/2 inches, the same as the Lincoln Continental.

Hip-to-hip distance — the accepted standard for measuring how high the driver sits — is 10 inches in 1964 Fairlane sedans, or second only to Thunderbird among Ford products.

Despite new styling that gives it a bigger look, the Fairlane retains its overall length at 197 1/2 inches. Overall width has been increased almost an inch to 72 1/2 inches.

The unexpected roominess of Fairlane sedans and hardtops is dramatically evident in both six- and eight-passenger station wagons.

Front compartment, leg room in both sides of wagon and head room, hip room and knee room

Fire Destroys Kempsville House

VIRGINIA BEACH — A small frame house was destroyed by fire in the Kempsville area Thursday.

No one was injured in the blaze which started about 8 a.m. Firemen from the Kempsville and Davis Corner volunteer fire departments fought the fire.

The destroyed building was owned by John Arrington of Holland Road. The home was unoccupied at the time of fire.

By Paul B. MacLean
 "Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession tempers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it."

Hazlett
 We hear much of the great education and moral strengthening to be gained from adversity and privation. We wouldn't presume to argue this point—far be it—but we are often moved to wonder if it is so utterly debasing to be spoiled just a bit by the bourgeois prosperity which the reach of most citizens of our great country. If adversity is to be one's lot, perhaps there is some measure of consolation in knowing that if nothing else we are being toughened and conditioned to face any frightening eventuality—prosperity, for example.

Less Than 2,000 Turn Out to Vote

VIRGINIA BEACH — An extremely light vote Tuesday placed a state senator, two delegates to the House of Representatives and four constitutional officers to office with less than 2,000 voters turning out at 21 of the city's 22 precincts.

Seaback precinct had not reported by Wednesday noon.

Only 1,891 votes were cast within the city, Virginia Beach Precinct No. 1, at the fire station, had the heaviest total with 208 followed by Aragona with 177 and London Bridge with 175.

The heaviest individual vote went to Commissioner of Revenue Ivan D. Mapp with 1,804 and Treasurer V. Alfred (Jack) Etheridge with 1,798.

The city's lightest individual voting was in the House of Delegates race.

William P. Kellam, running for public office for the first time, took 1,744 of the votes which was considerably more than long-time Del. P. B. White's 1,592.

In the Constitutional race Commonwealth's Attorney Robert L. Simpson had 1,772 and City Sergeant John E. Marr had 1,785. Sen. E. Almer Ames took 1,785 votes. All of the candidates, running on the organization ticket, were unopposed, which probably accounted for the unusually light turn out.

Voter interest in the candidates was sadly lacking but this was not the case in the petitions asking for the right to vote on whiskey by the drink.

These petitions were circulated by local Jaycees outside the polls and were signed by 75 per cent of the voters. Many of the voters who declined stated they had signed prior to election day.

BAKE SALE

The American Legion Auxiliary of Virginia Beach will hold a bake sale Saturday at the 31st St. Colonial Store. Baked goods will be on sale beginning at 10 a.m.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Virginia Beach on Friday, November 15, 1963. Quarters will be set up at the Alan B. Shepard Convention Center, Pacific Avenue and 13th Street. The hours will be from noon to 6:00 p.m.

This visit will be sponsored by the Virginia Beach Lodge B. P. O. E. No. 2268, located at 1805 Atlantic Avenue. All members of the Elks Lodge have been asked to participate and the members of this worthy organization urge all residents to donate blood at this time. Cubes such as these will be given to thousands of residents this Sunday during the Sabin Oral program sponsored by three area medical groups. Drink Petitions Get Support At Polls Here

VIRGINIA BEACH — Petitions asking for the right to vote on whiskey by the drink received strong support at Virginia Beach polling places Tuesday. But Attorney L. Charles Burlage, who led the petition drive here, said Wednesday he was disappointed in the lack of public support the petition received from Virginia Beach delegates to the General Assembly.

According to Burlage, 75 per cent of Tuesday's voters signed the petitions which were made available at the polls. Many of those who did not sign said that they had already signed the petition elsewhere. It was reported that only 77 voters declined to give their signatures for other reasons.

Burlage said the response of the voters was gratifying but added, "If this is ever going to come about it will need the ringing support of our delegates to the General Assembly."

He said he had contacted both delegates by mail. "One of them didn't answer and one said he would not lend his support," Burlage stated.

Virginia Beach is represented in the General Assembly by Senator E. Almer Ames and delegate P. B. White. In addition, William P. Kellam was elected Tuesday to fill a new seat in the House of Delegates.

The petition supports a bill favoring local option which Norfolk delegate Bernard Levin plans to introduce when he returns to the legislature in January.

It would allow Norfolk and Virginia Beach voters to decide whether cocktails can be served in certain eating places.

DATE CHANGED

City Council will meet Tuesday at 2 p.m. instead of Monday's regular meeting day, City Clerk John Fenitress said Wednesday.

Beach Couple Killed As Private Plane Crashes And Burns In Georgia

VIRGINIA BEACH — A Virginia Beach couple and their unborn child were killed Wednesday morning when their single-engine plane crashed and burned near Ponder Springs, Ga.

The couple was identified as Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Postell Jr. of 209 Poochantas Drive. Identification was made by officials at the Fulton County Airport in nearby Atlanta from flight plans filed by Postell.

Postell, 38, was operations vice president of Atlantic Cresoating Company which maintains plants in Portsmouth and Savannah, Ga. The couple was reportedly on a business-pleasure trip to New Orleans, La., when the tragedy occurred.

The plane was a single-engine Beechcraft Bonanza. It left Norfolk Municipal Airport shortly before 9 a.m. Tuesday. The crash occurred about 8 minutes after the plane had taken off Wednesday from the Fulton County Airport.

Mrs. Postell was expecting a baby early next month. First reports indicated that the child may have been born unexpectedly in flight and may have caused the crash.

Airport officials later stated that the baby was born and killed upon impact.

Officials also said that the plane took off in bad, foggy weather with zero visibility. They said that Postell was in radio contact with the airport when the plane developed trouble, crashed and burned but did not say what type of trouble the plane was having.

A witness to the crash, Wilbur

Brown, on whose farm the plane fell, told officials there that the plane turned as if to land on a road and blew up as it went down.

Brown said Postell was thrown clear of the plane on one side of the road and Mrs. Postell was thrown on the other side. The baby was lying about 10 feet from the mother.

The falling plane barely missed a farm home when it crashed, reports said. Mrs. Postell was the mother of two other children; Gerald, 13, a student at Virginia Beach High School, and Patricia, 11, a student at Cooke Elementary School.

Mrs. Postell's mother was staying with the children while the couple was away on the trip. Postell's parents reside in Georgia and it was believed the couple may have spent Tuesday night with them.

Journalists To View Bay Span

BAYSIDE — Some 500 leaders in American journalism and public relations will be given a special preview Friday of the world's longest bridge-tunnel, now being completed across the mouth of Chesapeake Bay.

The journalists, attending the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi Professional Journalistic Society, will tour the 17.6 mile long Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel in the afternoon after a morning trip to historic Williamsburg.

They will inspect the mammoth project from one of the seven Little Creek Ferry vessels that now transport motorists between the Hampton Roads-Virginia Beach area and Virginia's Eastern Shore. The 30-year old ferry operation will end when the bridge-tunnel opens for traffic in mid-April, 1964.

Hailed as one of the engineering wonders of the world, the bridge-tunnel will speed travelers across the edge of the Atlantic Ocean on a complex of two bridges, two tunnels, four man-made islands, and 12.2 miles of concrete trestle. It will cut 90 minutes off the ferry crossing time. The Sigma Delta Chi members represent all branches of journalism, including newspapers, magazines, radio and television. Featured speakers during the three day convention include Walter Cronkite, managing editor for the Columbia Broadcasting System; Fletcher Knebel, editor and publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

Saturday the group will visit the world's largest Navy base and lunch aboard the nuclear powered, aircraft carrier Enterprise.

On Friday's boat trip, the convention group will be accompanied by representatives of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel Commission; Sverdrup & Parcel, consulting engineers; and Kiewit, joint builders of the bridge-tunnel.

His wife, Mrs. Margaret Eyer, and their 3-year old son live at City Trailer Park in Virginia Beach.

Four youths were arrested Monday in Yuma and admitted beating Eyer with a lug wrench to rob him. When they found he had no money they dumped his body beside a road outside Yuma, police there reported.

The 'Y' of It

Since the swimming classes began in September, each participant feels as though he has made some improvement. Those who were afraid to put their big toes and faces in the water are now paddling around with ease. The other more advanced students are improving their strokes. Each one has reaped some reward from taking these courses. The ladies participating in the Monday morning classes are getting trim and fit for the forthcoming holiday season by taking exercise before hopping into the pool. The most interesting class held for swimmers is in synchronized swimming. In that class the swimmers have learned many new water stunts they are in hopes of having a water show during their last class period, Wednesday, November 20th.

For Women Only—

If You Ask Me

By Audrey Smith

Does a cold water detergent get clothes clean?

This is a question which is often asked. Cold water detergents are comparatively new, and not much research is yet available about the product.

One factor is known—the effectiveness of cold water detergents may be related to whether or not the water is hard. Therefore, the homemakers using the new product may have to develop their own standard of performance, and evaluate the product in terms of what is important in her own situation.

To do the evaluation, the homemaker must think about her own laundry and what is important to her when she uses the detergent. For instance, are grease, oil, dirt, and other stains removed satisfactorily? Are shirt collars and cuffs clean enough? Will the detergent remove water colors and crayon marks from children's clothes? Are egg, lipstick, and grass stains removed? Does the product affect your hands?

Earlier studies in laundry work showed the importance of hot water to dissolve organic materials. Inorganic materials such as mud and dirt can be removed with cold water. So cold water laundering should work well for items covered with dust and dirt, such as throw rugs, slightly soiled articles of man-made fibers, and to preserve bright colors.

If the new product does not remove a stain you have washed, do not iron the garment. This may set the stain permanently. Rewash the garment in hot water. Essentially, it's up to you right now to decide for yourself if cold water detergents do the job you expect.

Homemakers Want To Know...

SCHOOL LUNCH BOXES CAN BE TEMPTING

By CECE ALLISON, Scott Home Service Center

Q. Lunches I pack always seem to be the same, sandwiches over and over. How do you get variety into sandwiches which are to be carried?

J. E.
A. Many youngsters are conservative when it comes to sandwich fillings. They want certain favorites repeated often—peanut butter, for example. However, there is fun and variety in the wonderful range of breads and rolls available on the market. You can alternate the types of bread, rolls and crackers to provide tempting variety. If you have a freezer, keep on hand a variety of breads. When packing the lunch box, the frozen bread may be filled without thawing to help keep the sandwich cold until lunch time. Because bread frozen in its original wrapper may be held only about two weeks, plan to repack it in Cut-Rite Plastic Wrap for several months holding in the freezer. Sandwiches, too, may be prepared and frozen, wrapped in the plastic wrap. For freezing, butter the bread to the edge to eliminate filling seeping out the breads and avoid fillings containing mayonnaise. Frozen sandwiches wrapped in Cut-Rite Plastic Wrap may be kept in the freezer up to two weeks. They may be packed without thawing in the lunch box and will be right for eating by noon.

Q. Try as I may, I find that after about two weeks of packing school lunches I slide into a monotony which I know dulls my youngsters' appetites. How can I keep sparkle in the lunch box?

Mary Lou
A. One of the easiest ways to keep interest and fun in the packing of lunch boxes is to use a different color of paper towel. Then, mix and match the colors of paper napkins used. There are many napkin color combinations and the mix and match of a sparkling "new look" can be of great help. Of course, you will want to make sure the napkins are clean and dry when you pack them.

Q. What lunch other than sandwiches can be packed to provide variety in the lunch box?

Cathy McHugh
A. Cooked meat cubes threaded on skewers or toothpicks are a delicious snack for fast food.

FOLK SINGER WILL PRESENT CONCERT SAT.

NORFOLK — Sara Stafford Cecil, guitarist and folk singer, will be presented in concert at Old Dominion College, Saturday, at 8 p.m. in the college gymnasium in the main administration building. The concert is sponsored by Alpha Xi Delta national fraternity for women.

Most of Sara Cecil's songs are from the British Isles. She also sings songs from the Southern Appalachians, Negro and White spirituals, cowboy songs, and songs from Mexico and Spain. Dramatic, gay, wistful, comic, sometimes tragic—are the moods she conveys to her audiences as she sings the songs and ballads of yesterday.

Perhaps it is her Welsh ancestry that gives this singer-guitarist her strong feeling for music and literature intertwined and inseparable that is "folk music." She has had years of study in her field including formal studies at Peabody Conservatory and private coaching in voice, composition, and classic guitar with excellent instructors. Her "Ten Gutter Songs," a recently published selection of her original guitar accompaniments has already gained international acclaim as a "real contribution to guitar literature."

Many of her songs are presented with a flavor of dialect or brogue. The illusion is further heightened by appropriate costumes and stage settings. She has captivated audiences in New York, Washington, and Baltimore as well as the Middle West.

Tickets ($1.00 per person) will go on sale Tuesday, November 5, on campus and will be available at the door.

Jo Anne Horton, Alpha Xi Delta, is chairman of the concert committee. Sponsors for the group are Mrs. John H. Lederle and Mrs. Mary Lou Runyon.

Any alumnae of a National Panhellenic Conference Sorority is invited to attend the luncheon.

Those wishing reservations may call Mrs. W. C. Utley (622-9963) or Mrs. John Harper (623-6255).

There are 28 sororities in the conference and of these, 18 are represented in the Norfolk Panhellenic Association. They include: Alpha Chi Omega; Alpha Delta Pi; Alpha Gamma Delta; Alpha Sigma Delta; Alpha Sigma Tau; Alpha Xi Delta; Chi Omega; Delta Delta Delta; Delta Gamma; Delta Zeta; Gamma Phi Beta; Kappa Alpha Theta; Kappa Delta; Kappa Kappa Gamma; Phi Mu; Pi Beta Phi; Sigma Sigma Sigma; and Zeta Tau Alpha.

Women Will Hear Kellam

VIRGINIA BEACH — Mrs. J. James Davis, legislative chairman for the Princess Anne Women's Club of Virginia Beach, will be in charge of the program when the group meets Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. at Pine Tree Inn.

William P. Kellam, newly elected representative to fill the city's second seat in the House of Delegates, will be the guest speaker.

His topic will be "Know Your Virginia Government."

Shirley Darden Brown Baton and Dance School students will present several baton and tap numbers. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Edna Sykes.

The dancers will include Roxanne Harris, Maria Sutton, Viki Viles, Barbara Land and Judy Alligood.

Earl Davis of Norfolk, a former professional singer who starred in the Virginia Beach Civic Chorus' presentation of "Merry Widow," will be a guest soloist for the program.

Mrs. J. Douglas Wilson, club president, will preside over the meeting.

Miss Linda Batchelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Batchelor, 712 24th Street, Virginia Beach, has pledged Alpha Phi Fraternity at Radnake College, Salem. Miss Batchelor, a freshman, has also been elected treasurer of her pledge class.

LITTLE GIRL GETS OUT OF "JAM"

Where . . . what a whirl for a little girl! She's been playing outdoors, romping with the dog, and now she's having a grand time with her brand and jam. But look out! She's just like every other little girl or boy and she is going to spill it all over her pretty new dress.

Time was when Mother would throw up her hands in alarm and annoyance at the grass stains, the paw prints, or the jam on the children's clothes, but not today. New all-fabric bleach beads take the worry out of the wash, according to the Purex Corporation, leaders in the bleach field. This new bleach has a completely new bleaching agent (Du Pont's "Oxone"). It is safe on all washable colors and fabrics and has real cleaning power, too—without chlorine.

So, little girl, you may keep smiling. No more tears, even though there will be smears. Modern mothers now have a modern helper in All-Fabric BEADS-O' BLEACH that saves time (no need anymore to save up a load of "chlorine bleaches") saves problems (colorfast won't fade and wash 'n' wears won't yellow) saves work and money (removes soil and stains the easy way and keeps clothes looking like new).

Where's The Water Contract?

Much time has passed since an apparent settlement of the water problem between Norfolk and the Cities of Virginia Beach and Chesapeake, but there seems to be a definite lack of a written contract at this time.

Norfolk City controls the water supply and the average resident was pleased and delighted several weeks ago when it was announced that agreement on the subject had been reached with Virginia Beach and Chesapeake.

All that Norfolk City says when questioned about the contract is that its attorneys are working on it (the contract). It would seem that sufficient time has elapsed and that a contract should be presented to the two cities. In fact, enough time has passed to settle the East-West problem in Germany. We strongly urge the City of Norfolk to get on with the actual contract for water to supply Virginia Beach and Chesapeake.

Certainly the letter of the joint Virginia Beach-Chesapeake committee on water was clear and the matter of a simple contract could have been prepared in short order.

Where is the water contract? Why has it been delayed? Rumors in some quarters is that Norfolk City would like to see some action on a sales tax for the area and it just might be that the delay in preparing a water contract is tied into the sales tax. This is speculation but it could prove to be sound reasoning.

At any rate, nothing should delay the water contract further. Let's have a signed contract and settle down to moving ahead, not just for one city but the entire area.

Status of Thoroughgood House Needs Attention

There has been a lot said and a lot written on the subject of area cooperation and promotion of Tidewater Virginia as an area rather than the various cities going it alone. We subscribe to this line of thinking, but actions speak louder than words and we wonder if Norfolk City feels the same way. Some observations of the past do not bear out this feeling of area cooperation or promotion.

One disturbing aspect has come to light recently in that it is understood that the famed and historic Adam Thoroughgood House, located in the City of Virginia Beach, has been turned over to the City of Norfolk. It is included among the places to see on the "Norfolk Tour." We agree that it is a must for all tourists, but we question very strongly any legal right Norfolk City might have to the Adam Thoroughgood House and to ownership of it, if this be the case.

We don't believe that Norfolk City has any legal right to the Adam Thoroughgood

House and we urge city officials of Virginia Beach to investigate the matter immediately and to take any legal steps open to them to prevent such a transfer of ownership.

Another point in the promotion of the area has been evident at times in publicity emanating from Norfolk in reference to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. Time after time it is published that this great engineering project is a Norfolk - Eastern Shore crossing and will connect the Shore with the great Tidewater area. Much of the time the word Tidewater is ignored and Norfolk used instead. In the case of the bridge-tunnel it is well known to most residents that one terminus is located in the City of Virginia Beach and the other on the Eastern Shore.

But, the point we are making is that the area should be promoted, not a single city, and correctness and accuracy in publicity should be foremost in the minds of our people.

Local Police Officer Is FBI Graduate

Lt. William W. Davis of the Virginia Beach Police Department graduated Wednesday from the 72nd Session of the FBI National Academy in Washington, D. C. He was among 100 specially selected law enforcement officers to receive the intensive 12-week course on the latest techniques and developments in crime detection. Lt. Davis (right) is pictured observing a laboratory technician in the Chemistry-Toxicology Unit.

Beach Man Is Delegate

VIRGINIA BEACH — Alton E. Williams of Virginia Beach will represent Southern States Cooperative members in this area as delegate to the Cooperative's 40th annual stockholders meeting at Richmond, Va., on November 14 and 15.

Also attending will be L. Belmont Williams of Norfolk, manager of Southern States Cooperative Service agency in this section.

Two of the highlights of this year's session will be the presentation of the annual report of operations by General Manager W.

T. Steele Jr., on Thursday morning November 14, and an elaborate product show to be held that afternoon.

Other features of this year's meeting will include confirmation of four new directors, a live hotbeny and an address by Earl St. Clair of Falls of Rough, Ky., president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation for 10 years who became a public director of the cooperative last year.

An attendance of about 1700 delegates, guests and the cooperative's own personnel from a five-state region is expected.

Dr. W. A. Dickinson impressed on members of the Linkhorn Park School PTA Monday night that the polio vaccine to be given this Sunday at schools throughout Tidewater is for EVERYONE—no matter what the age or whether previous polio vaccinations have been administered. This Sabin vaccine, given orally on a cube of sugar, is a complete prevention of the disease and will take but a few minutes to receive. Donation boxes will be located at each feeding station but no definite fee will be charged.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I have been told all my life that there is nothing like a reformed sinner. I am now prepared to tell you that this is the absolute truth. How do I know?

I have several friends who have stopped smoking, and I'm here to tell you that they will bore the tucks off an elephant with their conversation about their recent accomplishment.

I do not mind the fact that they have had the will power to stop puffin' the weed. I'm glad they have the guts. What stabs me is that they have to be so darn superior about it. When you forget their exalted state and offer them a cigarette by force of habit—do they say, "No thank you." They do not! They look down their collective noses and come out with a gem like, "Oh, no? I used to be a slave to the demon tobacco, but I have kicked the habit by exercising my will power, my charm, and my fine brain and now I'm free! FREE!" This kind of answer to a routine courtesy is enough to make a person wish the newly tobacco-free members of the race would take up snuff or chewin' tobacco.

After inferring that we weed-users are beneath contempt, and should be locked up somewhere, the non-smoker then starts a long, loud sermon about the trials and tribulations of giving up smoking. He describes the agonies of withdrawal. He tells about all his troubles. Well, I've got news for you reformed sinners, I don't wanta hear about it. When I offer you a cigarette, just say that you don't care for one, but PLEASE, please, don't tell me about your problems. I really don't want to know.

I feel just about like Mr. Mark Twain did when it came to stopping smoking. I don't need anyone to tell me how much trouble it is. I know. After all, I've stopped about twenty times.

"GAME OF YEAR PITS"
P. A. - WILSON FRIDAY

VIRGINIA BEACH — The "game of the year" in high school football is on tap for this Friday night when the Princess Anne Cavaliers face the undefeated Wilton Presidents in Frank Lawrence stadium in Portsmouth. Game time is 8 p.m.

A sellout crowd is expected for the contest that pits Pete Seaton's once defeated Cavaliers against Ralph Gahagan's once tied Presidents. The two teams are rated the best in the area along with Great Bridge.

Just how many a "sellout" crowd will be is not definite. Early in the week Wilson officials announced that they were hopeful of adding enough temporary bleachers so that 17,000 could view the contest.

Two of the best quarterbacks in the state will face each other when the Cavalier's Buster O'Brien, the premier passer, opposes the President's Larry Davis.

Princess Anne ranks first in offense and defense in the Eastern District and early in the year Wilson was rated a strong contender for the state grid championship.

The Princess Anne record is 7-1 while Wilson is 6-0-1. The Cavalier dropped their opener to Great Bridge while Hampton held Wilson to a tie.

Fans are advised to get to the stadium early to get a good seat, or any seat at all.

Governor Gives Recognition To Marine Corps

RICHMOND — Governor Albert S. Harrison, Jr. has presented Marine Corps representatives with a congratulatory message in recognition of the Marine Corps 188th anniversary on November 10.

The Governor's message states: "On November 10, 1963, the United States Marine Corps will celebrate 188 years of service to our Nation."

Marines have fought with gallantry and distinction in every official war of the United States and in numerous obscure unofficial conflicts.

Many Virginians have distinguished themselves in the Corps. Four of the twenty-two Marine Commandants were native Virginians, and a number of others have won the Medal of Honor under its banner.

Today, the missile-age U.S. Marine Corps, together with the other branches of our Armed Forces, stands as a deterrent to the forces that threaten our freedom as a Nation and as individuals.

To Marines in training within our shores and those in service overseas, I offer my congratulations on this anniversary.

CHANGES EVIDENT IN HOME BUILDING IN LAST 20 YEARS

(First in a Series of Three Articles)

Vast changes have taken place in home building in the last 20 years. More are ahead.

Many factors contribute to this continuing revolution. But, basically, they boil down to the needs of our population for better housing and better values.

Home builders have been responsible for a great sociological change in the United States in the past two decades. They have produced more than 23 million new homes in this period and have altered the complexion of the country from a nation of tenants to one of home owners.

In 1940, only four out of every 10 families owned their homes. Today more than six out of 10 families own their own homes. Home ownership makes, on the whole, for better citizenship and a greater sense of responsibility, not to mention pride and amenities for better living that go with it.

Change and challenge are the spectacular characteristics of home building today. The challenge is in the need to supply our people with constantly better homes at a lower cost in spite of skyrocketing land prices and mounting labor costs.

Some of the change is quickly apparent when you visit a new home. Kitchens are attractive—a pleasure to work in. There are more bathrooms, more storage space. Floor plans are designed for people. Interiors borrow from the outdoors. Extended vistas add to the sense of spaciousness. Accessories are not merely utilitarian, they are extremely good looking. Even such details as water taps are selected from the viewpoint of beauty.

But many other changes are not apparent. These are changes in the techniques of home building. Before World War II, home building could not be truly characterized as an industry. It was a craft and the individual home builder was apt to be someone who got into the business because he was handy with a saw and hammer.

In those days, homes were built one or two or three at a time. Usually, they were custom houses, that is, they were designed and built for a particular buyer with whom the price was negotiated. The buyer's wants and preferences governed the location, size, type and design of the house. He selected most of the interior and exterior finishes.

The builder cut and fitted, on the site, thousands of little pieces into a finished product and it usually took eight months to a year to build a house.

During World War II, home building came to a virtual standstill, except for housing units needed at war production centers. The end of the war confronted the nation with the worst housing shortage in history. G. I.'s streamed home, but found no homes. Doubling-up with in-laws was the rule.

With the lifting of allocation, priorities and other restrictions, home builders fell to work. In 1947 for the first time in history, the production of new homes swept past the 1,000,000 mark.

In the process, a new industry was born. Homes were built 100 at a time, several hundred at a time. And, for the first time, homes began to be manufactured—not in the sense of prefabrication but in the sense of mass production for the sale to unknown buyers.

Today approximately two-thirds to three-fourths of all new single family homes are built for sale to unknown buyers. Home builders are assembling houses on a manufacturing kind of basis. They use components—that is, large sections—manufactured in a factory. They no longer build small piece by small piece.

Virginia's Art

In the collections of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts

Governor Henry Wise

It would be interesting to have heard the conversations which probably occurred between the sitter and painter of the portrait shown above, since each was illustrious in different spheres of American life. The painter was the first professional American woman artist, Sarah Peale, who was the niece of Charles Willson Peale; the subject, who later became governor of Virginia in 1856, was Henry Alexander Wise, Wise, probably already a congressman at the time of this portrait, is a romantic figure in Virginia's past. His involvement both in duels and in international politics as a close friend of President Tyler made him renowned at an early age. This painting, a gift of the Duchesse de Richelieu, hangs in the 19th Century American Gallery of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond.

NEW CHEVELLE!

BY CHEVROLET

The kind of handling ease you'd expect in a smaller car.
Come on down and drive it.

The kind of comfort you'd expect in a large interior.
Come on down and sit in it.

Only a car that looks as good as this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II.
Come on down and stare at it.

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe

Now—Chevy spirit in a new kind of car!

We built this one to go a lot more than just stand around looking beautiful. Held its weight down in the 3,000-pound range. Then built four lusty engines for it—two sixes and two V8's—with output all the way up to 220 horses!

And if that combination of modest weight and potent power makes you think this is one frisky car, you've got the right idea.

You've also got a car with lots of room for legs, hips, shoulders, hats and luggage. Yet its 115-inch wheelbase keeps it highly maneuverable in traffic and very easy to park.

With its Full Coil suspension and snug insulation, it's got a ride that reminds you of the Jet-smooth kind the way it muffles noise and cushions you from bumps.

And the fine hand of Body by Fisher craftsmen shows up beneath this one's suave good looks, too. Just listen to the solid thunk of a door closing or look at the smooth metalwork. You'll see what we mean.

Sound good so far? There's more. Like the fact that Chevelle comes in three series with eleven models—convertibles, sport coupes, sedans, wagons, even Super Sport models with front bucket seats. Like the fact that (and see if this isn't one of the nicest surprises of all) the new Chevelle comes at an easy-to-take price!

Like to hear more? The listening's wonderful at your Chevrolet dealer's—and so's the driving.

View Of Virginia Beach

By

Beauty may be only skin deep, but the search for beauty places a highly skilled beautician in one of the best paid professions in the world today.

It is not difficult to enter this interesting field. It is wide open, and neither age nor sex restricts you from entering. Neither do you have to travel very far to find an accredited school which will teach you under the most modern sanitary conditions and with the most up to date instructors.

OCEANA BEAUTY ACADEMY at 1737 Virginia Beach Boulevard in Oceana opened its doors to prospective students last June, under the capable direction of owner Mr. Michael Martinec. He and his wife Cleo own the Wards Corner Beauty Academy also, and while she directs the Wards Corner establishment, Mr. Martinec manages the Oceana school.

Four local licensed operators are employed as instructors and they are Mrs. Stella Murphy, Mrs. Dorothy Hunnaker, Mrs. Carolyn Trubian, and Mrs. Naomi Sellers. At the present time there are 59 students enrolled. These students are from all walks of life and are taking the course for various reasons. Most hope, of course, to become licensed and to join the various fine shops in the area and to practice their profession. But some come to help themselves become better human beings and to learn how to make the most of what they are and how to project their personalities with charm. Miss June Beck is in once a month and gives special attention to this important phase of learning.

The cost of this course is surprisingly small compared to the expense involved in learning many other professions. Your tuition may be paid in one lump sum or in installments as you learn. You may complete your course in a few months by attending regularly or you may stretch it out as long as necessary by arranging a more flexible schedule convenient to your free hours. You will complete 1500 hours before you are eligible to take the State Board Exam and you must be 17 to become licensed.

The course is complete and thorough. Text and workbooks are provided and fitted kits are supplied. The students have a theory period of one hour every day from 9 to 10 a.m. for the day students, and on Monday evenings from 6 to 7 for the night students. Everything is done on the premises. There is a shampoo room where many can be shampooed at the same time. The wigs of real human hair are here for the students to practice their hair care, styles, permanents, etc. 150 hours must be completed here before the students graduate to the work shop.

The Beauty Academy is open for business every Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 to 5 p.m. Because the work is done only by students, the prices charged to customers is less than what you pay at an established shop; however, you never fear a sloppy job nor will you be disappointed with the results. By the time a student is allowed to work on customers, she knows what she is doing. But because the operator is a beginner, you get the added benefit of special attention to the job at hand, and an instructor is standing nearby to see that all processes are done properly.

The work shop is a large, well-lighted room; the decor of warm wood paneling sets the collection of driftwood adding to its delightful relaxing atmosphere. Forty-eight customers can be taken care of at the same time. For that reason, no appointments need be made in advance. The parking area is spacious accommodating many cars without waiting.

Bill McDevitt, quarterback for Catawba

CATAWBA TO FEATURE PRO-TYPE OFFENSE

Catawba College's strong football team is expected to show the Tidewater area fans a wide open game Saturday in their meeting with the Frederick Lions. The Indians will probably call for the long aerial "bomb" on at least one of every three plays, thus keeping the Frederick defense loose throughout the game.

Catawba opened the 1963 season with an 18-14 victory over heavily-favored Davidson. Davidson later tied VMI. The Keydets then went to the Oyster Bowl and gave Navy a real fight before bowing 21-12. Navy, as you know, is ranked 4th nationally. This comparison should indicate the caliber of football represented in this team from Sanbury, N.C.

Both Catawba and Frederick have played Emory and Henry this season. Catawba lost by five points and Frederick by nine points. This comparison again should indicate that the upcoming game should prove quite interesting.

Catawba plays in the rough Carolinas Conference. Their 3-1 record against conference competition is good enough for a share of the league lead. Overall the Indians are 4-2 as opposed to Frederick's record of 5 wins and 3 losses.

Bill McDevitt, the all conference quarterback, leads the Indians attack. He has gained 625 yards through the air with 40 completions in 95 attempts. His prime target is end Bucky Pope, another all-conference performer, who has caught 18 passes, six of which resulted in touchdowns. Pope is also the leading scorer with 38 points. The rushing attack is led by halfback Bryand Applefield, who has gained 433 yards in 102 carries. Another outstanding performer is Ron Crouse, who is one of the fastest halfbacks in the state, as well as holding the honor of being the NATION's number one punter last season with a 44.7 yard average.

Phillips Elected Cancer Director

RICHMOND, Va. — William H. Phillips, past-president of the Virginia Beach Unit, American Cancer Society, was elected to the board of directors of the Society's Virginia Division at its recent annual meeting.

Other Virginia Beach Unit members who attend the meeting include Mrs. Leo Billey, secretary; Mrs. Wyndian Brown, executive secretary; Dr. Howard Kahn, president; Walton G. Saunders, treasurer and Mrs. Sam Mason.

The line is anchored by Ron Nicowonger, an all conference and all state performer.

To date, Catawba has accumulated 1450 yards in total offense and scored 104 points in six games. Last year they tied to rely primarily on a passing attack which netted them 1404 yards. This year, with speed added to the backfield, a wide-open versatile attack is anticipated in this, the second annual Virginia Beach Bowl.

Motel Here Will Change Hands Jan. 1

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Aeolus will change hands Jan. 1 when the new owners will take over its operation.

Sale of the resort's first "Florida-type" hotel was made known last week by its owner and builder, Paul F. (Pat) Murray. He said it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. George Davis, operators of the Ebbtide Motor Lodge.

The 8-year-old hotel, located on the ocean front at 40th Street, was reportedly sold for more than $300,000. Included in the sales price was a house across 40th Street that has served as a 6-unit tourist lodge and living quarters for the Murrays.

Murray, mayor of Virginia Beach from 1950 to 1954, said he plans to retire. A native of Norfolk, he formerly operated Murray's Inn and Hilltop House.

He built the Aeolus in 1954-55. It was designed by a Fort Lauderdale architect and gained recognition as the resort's first "Florida-type" hotel.

2nd ANNUAL VA. BEACH BOWL TO BENEFIT YOUTH

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Youth of Virginia Beach have what many children in this great land are lacking—that is a first class football program. Frederick College has done much to foster the league that has brought many hours of pleasure to the young athletes of our area. As Virginia Beach has grown through the recent merger, so has the youth program. Today the football league is composed of 12 teams. Next year it is expected to be even larger as the popularity of 6 and 8 man football increases among the 10 to 14 year old range.

Through the efforts of the Virginia Beach Jaycees and the Virginia Beach Sports Club, the Youth 6 and 8 man football was entered into Jaycee competition and was judged the outstanding project in the state and nation.

The citizens of this great city will have an opportunity to contribute directly to these young men of tomorrow by attending the Frederick College vs. Catawba College Game on November 9th at 8 p.m. in the Princess Anne High School Stadium.

The proceeds from this game will be turned over to the Jaycees for the purpose of purchasing equipment for the youth football programs. There are 366 boys now dependent upon the help of the fans of this area, so let's show them the support they so richly deserve.

All games in the Virginia Beach Youth Football League are played on Saturday mornings at the Virginia Beach High School and the Oceana Field. The public is invited to attend.

FIELD GOAL SPECIALISTS

Wade Traynham, who formerly toiled for the Hampton Crabbers as an all purpose tackle, is now using his toe only as a Frederick College field goal specialist. Young Wade, who tips the scales at a mere 240, is a football player who gets a big kick out of his Saturday afternoon heroics. Last Saturday was no exception as he broke his own record for field goal distance when he booted one for 52 yards against Hampden-Sydney College, which incidentally was good for a state record. These 52 yard field goals are rare and even more so to kick the ball from any place within the fifty yard line, but it is indeed rare in college, or at least was, that is until Frederick Coach Frank Madigan discovered this talented youngster. Saturday night will be a real test for this specialist, as he is now labeled as a scoring threat for Frederick anytime his teammates move the ball inside the fifty. An exciting game is almost a certainty with the caliber of outstanding performers on both teams.

ODC Seminar Starts Nov. 18

NORFOLK — The Institute of Management of Old Dominion College will begin its "Winter Effective Supervision Seminar" Monday, November 18. This series, like the leadership program offered last spring, is designed for newly appointed supervisors and will be held on Mondays through January 27 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Institute of Management Conference Room (C109) in the Chandler Building on 48th Street.

The series will familiarize supervisors with what is recognized as good supervisory practice. Discussions will be held on research and experience findings which relate to supervisory and employee behavior. The series will include sessions on: principles of management, basic psychology, cost control, methods improvement, and communications.

Instructors for the course will be P. Russell Johnson, industrial engineering department, Ford Motor Company; Paul Reich, lecturer in psychology, George Washington University graduate program; and Alex Hawryluk, director, Institute of Management, Old Dominion College.

Academic requirements (such as high school certificates) are not necessary. The course will not provide college credits but certificates will be awarded on the basis of satisfactory attendance. Pre-registration is required. Persons interested in the course or wishing information on fees or registration procedure are requested to call the Institute of Management, extensions 54 or 74 at the college.

Point-O' Woods

POINT O' WOODS — Over 200 children participated in a Halloween party Thursday, sponsored by the Point O' Woods Civic League.

A committee headed by Mrs. Lorent Lewedag programmed the spirit of Halloween with a haunted house setting, ghosts and spooky and appropriate background music.

The "official Point O' Woods witch" greeted all children with apples and candy. Children were judged for best costumes and winners were: pre-school, Jeanette Sorger and Brian Riender; age six to 10, Jill Knowles and Richard Ditz; age 11-14, Shelley Mills and Michael Flynn.

LIONS ROAR, INDIANS WHOOP SAT.

With only three days to go before the Frederick College Lions meet the Catawba Indians, it has been heard that the boys from Frederick are prepared to roll out the red carpet for their guests; however, it has also been revealed that they plan to pull the carpet from under the high flying visitors from North Carolina.

Frank Madigan, the Frederick Mentor, has made many changes in his lineup since their opening game. Some of these changes injected several Tidewater favorites into the lineup. Wade Traynham of Hampton, along with Bobby Royster and Wayne Head from Great Bridge are now showing the way for the young Lions, who are approaching their athletic goals. Frederick, without a senior on the squad, will meet the impressive Catawba squad on equal terms come Saturday night. This developing young team has created considerable interest among Tidewater football followers and has caused much concern for opposing coaches. The Lions are 5 and 3 for the season, with impressive victories over Elon and Hampden-Sydney.

Many of the schools on Frederick's schedule were actually looking for a "breather" when making their '63 schedule. However, the boys from Nansemond County proved to be more than they could cope with, even with an all junior squad. This might cause some hesitancy on the part of the opposing coaches to reschedule Frederick as a "breather". In three years the Lions have developed to a point where it is becoming difficult to find suitable opposition on the football field. They have already outclassed many of the schools which were expected to be in their athletic group for many years to come. Some of the opposing coaches have been reluctant to continue scheduling the Lions. This, of course, presents quite a problem for the coaches and players of Frederick, but it appears that they will continue to solve their problems and provide excellent football teams as they have done in the past three years.

Will Frederick, in the future, play the likes of W & M, V.M.I., W & L, and U. Va.? Eventually they will be able to compete with these teams on an equal basis and provide Tidewater football fans with top caliber games. Frederick has a lot to offer the fans of this area, and they will be out to prove themselves on Saturday night at Princess Anne High School Stadium. Game time is 8:00 p.m. and at that time the Tidewater boys will have the opportunity to show their supporters that big time football is on the way in Tidewater. The potential is here, but spectator support will help develop high caliber football for this area.

One football "expert" indicates that through comparative scores Frederick is at least 50 points better than several of the teams mentioned above as possible opponents. Folly? Do figures always tell the truth? Come out to Princess Anne High School Stadium Saturday night, November 9 at 8 p.m. and see for yourself. Frederick is on its way up in college football circles! Tickets are on sale at Coaches Sporting Goods in Virginia Beach. The Clothes Horse in Portsmouth and at Maury's News stand in Norfolk. The prices are $2 for general admission and $2.50 for the reserved section.

Cancer study In 4th Year

VIRGINIA BEACH — Operation "CPS Manhunt" has been launched in Virginia Beach with a plea for cooperation from persons participating in a massive study aimed at discovering cancer's causes.

The so-called manhunt was announced by Mrs. Leo Billey, Chairman who urged all volunteer researchers in the American Cancer Society's Cancer Prevention Study to redouble their efforts to find subjects lost to previous follow-ups.

Entering its fourth year, the Cancer Prevention Study includes 70 researchers in Virginia Beach who have been tracing 1,228 persons originally enrolled in the Study.

The Society's Virginia Division was among the top Divisions in the country in the number of subjects traced last year. Virginia's 2,684 volunteer researchers were able to trace between 99.5 per cent and 99.8 per cent of the 41,114 persons enrolled in the study.

Although the Study will take up to six years to complete, preliminary results have already been obtained by processing some of the information acquired by questionnaires. When complete, the Study will provide information that is expected to shed new light on some of the causes of cancer associated with environment, personal habits, illnesses, diet, working conditions, and others.

Bank Report Receives Award

NEW YORK — Posthumous recognition was given to the former National Bank of Commerce of Norfolk on Wednesday evening, October 30 for its 1962 Annual Report. The publication won a third place "Oscar-of-Industry" Trophy at the 23rd Annual Report Awards Banquet sponsored by FINANCIAL WORLD in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton Hotel.

On hand to receive the honor were Norma Reid Brice, Assistant Cashier and W. Kelly Scott, Vice President of Virginia National Bank and J. Daniel Ballard, Vice President of Atlantic National Advertising Agency. Mrs. Brice and Ballard planned and produced the award winning annual report, which, through a series of photographs depicted the growth of Tidewater, Virginia, from the birth of the bank through 1962.

Senator Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) addressed the more than 1,000 business, industrial, and financial leaders from throughout the United States and Canada who attended the affair.

Health Hints

Leukemia has become one of the most dread words in the English language in recent decades. Leukemia—cancer of the blood manufacturing organs—is incurable, and it is increasing. It is usually thought of as a disease of children, but it affects even more adults.

Leukemia today still cannot be cured, but it can be attacked much more effectively and directly, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

With modern drug therapy, more than two-thirds of the acute attacks of leukemia now can be slowed down. The chances of giving many active and comfortable years to the sufferers have been greatly increased.

In addition to new drugs, physicians also sometimes use blood transfusions and x-ray therapy in treating leukemia. The best results usually are obtained in management of the acute phase of the disease in children. There has been relatively little improvement in the overall rate in adult patients.

Researchers are, of course, seeking other more effective methods of treatment for both the acute and chronic types of the disease. One line of investigation is replacement of the patient's diseased blood marrow with healthy marrow from a donor. This approach thus far has sharp limitations. There is no proof yet that marrow transplants will last. Leukemia is not contagious like measles, but it has occurred in small "clusters" in various parts of the country. Eight cases were recorded in one relatively small suburban area near Chicago.

Researchers are cautiously optimistic in the outlook for finding the answer to leukemia. Accomplishments thus far are limited, but much has been learned about the disease and its course.

New Merger Of Banks Gets Board's Okay

NORFOLK — Shareholder approval for merger with Virginia National Bank came at meetings held Thursday at Tidewater Bank & Trust Company in Franklin and Farmers & Merchants Bank in Staunton, Virginia. A similar decision was rendered by Virginia National Bank shareholders here at the Norfolk Office. John S. Alfriend, chairman of the board of Virginia National, C. A. Cutchins III, president of the Franklin bank, and George B. Tullidge, president of the Staunton institution, in making the announcement, revealed that the shares voted in each bank were overwhelmingly affirmative. This action now awaits approval by the Controller of the Currency. Upon completion of the mergers, the total resources will be in excess of $400 million. This strengthens Virginia National's position as the second largest independent bank in the state, and brings to a total of forty-two the number of offices through which its customers will be served across Virginia.

A fourth merger, bringing into Virginia National's statewide banking system, Southern Bank of Commerce of Danville & Martinsville, was announced earlier this month when it received approval by the Boards of Directors of both organizations. A vote by the shareholders of each is expected in the near future.

Under present plans, Cutchins & Tullidge will continue as executive officers for the Offices in their respective cities.

ANNUAL AUTO SHOW OPENING HERE FRIDAY

RAMBLER OFFERING 3 DISTINCT CARS

Visitors to American Motors' Rambler exhibit at the automobile show will see three distinct lines of compact cars — the completely restyled 1964 Rambler American, the new Classic Six and V-8, and the luxury Ambassador V-8.

"The Rambler American series includes the lowest-priced 2-door sedan, 4-door sedan, station wagon, convertible, and hardtop offered in any U. S. car line," Thomas A. Coupe, automotive sales vice-president, said. "The addition of hardtop models in the Classic and Ambassador series gives the buyer a still wider choice to meet his personal transportation needs."

"The entire 1964 Rambler line offers extra-value features that are exclusive to Rambler or found only on the industry's most expensive cars," he said.

Ten Rambler American models are offered in the 220, 330, 440 and 440-H series, and 10 in the Classic 550, 660 and 770 series. The Ambassador is available in four 990 and 990-H models. Sedans, station wagons and hardtops are in all series, plus an American convertible.

The entire Rambler line for 1964 highlights advanced single unit construction, 125 pounds of galvanized steel for greater rust-resistance, curved side glass, positive-action rotary door locks, and many other outstanding features.

In addition, all 1964 Ramblers offer retractable front seat belts (standard equipment after Jan. 1, 1964), Double-Safety brake system with separate braking front and rear, ceramic-coated exhaust system, stainless steel rocker panel cover moldings on most models, anti-glare instrument panel, front and rear coil spring seat construction, and chrome travel rack on most station wagons.

To reduce maintenance costs and service requirements, every Rambler features 33,000-mile or three-year chassis lubrication intervals, and a normal engine oil change of 4,000 miles. In addition, transmissions and rear axles are permanently lubricated. Oil filters are standard.

All Rambler lines have new three-point engine mountings which improve smoothness of operation at idle and throughout the speed range.

Engine power choices range from 90 horsepower in the American series to 270 horsepower in the Ambassador V-8 series.

A wide selection of transmissions are available on all models, including manual three-speed, automatic clutch E-Stick for Sixes (with or without overdrive), Twin-Stick floor shift overdrive, Flash-O-Matic automatic, and the new "Shift-Command" floor shift automatic for V-8s.

The new American is built on a new 106-inch wheelbase, with rear seat hiproom increased 12 inches and cargo space in station wagons increased nearly 20 per cent.

Its trim, clean-cut lines are complemented by a horizontal "fine-line" extruded aluminum grille. Single headlights are mounted in boldly-styled recessed aluminum housings which blend into the grille.

A modified "step-down" floor design permitted an overall reduction in height ranging from 1 1/4 inches on sedans to 3 inches on convertibles, and at the same time, improved interior headroom.

The American hardtop has its own distinctive roof panel with fast-back angle rear pillars and a transverse crease line at the rear of the roof.

In addition to the black and white tops offered previously on convertible models, gold and turquoise now are also available at no extra cost.

American station wagons feature a wider tailgate with roll-down window, and cargo capacity has been increased from 64 to 75 cubic feet.

The American models have a new front suspension which features molded rubber bushings in the upper trunnion instead of metal-to-metal bushings. The bushings include built-in sealing provisions to keep dirt out and never require re-lubrication.

Rear leaf springs have been lengthened and improved to provide better handling qualities, especially during rapid acceleration and braking.

The all-new interiors on the new Americans feature a rectangular-shaped instrument cluster for easy reading and a wide selection of upholstery.

New Classic and Ambassador 1964 Rambler Classic and Ambassador models feature styling refinements, new hardtop models and new convenience options.

The luxury Ambassador V-8 990-H includes as standard equipment a 270 horsepower V-8 engine, bucket seats with folding center arm rest, a floor console, chrome ceiling bows, and many luxury appointments associated with prestige cars.

The top-selling Classic line has a new luxury two-door hardtop in the 770 series, as a Six or V-8. Hardtops are 12 inches lower than sedans.

All Ambassadors include a full wrap-around instrument panel crash pad which continues into the doors. Other features include distinctive wood-grain inserts on the instrument panel and door panels, lower door scuff pads made of the same materials as the floor carpeting.

Classic interiors have been newly styled for greater luxury and both wide and slim bucket seats with floor consoles are offered.

New hoods on both series have twin raised lines extending forward.

The side trim on Ambassadors is a slim full-length band with a red pin-stripe. The Classic 770 has a wide, full length aluminum molding.

The Classic is powered by a six-cylinder 127-horsepower engine, with a 138-horsepower option available. The optional V-8 engine is rated at 198-horsepower.

The Ambassador V-8 engine for 990 models develops 250-horsepower. A 270 horsepower version is standard on the 990-H hardtop, and optional on 990s.

A new "Shift-Command" Flash-O-Matic transmission is offered as a new option on Ambassadors and Classic 770 V-8s equipped with slim bucket seats and center console. The new floor-shift system can be operated as a fully automatic transmission or it can be shifted manually.

Another new option for 1964 Classic and Ambassador models is the Adjust-O-Tilt steering wheel. Its seven vertical positions include normal plus three above and three below in five-degree increments.

A new internal power steering option called "Road Control" provides more responsiveness and quicker wheel return than the previous linkage type.

Cushioned-acoustical fiber glass ceiling liners, with a new ribbed pattern, continue as standard equipment on Classic and Ambassador models.

All 1964 Ramblers offer a choice of 14 baked enamel solid colors and 42 optional two-tone combinations.

Preparing For Big Auto Show

The 1964 Comet, pioneer of the luxury compacts, undergoes its first complete change since introduction four years ago, Ben D. Mills, Ford Motor Company vice president and general manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, has announced.

"The completely redesigned Comet, including a plush new Caliente series, has all new exterior sheet metal, improved ride and handling characteristics and greater passenger room," Mr. Mills said. "It attains new standards in performance with a new three-speed automatic transmission and a broad range of four engines, including a new 289 cubic-inch V-8 and a new 200 cubic-inch six."

The new Comet is roomier, even though wheelbase is continued at 114 inches and overall length and height are virtually unchanged. Overall width is increased one inch and the rear tread is increased 1.5 inches, providing new sturdiness on the road.

Completely new styling, with a family resemblance to the luxury Lincoln Continental, makes the 1964 Comet appear larger. The Comet's sculptured hood set between raised fenders emphasizes its wide appearance. A double concave sculpture follows the fender line, widening toward the rear, making the car seem longer and wider; with the front fenders extended beyond the grille, giving the car an appearance of forward thrust.

Improvements in driving posture, leg room, and head room in the front compartment are provided by increasing seat travel one inch, shortening the length of the steering column, and introducing a new steering wheel with a one-inch smaller diameter.

Rear seat leg room and knee room are improved substantially by moving the rear seat backward 1.4 inches.

The interiors of all models are more luxurious, while the new top-of-the-line Caliente series features interior treatment rivaling that of the most expensive cars. The Caliente's thick foam rubber seat padding replaces conventional slab cotton found in most compacts, and door panels, instrument panels, and steering wheel are trimmed with simulated wood grain. The new instrument panel on all Comets includes gauges instead of lights for oil pressure and generator.

Power brakes and an AM-FM radio are offered as extra cost options on the Comet for the first time, and power steering also is available.

The 1964 Comet continues its service-saving features, including self-adjusting brakes, major lubrication at the first 36 months or 36,000 miles, and oil change and oil filter change every 6 months or 6,000 miles, whichever comes first.

Civic Center Filled With 1964 Models

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Alan B. Shepard Civic Center will take on a festive air Friday as the Third Annual Auto Show opens under the sponsorship of the Virginia Beach Automobile Dealers Association.

The show will continue through Sunday and promises an outstanding array of entertainment and displays of the leading 1964 automobiles.

Gene Meekins, president of the sponsoring group, said this week that the show is expected to draw more than 25,000 persons.

Those who attend the event will not only be treated to live entertainment nightly, but will also have an opportunity to win his choice of nine compact automobiles—one from each participating dealer.

The special entertainment feature for Friday night will be a fashion show by Rose Hall, a woman's shop located in a historical building at Lynnhaven.

This show by Rose Hall has been presented in past years and has always drawn an enthusiastic response from the audience. The fashions will delight the women and the models will easily draw the attention of the men.

Saturday night's entertainment of Country Music promises to provide a stomping good time. The show will feature the famous Harmonica Rascals, whose antics and good music have pleased audiences throughout the country for years. Youngsters especially will be thrilled to see the hilarious "little midget" who invariably gets pushed around by larger constituents.

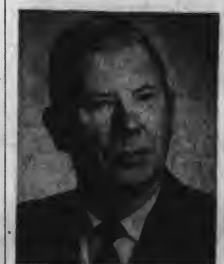

Following the Harmonica Rascals' performance Saturday night will be the William and Mary Minutemen.

The kiddies will again be in store for a treat Sunday afternoon when Poop-Deck Pappy, one of Tidewater's most beloved entertainers, will be on hand to greet the youngsters.

Later in the day the Country Music Show will be repeated.

This year's show has been enlarged to include many unusual automobile exhibits and the entertainment has been planned to please the public—combined forces that will surely make it the biggest and best ever presented.

Members of the sponsoring group include Alphin Motors, Inc., Brooks-Shorter Motor Co., Inc., Coates Motor Co., Inc., Emrhaf Ford, Inc., Everett-Jordan Motor Co., Holt Buick, Inc., Malbon Motor Co., Marshall Rambler, Inc., and Meekins Pontiac Corp.

NEW DODGE LINE HAS FRESH STYLING

Fresh styling, engineering refinement and quality-first manufacturing techniques distinguish the standard-size, low-price Dodge for 1964, to be seen at the third annual Virginia Beach Auto Show. Along with the compact Dart and medium-price Dodge 880, the new standard-size cars are on sale at Dodge dealerships across the country.

Commenting on the new models, Dodge General Manager Byron J. Nichols said:

"The five-year, 50,000-mile warranty on our engines and power train is modern evidence of the dependability that has been a Dodge tradition for 50 years."

"Thoughtfully Engineered"

"The Golden Anniversary Dodge is an attractive car that has been thoughtfully engineered and carefully built. It is a better new car now — and it will be a better used car in the years ahead."

"The anniversary line is an exciting one, and our company enters 1964 on the crest of the best sales year it has ever had."

The styling of the '64 Dodge is new, clean and uncluttered. The lines are graceful but forceful. The front is keynoted by a massive wrap-around bumper and a convex, bright-aluminum grille of thin, vertical bars.

A new windshield provides better visibility, and two-door hardtop models feature a "semi-fast-back" roofline. Larger front door openings make it easier for passengers to get in and out.

Styling at the rear accents the width and stability of the car. A two-inch wider rear-wheel track — the distance between wheels — gives the Dodge a stronger, more powerful appearance.

The 22 models in the standard-size Dodge line are in three series: the low-price 330, the middle-line 440 and the deluxe Polara.

The 1964 model line-up includes a wide variety of sedans, hardtops, station wagons and convertibles. Polara 500 sports packages are available on the Polara two-door hardtop and convertible.

The sports packages feature bucket seats, a center console and luxurious all-vinyl interiors. Selector levers for either the four-speed manual or the three-speed automatic transmission are placed in the console, which also houses a storage compartment. A console-mounted, transistorized, electrical tachometer is optional.

Other chassis innovations include: larger batteries, a new design for the automatic choke, more splash shields for better protection against corrosion, better wiring insulation, improved closed-crankcase ventilation, a new full-flow oil filter for automatic transmissions and many other clutch, transmission and axle refinements.

Stronger Door Latch

The Dodge for '64 also features a variety of safety and driver-convenience items. A new door latch has nearly twice the strength of earlier safety mechanisms. An electric windshield washer, operated by a pushbutton in the wiper control knob, provides immediate and effective cleaning under severe driving conditions.

A lower brake pedal facilitates faster transfer from the accelerator to the brake for the right-footed driver and allows a more comfortable foot position for the driver who brakes with his left foot.

Also available on the new models is a remote-control, outside rear-view mirror that can be adjusted by a lever on the inside of the driver's door. The mirror is located on the door to provide a maximum rear-view image.

More Passing Power

Passing performance is improved by a carburetor development that makes possible more power before the transmission shifts into passing gear.

Another safety feature is the optional instrument panel pad, which extends across the full width of the panel. Seat belt installation is easier and does not obstruct the rear floor space. Seat belts, which meet the high standards of the Society of Automotive Engineers and Underwriters Laboratories, are supplied at cost on all Dodge cars.

Choice of Six Engines

Buyers of the 1964 Dodge have a choice of six engines. The six-cylinder powerplant has a dis-

WINTER INJURY TO ORNAMENTALS

Protecting shrubs from severe cold weather requires an understanding of the causes of winter injury. Such injury is usually caused by two factors.

These factors are severe cold, or the loss of moisture from shoots and branches. Extreme cold will cause twigs, stems, and roots to freeze with a consequent breaking down of the cell tissues. Excessive loss of moisture comes largely from the effect of the strong, drying winds during periods of brilliant, winter sunshine.

Evaporation of moisture from shrubs continues at a slow rate throughout winter. To supply needed moisture, roots of the plant must continue to absorb water. When evaporation is up-duly accelerated by prolonged periods of winter wind and sunshine, the roots are not able to supply moisture rapidly enough and the branches and canes become shriveled and dry. If this condition is aggravated enough it often results in the dying back of a large portion of the plant or in its death.

So, to help save shrubs from such damage, see that the soil is well supplied with moisture. If rainfall has been light during autumn months, it will be necessary to see that the ground is thoroughly soaked before it freezes. Many trees and shrubs may be saved from winter injury if you take this precaution.

FLOWER TIPS
Next year's flower garden properly begins with care given this fall. Remove all weeds, spent annuals, old flower stalks that may reseed and give a generous crop of undesired seedlings next spring. Also remove diseased foliage from such plants as peonies, iris, and phlox.

It may be a good plan to spray perennials in the fall with a good fungicide, but few folks do this. Do not water or fertilize too late in the fall or new growth may be stimulated which will be injured by cold.

Areas to be planted next spring can be plowed or spaded this fall, if erosion is not a problem. Often the ground is left rough over the winter to catch snow and water.

If you plan to mulch this winter, get your material lined up now. Do not apply it too soon, however, as its function is to reduce alternate freezing and thawing, not to keep plants warm.

This is the time to replant peonies. Prepare the soil in new beds carefully, because peonies usually are left in one place for quite a while.

Be sure the area is well drained. If water stands over the plant for any length of time after a rain, peonies (as well as many other plants) will be injured or killed.

Dig the hole 15 to 18 inches deep and at least two feet across. If the soil lacks organic matter, now is the time to improve it by adding peatmoss or compost. It is usually best to mix some superphosphate into the soil at this time.

Return the mixture to the hole and plant the peony root in an upright position with the buds two inches below the surface. A strong new root should have from three to five buds on it.

ROADSIDE PRODUCE STANDS
Roadside produce stands are becoming more popular both with the consumer and the producer. Increased travel within the state and the desire for high quality produce are reasons for new interest in roadside stands.

Such produce stands range in size from a table under a shade tree with a few tomatoes to a large stand carrying 100 or more items. Regardless of size there are several requirements before best returns may be expected.

First, there must be a market. This means the stand must either be located on a well-traveled highway, or must depend entirely on local customers who will drive to the location.

Second, offer only top quality produce. This is extremely important. Regardless of how important you think repeat customers are, building a good reputation is essential for long term success. Do not offer for sale any vegetables you would not consider top quality.

Pricing should be reasonable. You can learn current prices from day to day from contacts with other retail outlets. It is better to best the competition by offering high quality at fair prices than to try and sell low quality at any price. There are few things more discouraging to a customer than to have to ask a busy stand operator what the prices are. So see that items are marked well.

The stand must be easily accessible. Is it far enough off the road? Will the parking area accommodate 10 or more cars? Can approaching motorists see it in time to stop?

Is the overall area attractive, neat, and clean? A few strategically located flower beds and shade trees can be of great value in attracting attention to the stand.

If the stand is painted, has a good selection of high quality vegetables, neatly displayed with prices shown, the overall effect will be an increase in customer appeal. After all, customer appeal is what gets you customers, and customers are essential for the success of any sales business. Remember, if your roadside stand fails to suit the traveling motorist for any reason there are other stands down the highway that will suit him.

The motoring public has shown an increasing interest in patronizing roadside stands. There appears ample opportunity for successful operation of roadside stands if the basic principles previously mentioned are observed.

Farmers planning to plant tree seedlings or seeds this fall are advised to have a forester examine the area and recommend practices to be followed. This much planning can mean the difference between success or failure.

For either direct seeding or planting seedlings, preparing the site well in advance will prove worthwhile.

A ground cover such as a heavy sod, brush, or older trees lings to die before they become well established. Only where the planting or seeding site is nearly bare or has only a light cover of vegetation, such as weeds or grass, is it safe not to make some preparation.

September and early fall are preferred for many site preparation projects. What is needed depends on conditions present on individual areas. Where there is a heavy sod, removing a strip of the sod and planting or seeding in the stripped area may be the best method. In other cases, discing may prove the most practical.

Areas covered with brush present particular problems. Brush may be destroyed by poisoning, discing, or bulldozing. Experience and good judgment are required to get the job done in a satisfactory way at a reasonable cost.

Discing should be done well in advance of planting to give time for the stirred-up sod to settle. In cases where brush is very heavy, bulldozing may prove the best means of site preparation. Late summer or early fall is a good time for bulldozing.

For some areas poisoning the brush may prove the most practical answer. Apply a recommended herbicide to the foliage, the lower portion of the stems, or to the stubs or chopped off stems.

Mist blowers of either a backpack or tractor mounted type have been widely used in recent years for applying herbicides to green foliage and have given good results.

Any large trees on the side which will shade young seedlings must be removed or killed. Before planning to deaden or cut such trees, make sure you cannot sell or use them.

Herbicides can be applied in frill girdles cut through the bark and into the sapwood. This method of deadening can be used anytime during the year.

Many hardwood trees, such as maples, gums, oaks, and hickories, are heavy sprouters. After such trees have been cut or girdled, sprouts will develop and grow rapidly for the first few years. A herbicide applied to the freshly cut stumps or girdles will greatly inhibit sprouting.

Seed of some of the most desirable trees, such as poplar and pine, must be in direct contact with mineral soil to germinate and for seedlings to survive. Where the area to be seeded has been in woods, the ground will usually be well covered with litter. This ground cover should be roughed up or destroyed before the area is seeded. Some means of scarifying, such as discing, is usually needed. This provides a good seed bed and creates desirable conditions for seedlings to become established.

"It's Fun To Cook"

Although we Americans have adopted Scampi as our own, it actually has come to us via Paris and Italy. Parisian restaurants borrowed the dish from the Italians who gave it its name — "Scampi," which means "crustacean" in Italian. But, in each country, the prima donna in the recipe is the shrimp — usually seasoned with garlic and parsley. The Shrimp Association of the Americas suggests using our fine fresh or frozen shrimp to make this version of the recipe, served with delicately seasoned spaghetti.

SCAMPI WITH SPAGHETTI

1 pound fresh shrimp, shelled and deveined, or 1 (8 or 10-ounce package) frozen shelled and deveined shrimp
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces spaghetti
½ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 cloves garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon oregano
Dash basil
½ cup chopped parsley
Grated Parmesan cheese
Freshly ground pepper

Butterfly shrimp by cutting deeply along backs without cutting all the way through. Dry thoroughly. Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered.

Meanwhile, melt butter or margarine. Add oil, garlic, ½ teaspoon salt, oregano, and basil. When very hot, add shrimp and cook until firm and pink, about 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve shrimp and spaghetti sprinkled with parsley, cheese and pepper. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

"There are about 10 million overweight teen-agers in the United States. Excess weight in so many of your age is now regarded as a national health problem." With this statement from Gaynor Maddox' latest book, a paperback, "Slim Down, Shape Up Diets for Teen-Agers," (Avon Book Division, New York, 50 cents), the author points out to teen-agers the immense problem obesity has become among them. Maddox, well-known for his reporting of sound nutrition information, then goes on to show what teen-agers can do about overweight. He points out the need for a well-balanced diet during any reducing regime, explains which foods are needed, which high-calorie foods to avoid, how to adjust balanced family meals so teen-agers may lose weight. Menus are featured, and a section on recipes shows the readers how to get variety from low-calorie foods. Low in calories, and high on the list of tastiness is shrimp. One of the Maddox recipes is a zesty-tasting dish called Shrimp in Tomato Sauce. As most parents know, shrimp is a top favorite with youngsters of all ages.

SHRIMP IN TOMATO SAUCE

1 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk
2 tablespoons flour
1 (1-pound 3-ounce) can tomatoes (2 cups)
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Clean and cook shrimp. Cook onion in butter or margarine until soft. Thoroughly mix milk, flour, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Add to onions and cook, stirring until mixture thickens. Add shrimp and cook until shrimp are heated through. Serve with a border of toast or low-calorie wafers. Yield: 4 servings.

SHRIMP AMANDINE

1 pound package frozen shrimp (pre-cooked, peeled and deveined)
½ cup blanched almonds
½ cup melted butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
Toast Points
Thaw shrimp, saute almonds in butter and lightly brown. Remove almonds. Add shrimp and saute. Add seasoning, parsley and almonds.

PEPPERED SHRIMP & EGGS

1 pound package frozen shrimp (pre-cooked, peeled and deveined)
3 slices bacon
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
6 eggs (beaten)
¼ cup coffee cream
½ teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce
Thaw shrimp. Fry bacon until crisp, drain on paper towel. Crumble. Cook onion and green pepper in bacon fat until tender but not brown. Add seasonings and shrimp, heat. Combine eggs, cream Worcestershire and bacon. Add to shrimp mixture and cook until eggs are firm—stirring so as to not scorch — This is right from New Orleans' Shrimp Tips—Hope You Like It.

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER
BENIG MEAN
I AM NOT writing about thieves and murderers and other terrible sinners now—we all abominate them and feel they are accursed of God and man. I am writing in particular about those who do little and low mean things and get by without visible hurt to themselves. What grievous hurt they inflict upon their souls is something else.

JUST A THOUGHT:
The damage that can be done by the spoken word is not so visible as the scar which is the mark of the sword, yet it is not so easily forgotten.

We had in college a mature young man who had grown up in a great city with but little education and content with the finer things of life. He lived, as it were, on the wrong side of the tracks. Because of his facial resemblance to an Egyptian mummy the boys called him Ramses. But he had a brilliant mind, loved literature and proved to have a genius for debate.

Came the annual debate in the Joint Society and Ramses was one of the debaters on a question that was before the Nation at the time. And he won the decision for his side and glory for himself.

A young fellow about the campus had developed, for no apparent reason, an intense dislike for Ramses. This young fellow had a contact with the editor of another college magazine. When that magazine came out, an editorial said: "The last number of the (magazine) was late. We presume it waited for . . . 's 18-page speech on Reciprocity, which was filled with bombastic nonsense. It would be a real blessing to humanity if someone would lead this embryonic young statesman out to the farm."

Your Social Security

An ancient Greek once said "There is no mortal whom sorrow and disease do not touch." But we moderns have made progress! Not only has mankind found ways to cure some diseases and alleviate some sorrows, but we in the United States have established an orderly way to provide for most people a substantial degree of protection against the economic consequence of prolonged and severe disability.

Under the social security disability insurance program, monthly benefits may be paid to disabled workers under 65 years of age and to their dependents. The wife of a disabled worker is eligible for benefits at age 62. However, she may get benefit payments regardless of her age if she has in her care a child who is eligible for benefits—either under 18 or over 18 and disabled in childhood.

A worker's right to social security disability insurance benefits is earned through work under social security for 5 years in the 10-year period before he became disabled. (This work requirement does not apply to childhood disability applicants.)

"Dear God..."

When Grandmother was a girl, prayer was no stranger to her. She learned early to turn her thoughts to God and to ask Him for courage and for guidance.

The country was younger then. Men were still probing physical horizons in search of a better life for their families. Their quest took them to the sea in ships, or along the danger-filled trails to the West. Sometimes the women shared their peril. Other times, they stayed at home and waited, and that was even harder. But whichever their course, they prayed.

Our horizons are different today, and our lives filled with less danger. But we need prayer just as much — if not more — than we did in Grandmother's day.

Remember that prayer is our greatest source of strength. If the habit of prayer has become unfamiliar to you, start rediscovering it by attending church services regularly.

Robards Star On Chrysler TV Showing

Jason Robards Jr. stars in the little role of "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," Alexander Solzhenitsyn's novel about the struggle for survival in a Siberian forced labor camp under Stalin, on "Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theatre" color series Friday, Nov. 8 (NBC-TV, Channel 10, 8:30-9:30 p.m.).

In this dramatization, Denisovich, following a revolt, turns out with fellow prisoners of the 104th brigade at an Arctic labor camp one day in 1951 to install barbed wire fences in open fields swept with death-dealing cold. But on this day, Denisovich and the others, still not completely beaten in spirit, plan to ask for a change of duty. In an unprecedented action, they ask and achieve a trial change on condition that if they do not complete 28 feet of wall for the new camp power plant in a single day, they will be returned to fence installation "for life."

Young Actress Featured In NBC Telecast

"The Birth of a Star," a documentary film featuring a rising young actress, Stefanie Powers, and covering many duties she must perform while being groomed for stardom, will be telecast on NBC-TV's "Hollywood and the Stars" Monday, Nov. 11 (9:30 p.m., Channel 10). Series host Joseph Cotten will narrate the program.

Miss Powers will be seen in a studio projection room studying successful actresses, being made up for — and performing — in a screen test, and attending diction and dramatic classes. Other scenes will show her on a European tour to promote a picture, being photographed for publicity purposes and on the set of a movie being filmed at Columbia Studios.

being interviewed by Hollywood columnist Sid Skidley at Schwab's Drug Store on the Sunset Strip, recording a song, and on a dinner date with actor Pat Wayne and Mr. and Mrs. Gig Young.

Additional footage will show Miss Powers participating in a mock bullfight, attending the bullfights in Tijuana, Mexico, and strolling along Hollywood Boulevard and relaxing at the beach.

ANNE FRANK NBC-TV NOV. 9

A notable cast, headed by Millie Perkins, Joseph Schildkraut, Shelley Winters and Ed Wynn, performs in "The Diary of Anne Frank" on NBC-TV's "Saturday Night at the Movies" Saturday, Nov. 9 (9 p.m., Channel 10).

The 20th Century-Fox film, released in 1959, is based on the play by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett which was adapted from the book, "Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl," by G. G. Huber, Diane Baker, Richard Beymer and Lou Jacoby also have leading roles.

REMOVE WARTS!

Amazing Compound Dissolves Common Warts Away Without Cutting or Burning. Doctors warn picking or scratching at warts may cause bleeding, spreading. Now amazing Compound W penetrates into warts, destroys their cells, actually melts warts away without cutting or burning. Painless, colorless Compound W, used as directed, removes common warts safely, effectively, leaves no ugly scars.

The film recreates the actual experiences of the Frank family, Anne (Miss Perkins), the father (Schildkraut), the mother (Miss Huber) and Anne's sister (Miss Baker), forced into hiding above an Amsterdam spice factory to escape the Nazis during World War II. They are joined by another family, the Van Daans (Miss Winters and Jacoby), who have a son (Beymer), and Mr. Dussell (Wynn).

For two years, they live in peril, because of their pursuers, yet manage to find joy, inspiration and even love in their restricted world.

Ossie Davis Is Starred In TV Program

Ossie Davis, actor and playwright, stars as an assistant district attorney in "The Star-Spangled Ghetto," drama by Reginald Rose about two misguided youngsters who commit an armed robbery to finance a marriage, Saturday, Nov. 9 on "The Defenders" on the CBS Television Network (9:00-10:00 P.M., Channel 3).

Davis wrote and starred in the Broadway hit "Purlie Victorious" and in its motion picture version, "Gone Are the Days." He is currently being seen on the New York stage in "Ballad of Birmingham."

In "The Star-Spangled Ghetto," Davis prosecutes young John Siraci (Richard Jordan) and his finance, Theresa Sullivan (Kathleen Widdoes), after they have robbed a liquor store owner of $523 at gun point. They face a prison term of 10 to 30 years.

The youngsters' court-appointed attorneys, Lawrence and Kenneth Preston (series stars E. G. Marshall and Robert Reed) decide on an unusual defense, after questioning the young man and woman learning that they are neither ashamed, remorseful nor repentant about what they did.

Vincent Gardenia plays Curtis Sullivan, the girl's father. Val Avery appears as Mr. Strafeld, the boy's father.

"The Star-Spangled Ghetto" was directed by Alex March.

He told of his plans for the trip at a special school board meeting Wednesday afternoon. His wife is accompanying him on the tour. They will return Dec. 1.

The board decided to have members serve with the city's school site committee. When a site is under consideration, the board member from the borough is in will serve on the committee.

Other members of the committee are Cox and Ernest Stone, superintendent of construction. The planning committee is composed of Planning Director F. Mason Gamage, Purchasing Agent Carroll G. Clough, City Engineer Charles Kiley and City Atty. George Vakos.

Board members also:

- Approved the use of 19 schools as centers for oral polio vaccine clinics Sunday.

- Received copies of the recently adopted policy and procedures booklet for the schools.

Thousands Get Polio Vaccine Sun.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Over 60,000 persons in Virginia Beach swallowed sugar cubes containing Sabin oral polio vaccine Sunday. The mass inoculation, sponsored by the medical societies of Norfolk, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach, was carried out simultaneously in each of the three cities.

Altogether, about 350,000 persons were inoculated.

The vaccine must be taken in two doses, which means another Sabin Oral Sunday must be held. It has been set for Jan. 12.

For those who missed the mass immunization drive, make-up clinics will be held this week at times and places to be announced.

The vaccine was dispensed to the public at 19 Virginia Beach schools. Kempsville High School reported the largest number of participants with over 5,000 persons taking the vaccine.

Doctors have recommended that everyone take advantage of the immunization program and go to the make-up clinics if necessary.

It makes no difference whether a person has had Salk vaccine shots. Sabin vaccine works in a different way, is more effective and causes no ill effects.

The goal is to wipe out polio as a threat in Tidewater.

Canal Claims Young Life

BACK BAY — Three-year-old Mark Allen Cresap drowned Friday in a canal behind his trailer home just south of Creeds. He was the son of Dwight L. and Mrs. Janis Bennett Cresap of Back Bay.

Police said the drowning occurred about 10 a.m. shortly after the boy's mother saw him riding his tricycle in the back yard. They said neighbors recovered the child's body from the canal.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, Terry Jon Cresap and a sister, Marilyn Ann Cresap, both of Virginia Beach; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cresap of Winter, Iowa; and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bennett of Des Moines, Iowa.

The body will be taken from Hollomon-Brown Funeral Home to Oak Grove Baptist Church for a funeral service at 2 p.m. Monday. The Rev. Alvin L. St. Clair will conduct the service. The body will be cremated.

VIRGINIA BEACH — More than 400 hospital officials are expected to attend the 37th Annual Meeting of the Virginia Hospital Association Thursday and Friday at the Cavalier Hotel.

These groups will have separate business meetings and programs.

Mrs. Leroy M. Ober of Boyds, well known in this area for her book reviews, will be one of the keynote speakers on the Thursday morning program of the Medical Record Librarians.

Zip Code Will Aid Santa Claus

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mr. Zip will take to the air as Santa's helper this fall in urging the American public to "shop and mail early—and use ZIP Code to speed the Christmas mails."

Through newspaper stories, TV animation and radio jingles, the Post Office Department's cartoon symbol of speedier mail service will carry the message to the nation's estimated 72 million mail users, and to children who may be using the mails for the first time with letters to Santa Claus.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said: "The anticipated cooperation of the American public in mailing early for Christmas can result in substantial savings of Federal funds in line with President Kennedy's request for greater efficiency of government services."

Praising the cooperation of the press and broadcast industry, Mr. Gronouski cited the fact that for the last two years the Post Office Department has sharply curtailed runaway Christmas mail handling costs through new methods and procedures which depend upon public cooperation for their effectiveness.

Six radio and two animated television releases will be made to stations throughout the country this month, Mr. Gronouski said. Some 5000 radio and 650 television stations will be asked to carry them as a public service.

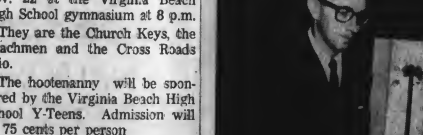

Ten per cent of the annual mail volume of 70 billion pieces is processed for delivery in the two weeks before Christmas, Mr. Gronouski emphasized.

Part of the Post Office efforts to encourage a wider use of ZIP coded addresses assures children that they will receive a message from Santa Claus if they write to him by December 15 at "North Pole 99701," and use their own ZIP Codes in their return addresses.

The broadcast voice of Santa Claus is Laurence Naismith, British actor starring as Kris Kringle in the Meredith Willson Broadway Hit, "Here's Love." Naismith's characterization of Santa Claus will appear on ZIP Code posters in more than 45,000 Post Office facilities.

The launching of Mr. Zip as Santa Claus' helper will receive national impetus Thanksgiving Day when TV network viewers will see the familiar cartoon character in the traditional Macy's Christmas parade in New York City for the first time.

Operation Break The Cap'n

VMI Cadet Cox In Select Group

LEXINGTON — Cadet William A. Cox III of Virginia Beach has been named one of 54 Distinguished Military Students at Virginia Military Institute.

The first classmen were chosen from among seniors enrolled in the Army ROTC program at the Institute.

Cadet Cox, a 1960 graduate of Norfolk Academy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Cox Jr. of 114 Wy Lane, Virginia Beach.

Council Likely To Get Water Contract Today

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council is expected to approve today the water contracts which would start Norfolk water flowing to several thirsty Virginia Beach developers.

Council must approve two five-year contracts sent by Norfolk last week to Charles B. Cross, Jr., chairman of the joint Chesapeake-Virginia Beach water negotiating committee, before the water can be turned on. In addition, a third contract, between Norfolk and Chesapeake, is expected to be presented to Chesapeake's City Council.

The contracts are:

- A five-year agreement between Norfolk and Virginia Beach regulating the sale of bulk water to the Borough of Virginia Beach.

- A five-year agreement between Norfolk and Virginia Beach regulating the sale of water to individual residents in the city outside of the Borough of Virginia Beach.

- A five-year agreement between Norfolk and Chesapeake governing the sale of water to individual residents of East Chesapeake (South Norfolk and Washington boroughs).

Under the proposed contracts, Virginia Beach and Chesapeake would be prohibited from establishing their own water supply systems for a five-year period.

The contracts provide that the water rates charged by Norfolk would remain the same as now charged. Should Norfolk decide to increase its rates, the contracts provide equal increases for all consumers. In the past any increase for Norfolk residents was doubled for out-of-town customers.

At present, individual out-of-town consumers pay 72 cents per 1,000 gallons. The Borough of

Rt. 166 Bridge Gets National Recognition

RICHMOND — The State Highway Department's new bridge on Route 166 over the Southern Branch of the Elizabeth River in Chesapeake has been judged one of the 11 most beautiful opened to traffic in 1962.

The annual competition sponsored nationally by the American Institute of Steel Construction brought 75 entries in four bridge categories.

A two-lane bascule structure of steel and concrete with electrically operated double draw, the Chesapeake bridge replaced one of the last hand-operated draw bridges in the state.

It was designed by Hardesty and Hanover, consulting engineers, of New York City, and was completed in April, 1962, under a $1,296,128 contract with Tidewater Construction Corp., of Norfolk.

A California bridge won top prize in the movable span category. The Virginia bridge won the runner-up award of merit. Certificates will be presented to the Highway Department, the designer, and to the contractor.

Shirley Fentress Honored

Club Gives Member 'Special Thanks'

VIRGINIA BEACH — "Shirley Fentress" this is your life. Those weren't the exact words used but they could have been.

It seems the Virginia Beach-Princess Anne Jr. Woman's club wanted to give Shirley a very special "thank you" for her efforts in the club's annual Follies for the last three years.

The result, which came as a surprise not only to Shirley but to most of the members, was the presentation of a scrapbook entitled "Memories of Shirley McFarland Fentress."

The book was presented to Shirley at the club's meeting Tuesday night at the Cavalier but the highlight of the program came when nine of Shirley's friends and relatives were introduced unexpectedly.

As emcee Pete Scoppa unfolded the story of Shirley's life, her husband, Bob, her mother, two brothers and five of her friends spoke to her in turn from behind a screen before making their appearances.

When all nine had been introduced, the group included Shirley and Bob; Shirley's mother, Mrs. Alice Higgins; her brothers, Harry and Bill McFarland; Jane Garrison, Sarah Sadler; the club's president, Barbara Almond; and past presidents, Mary Mason, and Barbara Gietz. Another friend, Jane Appenzeller, was unable to attend.

At one point in the program, Shirley was moved to tears. "Here I'd been feeling sorry for myself today," she said, "now I know I shouldn't have."

Shirley, who could have had a career in show business or commercial art, gave up both to marry Bob Fentress. For the past three years the success of the Jr. Woman's Club Follies has been largely credited to her efforts.

Tuesday's program was completed and Shirley was presented a huge bouquet. Pete, Scoppa summed it all up: "For once we managed to do something without Shirley having to tell us how."

Rose Society To Meet Sunday

NORFOLK — The Tidewater Rose Society will hold its next meeting Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Administration Building of the Norfolk Botanical Gardens.

Mr. Frederic Heutte, Director of the Botanical Gardens, will be speaker and will discuss "Preparing your garden for winter."

Garden Club Six Years Old

BIRCHWOOD — The Birchwood Garden Club celebrated their sixth birthday anniversary recently at the home of Mrs. R. D. Faig on Manly Lane. Mrs. Paul L. Chevalier Jr. was co-hostess.

Mrs. Richard L. Hyland demonstrated the "Art of Christmas Corgage Making" by the use of artificial silver and green leaves, Christmas balls and spikes, and colorful reindeer and Santa Claus figures.

Mrs. Ernest B. Rausner, Membership Chairman welcomed the following new members: Mrs. James Spargos, Mrs. Hyland, Mrs. Arthur L. Lewis, Mrs. James C. Monte, Mrs. Charles C. Floyd and Mrs. Luke C. Smith, all of Birchwood.

Ribbon winners in the arrangement class were Mrs. Tippo, Mrs. R. J. Newman and Mrs. Carl J. Eavenson.

The club voted as its Christmas Project to donate $15.00 to the Virginia Beach Welfare's department fund for dental needs of needy families.

Plans were also formulated for a "Christmas Doorway Contest" to be held sometime in December, and a "Pollyanna" at the December meeting.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Wood and daughter, Lesley, will spend the weekend in Charlottesville and attend the William and Mary University of Virginia football game.

Galen, born in Asia Minor in 131 A.D., was an early and potent name in medicine and his influence was felt until the 17th Century. In fact, it is quite possible that even today pharmacopoeias are still not totally free of some of the compounds of no worth called vegetable simples, or galenicals, attributable to Galen.

One result of Galen's teaching was the Galenical system of therapeutics which called for use of several thousand drugs. It wasn't uncommon for a single prescription to call for a hundred or more drugs.

We aren't particularly thrilled at BARR'S REXALL PHARMACY by single prescriptions calling for a hundred or more drugs, but you can be sure that they will receive our personal attention. TEEN TOPICS . . . By Lucy S. Oliver Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

Calling all girls and fellows too, if you are interested in cooking. For you girls, there will be a time when you will want to know more about the kitchen. Maybe you already have some responsibilities along that line. For you masculine readers, knowledge about the kitchen and cooking skills will certainly come in handy many, many times while you are single and after you are married.

So for you both, I think I have some information about cooking that you will be interested in.

There's more to feeding a family than the delicious aroma of six o'clock dinner or the freshly baked cake when a party's cooking. Sounds old fashioned, I know, in these days of ready-prepared foods, but it seems very dreary to spend a whole lifetime opening packages fifteen minutes before mealtime. You can learn to take pride and satisfaction in your cooking. The old saying, "Kissing don't last—cooking do!" makes a lot of sense!

Fun and memories are built around good food. And let's face it—the attractive, popular ones in your crowd have the pep and vigor that start with healthful eating habits, rather than just using vitamin pills!

Like learning to drive a car, learning to cook has a few "rules of the road." Get interested in a few facts about kitchen. If you start preparing food with proper methods, the years of cooking for a family will be lots easier and a lot more fun!

First rules of the kitchen road—
Of course you want to do things your own way! We all do . . . and the kitchen is a one-woman domain. But if you watch the smart homemaker set about her cooking you'll find she . . .

PUTS on an apron as she goes into the kitchen.
GETS all the ingredients together before beginning to prepare any recipe. And this really saves time and steps when there's a dinner to prepare.

CLEANS up after each part of the meal is finished, instead of facing a large mound of soiled utensils at dishwashing time! You must start somewhere, so help around the kitchen for a few weeks. It's dull to peel potatoes, chop nuts for cookies, or clean fruits and vegetables. But it's a way of becoming acquainted with food preparation gradually.

Another thing, you'll need both hands and both feet all your life. Learn how to use equipment safely! Home accidents occur most often in the kitchen, so . . .

- Chop vegetables and fruits on a wooden board instead of slicing fingers with that sharp knife.
- Put knives back in their proper spot immediately after using them. (And if your kitchen doesn't have a wooden or magnetic holder, put that on the Christmas list. They're inexpensive and a lot safer.)
- Read the directions for using small appliances. They were written for your own convenience and safety, you know.
- Have dry hands when you're working with electrical appliances.
- Wipe up any spots on the kitchen floor immediately. Skids can be painful.

Even dishwashing needn't be dull! There's an easy way to do it. You might make it appear easy enough to get some help. Clean up in a flash with an orderly system:

USE a tray to remove soiled plates, glasses and silver from the table. But do avoid a crash at the swinging door!

RINSE glasses and silver. Scrape, rinse and stack china.

PLACE leftovers in covered bowls and place warm water in pans that are heavily soiled.

WASH glasses and silver first, then dry them. If you are using detergent suds, the plates, cups, saucers and other china may be washed and allowed to drain dry.

Do pots and pans with fresh suds. That is enough about cooking this time. Later, I'll have more to say about snack and party food ideas. Don't forget to use your pot holders!

New Colleges Cropping Up

Eighty new colleges with an enrollment capacity of 200,000 students will be established in the next few years in 26 different states, according to a survey made by Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine.

In a state-by-state survey reported in the current issue of the magazine, the editors found that at least 31 of the new colleges enrolled students for the first time this autumn, and another 49 will be taking students in the next few years. Still another 14 new campuses are being talked about.

"Altogether," the magazine states, "these new campuses will have a total enrollment of at least 200,000 students. Most of the institutions will be publicly supported, and the majority will be two-year colleges."

But, the article points out, more than a dozen new private institutions are being founded; nearly a third of all turned up in the survey are four-year colleges. In at least two cases, Changing Times reports, the new schools will be two-year upper-division colleges for juniors and seniors.

Just how many institutions will spring into being over the next few years no one can say for sure, the article continues. "A college that is no more than a gleam in someone's eye this year may be enrolling its first class three years from now. A parent looking ahead to the expense of sending his youngster off to the state university may discover when the time comes that a new branch campus has been established very conveniently at his doorstep."

At Civic Center

WRESTLING RETURNS HERE WITH THURSDAY CARD

VIRGINIA BEACH — Cowboy Bob Ellis, named "Wrestler of the Year" by most of the nation's leading sports magazines, will open the professional wrestling schedule at the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center Thursday night.

He will join Johnny Weaver in a tag match against Rip Hawk and Swede Hanson for the first of a 5-event card.

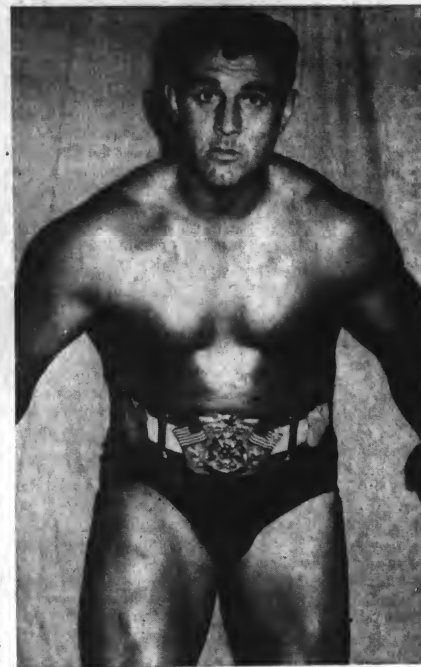

The Civic Center's professional wrestling program will resume after a year's absence with the Thursday night performance. Starting on Nov. 26 the events will be held every other Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Also on this week's card will be Joe Scarpa vs. Tarzan Tyler; Bobby Red Cloud vs. Ike Eakins; Jesse James vs. Jack Lanza; and Joe Tomasso vs. Dr. Menendez.

A native Texan and one of that state's most outstanding athletes, Cowboy Bob Ellis picked up wrestling after serving in the Army during the Korean War and went to California to train under Sandor Szabo, a former world heavyweight champion.

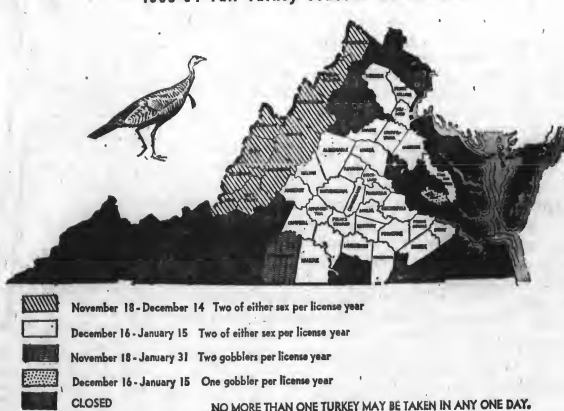

In 1956 he was trained by the legendary Ed "Strangler" Lewis and later by Bobby Bruns, another wrestling great.

In 1959 Cowboy Bob was named "Wrestler of the Year" by two leading sports magazines and has been awarded that title by at least one leading sports magazine every year since. He also holds the titles of "Central State's Heavyweight Title" and the 1962 "World Tag Team Championship" which he shares with Johnny Valentine.

Wilson Is No Match For Cavaliers

VIRGINIA BEACH — Princess Anne's Cavaliers not only stand atop the Eastern District football race, but also lead in total offense and defense following their convincing 17-0 victory over previously unbeaten Wilson last Friday night.

Pete Sachon's crew impressed some 13,000 fans in Frank D. Lawrence stadium last week as they completely outplayed and puzzled the Presidents.

Buster O'Brien, Charlie Carr, Chris Honour and Bill Bowes were standout performers for the Cavaliers. With Carr closely guarded Bowes became O'Brien's target for the night. However, Carr booted two extra points and a field goal.

A fake punt play gave P.A. its second touchdown with young Pete Sachon, Jr., tossing the bomb that caught the Presidents completely off guard.

Meanwhile, Virginia Beach lost a close 6-0 verdict to Southampton, Cox fell before Suffolk, and Kellam gave a magnificent display in holding strong Deep Creek to a 6-6 tie.

All teams are in action this week.

Hospital Sets Donation Day

RICHMOND — November 26 has been designated Donation Day for the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond in an effort to raise $145,000 for operating expenses.

The hospital is open to patients from all over the state and is dependent upon contributions. All services are free to needy crippled children from Virginia.

During the period between Sept. 1, 1962, to Sept. 1963, the hospital cared for children from 81 counties and 24 cities in Virginia. They spent a total of 30,808 bed days at the hospital at a cost of $432,852, all of which was free of cost to the patients. Physicians and surgeons also donate their services.

The Crippled Children's Hospital is not connected in any way with the Society for Crippled Children and Adults and does not derive benefits from the sale of Easter Seals. It must depend on this once-a-year solicitation.

Services available at the hospital include orthopedic and plastic surgery, complete dental care, ophthalmic and medical treatment and physical, speech and occupational therapy.

Good Business

Ever since civilization began, people have been seeking simpler, more efficient and more economical ways to move goods and wares of every conceivable kind. In the present era, one of the most successful innovations is found in the piggyback system, whereby trailers and trucks are carried by rail between key points.

It's an expanding innovation too, as an organization known as the National Railroad Trailer Pool shows. This pool is operated by a subsidiary of the REA Express which was organized in 1961. Today 52 railroads are in the pool membership.

It offers some 3,000 trailers and containers for use in coordinated highway and rail piggyback operations. Membership entitles the carrier to acquire these vehicles from the pool and provides for the free interchange and movement of equipment over the lines of the respective railroad members. The REA Express subsidiary which operates the pool provides nationwide maintenance and service.

This is good business for the companies concerned. And it is good business as well for the consumers of the myriad products now moving in this way. The cost of transporting goods is an inescapable part of the prices at which they sell. The lower that cost, the lower the price to the buyer.

Bureaucratic Domination

The government's proposed Knowles Dam project in Montana is an example of the lengths to which electric power socialization groups are willing to go. It has been bitterly denounced by Indian tribal councils, and with good reason—for it would flagrantly violate a treaty made with the Indians more than 100 years ago.

It would flood a huge amount of land, Indian and non-Indian, including valuable and irreplaceable farm and grazing land. Damage to the state's economy would be heavy. It would also flood two hydroelectric sites, now operated by tribes, and a third possible site.

There is, so far as one can see, no popular demand for the project. The government agencies concerned are in the position of trying to force it down the throats of Montanans, regardless of their wants and requirements.

The dam cannot be justified on the grounds of need. There's no power shortage in Montana and no danger of one. Existing utilities see to that.

The project represents bureaucratic domination that, if it is allowed to run its course, will ultimately destroy local rights and responsibilities on a gigantic scale, and trample rough-shod over everything and everyone that may get in the way. Then no freedom will be secure.

Part of The Free Market

"Insurance is such a massive subject that to talk about it is only one step removed from talking about the total economy."

Thus writes Marion Harper, Jr., in The Insurance Index. And he stands on firm grounds. For instance, benefit payments from life insurance alone now account for $1.00 of every $8.00 of disposable personal income.

The primary purpose of insurance is to provide protection against risk—risks of almost every conceivable kind. But the role of insurance in the economic life of this nation goes far beyond that. Every time an insurance policy is sold, additional capital is collected for financing institutions and providers of services that we, the people, want and demand. According to Mr. Harper, insurance funds now account for something like 12 per cent of long-term investment in the United States. To use life insurance as an example once more, its funds, since World War II ended, have made available over $42 billion of home and mortgage loans. More than 4 million families have acquired homes as a result. And life insurance assets flow steadily and increasingly into all manner of other structures—from skyscrapers to shopping centers, from power plants to railroad equipment.

Translated into human terms, this means jobs, opportunities, a higher standard of living, and a better, more secure life for vast numbers of people. In Mr. Harper's view, insurance has an immense potential for still more dramatic growth—and "it will succeed in fulfilling this potential, as it continues to identify itself with a free market. . . ." That free market, let it be emphasized, provides the true criteria of success—for success comes to those, and only to those, who offer the people that which they want and value.

MEDICAL RELIEF PROGRAM NOT WORKING

by Ivan A. Nestingen
Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare

Three years ago Congress approved a Medical Assistance for Aged (MAA) program to try to help the medically needy among our nearly 18 million people 65 and over.

It was hailed by some, including the American Medical Association, as the bridge for the serious gap between the low incomes of most older people and their increasing need for costly medical care.

Under the Kerr-Mills law which set up the MAA program, it was left to each State to decide whether it wanted to put a program into effect for its citizens. Then, if it did, the Federal Government would provide part of the money—ranging from 50 to 80 percent—to pay the cost of providing the care.

Also, it was left to each State—within its own financial ability—to decide how much and what kind of medical care it would provide its older people.

The Kerr-Mills law set only one major limitation on how a State operated its MAA program. It could not pay for care for anyone who wasn't considered "medically needy." The law said a "medically needy" person was one whose income and resources were too high to qualify for regular Old-Age Assistance payments, but still too low to cover the costs of any needed medical care.

Unfortunately, after three years of trying to make MAA work on a nationwide basis, the program has been, at best, only mildly successful. And there is no reason to believe the situation will ever improve much.

This can easily be seen from two facts. In the two and a half years since the program got under way, half of the States had not set up MAA programs for their older citizens. And, in most of the States where MAA has been established, the programs are very limited.

For example: In a number of the States, the care available is limited to a very short period of hospitalization. Tennessee and Kentucky, for instance, provide only up to 10 days' care and then only in case of an acute illness and not for a chronic condition.

Here are some of the other limitations in the 26 MAA States:

—Half of these States do not provide care to any of their older citizens if their yearly income is more than $1,200. About half do not provide MAA where the yearly income of a couple exceeds $2,000.

—About two-thirds of the States do not provide MAA if a single person's liquid assets exceed $1,000 or if a couple's assets exceed $1,500.

—All but one of the States limit the cash value of life insurance a person may hold and still receive medical assistance. Four dis-

And, of course, there is the need to check up on each person applying for care to see if he meets the income limits and is truly "medically indigent." As a result of this administrative work, we find that six States are spending at least 25 cents of every dollar spent under MAA for administration rather than to pay benefits.

Tennessee spent 60 cents to administer its program in 1962 for every dollar it paid out in benefits. Louisiana, Kentucky, and Oregon all spent nearly 30 cents on administration for every dollar it paid in benefits in 1962.

Thus, there can be little doubt some better way must be found to assure today's and tomorrow's older citizens with a means of getting needed medical care.

To deal with the urgent need for a program, President Kennedy has urged Congress to extend the social security system to provide health insurance to people 65 and over.

Under the President's plan, you would pay a small amount into social security while you're working, and you would be entitled to hospital, nursing home, home health care and diagnostic services after you reach 65.

This is not "socialized medicine." It is the American way. The government itself will not provide any services whatsoever and would not interfere with the practice of medicine or the relationship between doctor and patient. Like Blue Cross, the proposed program would merely provide the means through which the contributions of worker and employer—about 25 cents a week for an average worker—would pay for hospital costs in retirement.

Your Congressman wants to know how you stand on the bill to provide hospital insurance for older Americans through Social Security. Write to him. Also, for further information, write the National Council of Senior Citizens, 1227 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Ivan A. Nestingen qualify persons if the cash value exceeds more than a specified amount—as low as $500 for a couple in New York State.

—Thirteen States make MAA payments only after it has been found that close relatives are unable to pay for medical-care expenses which the older person cannot pay himself.

Furthermore the MAA programs in the States are proving to be—in the words of the New York Times—"an administrative monstrosity." This is no wonder. Each State has a separate administrative problem. And, there is need for annual or biannual appropriation of funds by each State and the Federal Government.

Doctor Points Out Need For Good Breakfast

A good breakfast can be the key to a more alert and good natured personality, advises a noted medical authority.

A healthy person who skips breakfast after awakening will have a temperature of 96 or 97, blood pressure off 10 points, pulse rate down five to eight points, a low blood sugar level, bad coordination and a nervous mood.

The patient will plunge into an even worse condition if several hours pass and he has not treated himself with orange juice, eggs, bacon, toast and maybe coffee. The victim will have worse coordination and an even uglier mood. He will court disaster if he drives and battles with early morning traffic.

A good breakfast will help cure traffic jitters in the morning by giving a person a brighter mood and energy vital for alertness. The New York Safety Council states that a person who eats a good warm breakfast before driving to work is less prone to accident.

The North Carolina Industry Commission, showed how no breakfast can injure a worker on the job. It surveyed 2000 workers for two years and discovered that 75 per cent of all industrial accidents were suffered by workers with no breakfast.

In the classroom several studies have shown that no breakfast creates dull students. What does a good breakfast do for homemakers? They will do their work in better spirits, according to Dr. Kate Daum and Dr. W. W. Tuttle of the University of Iowa. The doctors demonstrated that working capacity, efficiency and reaction time drop when housewives ignore breakfast.

Why can a good breakfast work wonders? Most people have fasted for 12 to 14 hours by 8 a.m. They need food to fuel their bodily processes with metabolic stimulation. A tired, shaky feeling and jerky movements can be linked to no breakfast.

What does a good breakfast consist of in our modern age? The morning meal should add up to a quarter of our day's calories. If you need 2500 calories daily, eat a breakfast of fruit juice, eggs and bacon, cereal and milk, buttered toast and coffee. Studies indicate that either bacon and eggs or milk and cereal give about the same efficiency and provide protein you need.

A good breakfast is a good habit from all angles.

LYNCHBURG — Carolyn Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Richardson, 208 53rd Street, Virginia Beach, Va., was recently elected College Council Representative of the freshman class at Randolph-Macon Women's College.

"There are three faithful friends: an old wife, an old dog and ready money. . . ." Franklin

We won't argue the validity of Franklin's three choices, though we do feel that whether faithful friends fall in three or a thousand and three categories is largely a reflection of one's worthiness in meriting friendship.

True friendship is not a one-way street; it is difficult—though not impossible—to cultivate and hold faithful friends unless one has the capacity for faithful friendship within himself.

Austrian Boy Has "Parents" In Bayside

BAYSIDE — Six-year-old Sander Packola in Austria has never seen his American "parents." Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dempsey, 1507 School Road, "adopted" this needy boy from Christian Children's Fund in Richmond.

"I wanted to adopt a child from a deep feeling of sympathy and empathy for the suffering and homeless children. When I received Sander's picture a feeling of love 'welled up' in my heart and it has been there ever since. My husband, too, is happy about it," stated Mrs. Dempsey, a teacher.

Loveable and appealing, Sander lives at the CCF-affiliated IRC Children's Home in Vienna, Austria. He enjoys counting numbers and playing outdoor games in kindergarten.

Sander and Jozsef, his twin brother, are the oldest of a family of four children. Their father, of gypsy extraction, lives with the mother only occasionally and seldom works. Since their mother has to go out to work she does not want to leave her children unattended.

Christian Children's Fund is the largest organization of its type—presently assisting over 43,000 children Dr. J. Calvitt Clarke and his wife, Helen, report that they always have more hungry children than sponsors. They have a long waiting list of orphanages requesting help—and the orphanages in turn have waiting lists of children needing assistance.

Sponsors send $10.00 a month toward the child's care, choosing a boy or a girl from above the Arctic Circle to below the Equator. They are encouraged to exchange letters and Christmas cards with their "adopted" child. Many sponsors send gifts, provide for higher education, and in some cases, even take trips abroad to meet their "child."

The Clarkes were one of the first to use this unique "Adoption Plan," back in 1938. Beginning by sending aid to one small orphanage in China, they soon found millions of Americans eager to "adopt" homeless children. And since "every other child in the world will go to bed hungry tonight," there is still a lot of work to be done.

Christian Children's Fund is affiliated with 476 Homes, representing 35 Protestant denominations in 55 countries. More than simply a relief agency, it gives children physical, mental, religious and vocational care. Christian Children's Fund superintendents try to develop children into well-adjusted responsible citizens of their country.

Virginia's Art

The Match

According to legend, Hercules engaged in a contest to the death with Antaeus, the Libyan giant who was the son of Poseidon, God of the Sea, and Gaia, the Earth Goddess. Antaeus forced every traveler through his land to wrestle with him and he always won easily since, when thrown, he would develop new strength through his mother, the Earth. So numerous were his victims that their skulls formed a temple to his father. As this impressive sculpture by Giovanni da Bologna shows, Hercules found a means of winning by holding Antaeus off the ground until his strength faded. The 16th century sculpture is a recent acquisition, through the Williams Fund, of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond. A superb example of that period's interest in light, shadow and intricate form, it may be seen in the Late Italian Gallery in the headquarters building.

Zoning Change For Proposed Racetrack Gets Council's OK

VIRGINIA BEACH—Plans for a proposed stockcar racetrack in Princess Anne Borough received a nod of approval from City Council Tuesday but final action is yet to come before the project can become a reality.

Council approved a rezoning petition that would allow the track but delayed action on the use permit application for its construction. Councilmen said they wanted to review the plans and maps before approving the use permit but made it clear they would not hold a public hearing prior to their decision.

Though some criticism of the track has been voiced by residents of the site area, the biggest question facing Council and the Planning Commission has apparently been on whether or not existing roads would accommodate the expected crowds.

The Planning Commission, under the advice of State Highway authorities and Virginia Beach Traffic Safety Chief Reeves Johnson, has recommended that a one-way policy be used for the roads during the races.

Chief Johnson has said he believes the one-way traffic would accommodate the expected 15-20,000 cars leaving the track in about an hour or, at the most, within an hour and a half.

The only bottleneck in these plans would be a narrow stretch of road between Nimmo Church and the track site, approximately three tenths of a mile.

Track promoter Douglas I. Shelton of Colonial Realty Co. said that plans call for this stretch to be enlarged to four lanes.

The Planning Commission has recommended to City Council that taxes be imposed upon the track owners to take care of the cost and maintenance of such a road.

Shelton said Wednesday morning that a meeting of the track principals was held Tuesday night and "wheels are already turning to have the plans and surveys ready for the review within two weeks."

If the final plans are approved by the Planning Commission and City Council, Shelton said construction on the racetrack would start about Jan. 1, 1964.

Construction of the 1 1/4-mile oval asphalt track will cost about $1,286,000. The site cost $350,000.

The races would draw over 50,000 persons to Virginia Beach twice a year and it has been estimated that the city would realize $25-30,000 annually in taxable revenue from the events.

The racetrack has been publicly supported by such groups as the Virginia Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Virginia Beach Automobile Dealers Association and the Virginia Beach Hotel-Motel Association.

The track has been praised as a leading tourist attraction and the 50,000-seat stadium has been openly recognized as a boost to many civic and sports events as well as offering a location for possible professional football games.

It is my feeling that this is a most significant program from which our community will profit individually and collectively. Our Governor is taking time from his busy schedule to address you at the luncheon—let's show our appreciation of his interest and endeavor in furthering tourism."

Dog Came Through Better Than Driver

Mrs. Leslie E. Litch swerved to keep from hitting a dog Wednesday morning as she was driving north on Shore Drive and lost control of the car. The vehicle came to a halt when it struck a tree in a wooded area on the west side of the road. Mrs. Litch, the wife of Vice Admiral E. W. Litch (Ret.), resides in the 200 block of Pocahontas Drive. She was taken to Virginia Beach Hospital but word on her condition was not available Wednesday afternoon. The accident was investigated by Sgt. D. J. Craig. (Baldwin Photo)

Make-up Clinics To Give Sabin Oral Vaccine

VIRGINIA BEACH — Persons who did not receive Sabin oral vaccine Sunday, will have a chance to immunize themselves by taking the vaccine at one of the make-up clinics being held this week.

The make up clinics will be in Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Chesapeake according to the following schedule:

Virginia Beach: Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m. at Princess Anne High School; Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Virginia Beach General Hospital.

Norfolk: Thursday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at King's Daughters Children's Hospital; Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. at the City's Public Health Dept. on Kiley Ave.

Portsmouth: Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the City Health Dept.

Great Bridge: Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Public Health Dept.

The vaccine, administered orally on a cube of sugar is painless to take. Two doses are required for immunization against polio and for that reason a second "Sabin Oral Sunday" will be held Jan. 12.

New Delegate Cites Need For Better Roads

By Douglas Arnold Barnes

VIRGINIA BEACH—The need for better roads in Tidewater and improvements in the state's educational system are two of the issues William P. Kellam, newly elected representative to the House of Delegates, stressed in a speech here Tuesday.

In addressing the Princess Anne Woman's Club of Virginia Beach on "Know Your Virginia Government," Kellam pointed out that a government can be no better than its citizens make it.

"I am convinced that people can improve upon or break down a government," he said. "It is easier to be quiet and do nothing about an issue than to be active and do something."

"As an example, you and I must help make improvements in our educational system, for in this field there is room for improvement. The most costly domestic function of the state in 1962 was education."

"We also need good roads here in Tidewater. Given a little time this will surely happen, even if not in the immediate future."

He told the group that each individual is the most important person in the community, state and nation and Virginia, as a state, is "no more than the sum total of the faults of you and me."

Starting with Sir Walter Raleigh's naming of the state in 1607, Kellam followed the governmental structure and explained the personnel, framework of elections, salaries and responsibilities of all branches of the state government.

"Our government is chosen by popular democratic votes," he said, "and it is the duty of every citizen to abide by the laws of this state as enacted by the General Assembly."

Kellam, who ran unopposed in his first bid for public office, was elected last week to fill Virginia Beach's second seat in the House.

"As a neophyte going to the Virginia Assembly," he said, "I am proud to be a Virginian. Even though I will attend meetings of the General Assembly, I will always be glad to return to Tidewater. I truly believe that, as a well-known poem states: 'The roses nowhere bloom so sweet as in Virginia.'"

More than 60 women attended the luncheon meeting at Pine Tree Inn. Mrs. J. Douglas Wilson presided and Mrs. J. James Davis, legislative chairman, was in charge of the program.

Also appearing on the program with Kellam were students of the Shirley Darden Brown School of Baton and Dance and Earl Davis, soloist. Piano accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Glen Whitehurst.

Council Approves Water Contract With Norfolk

By Bob Baldwin

VIRGINIA BEACH—City Council Tuesday approved, with "minor changes," the five-year water contracts offered by the City of Norfolk. Apparently, the only substantial change between the version of the pact as prepared by Norfolk attorneys and the version approved by council, involves the method of determining a "fair appraised price" for Norfolk owned water mains, valves, meters and fire hydrants located in Virginia Beach.

Both versions of the contracts agree that Virginia Beach shall purchase these installations if and when it decides to set up its own water system.

As presented by Norfolk, the contracts provided for three appraisers: one to be selected by Norfolk, one by Virginia Beach and the third to be chosen by the two thus selected.

If the first two appraisers were unable to agree on the choice of a third appraiser, the selection would be made by the Judge of the Corporation Court of Norfolk.

The version of the contracts as approved by council Tuesday made no mention of how such an appraisal would be made.

Following the approval, Norfolk Mayor Roy B. Martin, Jr. was quoted as saying he was "delighted that this situation has been brought to a happy conclusion." However, Martin told the Sun-News Wednesday he had not yet seen the version of the contract as approved by Beach councilmen.

Virginia Beach political leader Sidney S. Kellam said Wednesday he did not anticipate any opposition from Norfolk over the changes in the pact. Asked when he expected the contracts to be signed, Kellam replied, "immediately."

Kellam is a member of the Chesapeake-Virginia Beach joint water negotiating committee. The agreement approved by council is included in two separate contracts: one dealing with the sale of water at a bulk rate for Virginia Beach Borough and the other providing for retail sale to consumers in the other parts of the city.

The contracts prohibit Virginia Beach and Chesapeake from establishing their own water systems for a five-year period. The water rates charged by Norfolk would remain the same as now charged but, should Norfolk decide to increase its rates, the contracts call for equal increases for all consumers.

In the past, any increase for Norfolk residents was doubled for out-of-town customers.

Shore Drive

MOTEL WOULD NOT AFFECT ROADWAY, PLANNERS TOLD

VIRGINIA BEACH—A proposed motel, to be built at the Shore Drive intersection of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel approach road, will not interfere with plans the city may have to construct a cloverleaf there, an architect for the motel project said Tuesday.

Herbert Smith, architect for Horne's Motor Lodge and Restaurant, is seeking a use permit to operate sewage treatment facilities at the site for the proposed motel.

He told the Planning Commission that the motel, which would cost approximately $750,000 in its initial phase, would be built on land at the southwest corner of the intersection.

It would be far enough back from the approach road to allow construction of a cloverleaf type of turn-off for south-bound traffic, Smith said.

Some city officials have felt that the present drop-off at the intersection might create a traffic hazard when the bridge-tunnel opens next spring and have expressed the fear that a motel at the site would interfere with possible construction of a cloverleaf there in the future.

A delegation from Bradford Acres, whose homes are close to the site, said they were not opposed to the construction of the motel but wanted assurance that the effluent from the sewage treatment facilities would not be dumped into a nearby borrow pit or a creek in the area.

Smith told the delegation the outflow would not be allowed to cause odors since this would be as harmful to the motel itself as it would be for the residents.

Other Motels
Applications concerning two smaller motels in Virginia Beach Borough were unopposed at Tuesday night's meeting.

These were:
● An application for a rezoning and use permit by Linwood W. Cherry for a 24-unit motel which would be built at the northeast corner of Artie Avenue and 29th St.

● An application by Thomas M. Murphy for a use permit to construct a 13-unit motel at the northeast corner of Pacific Avenue and 10th St.

The commission's recommendations will be presented to City Council at council's Dec. 9 meeting.

College Drive For Funds Is Underway

NORFOLK — Virginia Wesleyan College has announced the opening of a campaign to raise $3 million in construction funds in Virginia Beach-Norfolk area.

Forrest F. Cathey, chairman of the Development Committee for the new college, said the first phase of the campaign, to raise $2 million from citizens, industries, and businesses in Norfolk, and Virginia Beach, would begin immediately.

The remaining $1 million will be sought in other Tidewater areas where campaign activity will begin in about four to six weeks, according to Cathey.

The college would be located on a 300-acre site straddling the Norfolk-Virginia Beach boundaries near Lansdale traffic circle.

If the four-month fund campaign is successful construction could begin late next spring. The first freshman class would then be able to enter in September 1965.

By 1968, 1,200 students are expected to attend the college.

Dr. Joseph S. Johnston of Norfolk, chairman of the Virginia Wesleyan board of trustees, said the next four years would be "of vital importance to our college program."

Renewed publicity and plans for the over-all development campaign will be forthcoming as each phase of activity is launched, according to the two Virginia Wesleyan College leaders.

GIVE A NEW TWIST TO THE HOLIDAY BIRD WITH SEAFOOD STUFFING

One of the rich American traditions which has become a part of family living is the gathering of the clan at Thanksgiving or Christmas for a warm reunion and the traditional holiday meal with all the trimmings. The subtle combination of crisp air, a warming fire, happy sounds of reunion, and complete kitchen confusion create a certain excitement which cannot be duplicated.

Through the years, the holiday bird with stuffing has become a part of this tradition, and each section of the country has a stuffing recipe native to its area. Here are three savory seafood stuffings to bring the tang-o-the-sea to your festive table and find favor with the most fastidious.

| 1 can (12 oz.) shucked oyster, fresh or frozen | 1 egg, beaten |
| 1/2 cup chopped celery | 1 tsp. chopped parsley |
| 1/2 cup chopped onion | 1 tsp. salt |
| 1/4 cup melted fat or oil | 1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning |
| 6 cups soft bread cubes | Dash pepper |

Thaw frozen oysters. Drain oysters and chop coarsely. Cook celery and onion in fat until tender; stirring occasionally. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes about 4 cups of stuffing, enough for a 4-pound ready-to-cook bird.

SCALLOP STUFFING

Thaw frozen scallops. Rinse with cold water to remove any shell particles. Chop scallops, onion, and celery in fat until vegetables are tender; stirring occasionally. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Makes about 4 cups of stuffing, enough for a 4-pound ready-to-cook bird.

SHRIMP STUFFING

- | | |
|---------------------------------|-------------------------|

The 'Y' of It

Another YWCA Series of Ladies' Day Out Classes, Cook Evening Classes and Swimming Classes is drawing to a conclusion, and a most successful series it has been. Attendance is to be our guide stick. But, attendance is only one rung in the ladder of success and, without the cooperation and diligent work on the part of many "behind the scenes" people, these classes could not have been a success. Here we would like to especially thank our instructors (bless them) and our Staff Director, Mrs. Jean Newman, for her ability to get things done.

We cannot congratulate ourselves on another successful "Y" Series without acknowledging the cooperation on the part of the following organizations in the Virginia Beach area, and so our thanks also go to:

The Virginia Beach Methodist Church, The First Presbyterian Church of Virginia Beach, The Emmanuel Episcopal Church of Kempsville, The Seaside Christian Church for allowing us to use their premises and to the women of these churches for the fine luncheons served.

The American Legion on Laskin Road for their help in allowing us to hold the Ballroom Dancing Classes and to The Arthur Murray Dance Studios for allowing us to "borrow" one of their talented instructors.

VEPCO of Virginia Beach for enabling us to offer three Bonus Spoon Cooking Classes to our class participants.

The Cavalier Hotel for the use of their swimming pool.

Rainald Piam Bowl where our Bowling Classes were held.

Interiors International, who provided the excellent instruction for our Interior Decorating Class.

Stumpy Lake Golf Course and Highland Links Golf Club. The owners and merchants of the Lighthouse Shopping Center for allowing us to use the parking lot for our Dog Obedience Training Class.

The Extension Service of V.P.I. who's Ass. Home Demonstration Agent did such a fine job in our Sewing Classes.

Oral Sunday Remarkably Successful

No one could possibly have forecast the remarkable success of the mass immunization program against polio that resulted in so many of the Tidewater area receiving the Sabin oral vaccine last Sunday at school buildings throughout the area. It was a credit to this entire area.

More than 358,000 persons trekked to the vaccine stations last Sunday throughout the Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Chesapeake areas. Virginia Beach, alone, recorded more than 62,000 persons taking part in the program.

The tremendous outpouring of citizens leaves a relatively small percentage of the population unimmunized and a list of clinics in the area and times have been announced so that these persons may yet get the first dose of this remarkable vaccine which was developed by Dr. Albert Sabin and his associates.

Now, it is "one down and one to go" for the vaccine to be effective comes in two doses. The next oral vaccine Sunday will be held on January 12, 1964. It is important that those receiving the first dose complete the immunization by receiving the second dose in January.

The entire program reflects credit on the doctors, nurses, medical societies and pharmacists of the area. Of course, the people of the area made it all possible with their warm response to the program.

Striking At The People

Sometime in the not too distant future, the realization is going to sink home that when elected public officials and the administrators of various government agencies cut loose with a free wheeling attack on a basic industry, the people are the big losers. A good example is the oil industry which is made up of hundreds of highly competitive companies subjected to every regulation and tax in the book. A recent release by the Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania reveals what one phase of the oil industry means to that state.

In 1922, the first year of the Pennsylvania gas tax, the state collected $3,112,000. This year the motorists in that state will pay an estimated $382 million in state and federal gasoline taxes which now total 11 cents a gallon.

Since the start of the federal interstate highway program seven years ago, Pennsylvania motorists have paid more than $1.4 billion in federal automotive taxes. The same situation prevails in every state in the union.

While the oil industry is discovering, producing and marketing petroleum products at prices the public can pay, it is functioning in a three-fold capacity. It is meeting a need for a vital commodity; it is serving as a gigantic tax collecting agency for government; and finally, it is a heavy taxpayer in its own right—the government receives the lion's share of earnings nowadays.

Unfounded criticism, adverse governmental action for political reasons, or kindred harassment of any basic industry strike, directly at the people as consumers and as taxpayers in higher prices or shortage of supply.

Penalizing Success

With a tax system such as the income tax of the federal and state governments, one would think these governments would welcome private citizens with enough nerve to risk their savings in enterprises that if profitable immediately become subject to a punitive tax for being successful.

But such is not the case, particularly with the federal government which is constantly extending its competition with taxpaying citizens and industry on which it depends for its revenue—for example, its unnecessary use of tax revenue to promote and build tax-exempt power systems, misnamed public power plants.

Such plants are not nearly so publicly-owned as taxpaying investor-owned private enterprises in which millions of people have put their savings. These companies are first taxed 52 per cent on their net earnings. Then the investor is taxed again on any dividend he gets.

These taxes are used to help pay for the federal systems which are tax exempt and called public plants. They can cut rates for privileged customers because they pay no taxes, but the general taxpayer must pay higher taxes to make up for the taxes that would have otherwise been generated by taxpaying power production.

The people will never get real relief until they turn thumbs down on political projects that kill private enterprise, and thereby build toward a socialistic form of government from which we are spending billions to protect ourselves.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

I am having a large number of chuckles from some of the advertising I see these days, on TV as well as in the magazines. Like most males I am attracted to pictures of pretty dames, and nowadays they sell everything with a picture of a pretty female. I am not always able to understand why girls in bikinis are used in full color in an ad about dog food, but I like it.

The latest chuckle arose because of an ad in a recent picture magazine. Large photo of Harry James blowing his trumpet with a facial tissue over the bell. Not only that, the tissue was soaking wet. According to the ad, the fact that the tissue didn't break made it the strongest tissue on the market. I dunno about you, but I am not interested if my tissue can withstand the lung power of Mr. James or Mr. Louis Armstrong. I just want to be able to have one on hand when I need it.

The same kind nonsense abounds about ball point pens. They make them that'll write under water and on butter-smear paper. I haven't had occasion lately to use a pen under these circumstances, but I am sure havin' trouble getting them to write on regular paper. I guess I'm just not going about it properly.

The cigarette ads infer that if you don't smoke a certain brand that all of your friends will be boys. This is OK for the females of the country, but I don't want to be surrounded by males, so I'm thinking about changing. Nothing interests me less than a roomful of men, and if changing brands will insure me a large quota of females, I'll swap to anything, including snuff.

I hear tell people form committees and appear before Congress about the practices of ad agencies. I can't get steamed up at all. I just go on reading enough of those ads that sport pictures of scantily clad tomatoes, and let the committees go on with their talks to Congress. How are they gonna make an impression on the greatest collection of con men in the world. Shades of Bobby Baker! Congress can out-fool Madison Avenue any time. Don't believe it? Look at the Congressional Record.

It seems Breckner was ready to leave the show when Cheryl persuaded him to fill out an entry giving him a chance to win his choice of nine new compacts. City Manager W. Cameo Opening New Homes In P. A. Plaza

PLAZA — Cameo Homes will open five new models in Princess Anne Plaza this weekend. The model-homes are located on Plaza Trail between Basin Street and Waverly Drive, built by Mill Russ Construction Company and under the personal supervision of Augustine "Gus" DeMille, the builder.

These new homes will range in price from $13,950 to $17,750. This new section of Cameo Homes face the scenic Bow Creek Golf and Country Club with each home complete with "Southern Exposure". All home sites are completely developed and have paved streets with city water and all utilities.

All five models, The Saratoga, The Berkeley, The Oxford, The Regent, and The Victoria, feature the new Westinghouse kitchens and especially designed kitchen features which were created under the supervision of several local home economists. The kitchens in each home feature time saving devices.

DeMille has kept the home-maker very much in mind in planning each of these lovely homes. The exterior design of the homes range from the two story colonial to the colonial ranch, the contemporary and the modern, giving the interested home buyer a variety of both exterior and interior design.

The new Cameo models feature three and four bedroom homes with two-baths and the all important family rooms.

The interiors of each home have been color co-ordinated by the decorator, Suburban Interiors.

LAW TOPICS

This is one in a series of articles on general topics of law which have been approved by the American and Virginia Beach Bar Associations. These are written for the general reading public. Persons with specific questions and problems should consult an attorney of their choice.

WRITE A LETTER TO YOUR HEIRS

You should, of course, leave a will, so that your wishes for those you care for may be carried out after your death. Our courts will then see to it that your wishes are put into effect.

But a lawyer who has been reading those columns called in the other day to suggest that a will is not enough. You should leave as well a letter to your wife, husband, children, executor, or close friend. In it give facts and advice about your affairs to help your heirs.

Where is your will? In a safety deposit box? At your office? Or tucked away some place for safe keeping? You might have hidden it so that nobody can find it. It might be destroyed by accident. Your will is no good unless it can be found.

Who is your executor—the person or institution you want to carry out your will? With whom do you deal at the bank? To whom do you look for sound business advice?

Where do you bank? Some persons have a savings account in one bank and checking accounts in others. Where are your safety deposit boxes? Do you keep important papers in other places? List these places.

Note these subjects: old age survivors' insurance, pensions, profit-sharing plans, group insurance, club memberships, royalties, estates and trusts, and joint ventures. Put down your social security number.

New Dispenser Making Hit

Not too many years ago, a lady of the house...not to mention the nuisance of the "empties".

For further information write the Dutch House Keg Bar, 435 Delaware Avenue, Norfolk, 23508, Virginia.

Just a little over four years ago, they could be financed through the Bank of America with long term payments comparable with other home appliances. His very first customer was Mrs. Jerry Lewis, wife of the entertainer.

Since then, Mr. Wilbur says his original nine customers have grown to more than 1500 and about 150 new customers in his about 150 new customers in his homes every month.

The average home draught customer buys about two quarter kegs each month. Most of the beer drinkers that converted consumed a minimum average of a six pack a day. The economy minded beer connoisseur not only likes the fresher beer, but the larger savings as well. In this home beer dispenser, keg beer will stay fresh for two months.

The "Private Keg" has been scaled down from its commercial brother to fit easily into the average home with or without a bar. Large smooth rolling casters allow it to move readily from the bar area to the patio or pool side where ever good friends gather. This model has a high velocity blower coil for rapid temperature reduction of the keg—the same as used by the other commercial units made by United Refrigeration Co. It has a fan cooled compressor for proper refrigeration under all conditions. The liner bottom is reinforced so that the heavy kegs will not cause any damage. The door can be locked against any unauthorized use or to protect it from children. And it does give back shelf space in the family refrigerator to the

Good Hunting Is Forecast

With another hunting season only a few days in the offing, a look at last year's Big Game statistics might shed some light on what we can expect. Boasting an all-time record deer harvest, a bear harvest that ranked third in the past 16 seasons and a wild turkey harvest that ranked fourth in the past 12 seasons, Virginia's 1962-63 hunting season deserves a prominent place in history. Wild turkeys could be hunted in the snow for the first time in many years, uniform deer hunting regulations prevailed west of the Blue Ridge, and all but two Virginia counties incorporated some type of "any deer" regulations to better utilize the annual surplus.

Studies of our western deer herds vividly emphasize the decreasing ability of many forests to supply adequate nutrition. Inadequate food conditions are pointed out by antler size, weight and fawn percentages in the fall kill. The quality of deer food supplied by a forest depends upon its age. The young forest produces the best food. As the forest matures the trees shade out and prevent new growth needed by deer. This change from good deer range to poor range occurs within 10-30 years depending upon soil, moisture, sunlight and other factors.

Vast acreages of our western hardwood forests were heavily logged between 1915-1930. Repeated uncontrolled fire slowed the regrowth of the forest following logging but effective fire control efforts gradually reduced this factor. Because so much of the western forest was cut within a short period, a vast acreage of the western deer range has now passed its prime and continues to decline.

The problem in western Virginia is that vast areas of forest have grown enough to become poor deer range but not enough to be cut commercially at a profit. The most economical means of turning poor deer range into good deer range is to commercialize the forest floor and prevent new growth. The job can be done in other ways but the expense involved greatly limits the amount of land that can be converted.

The solution in western Virginia is the conversion of these older even aged forests into smaller areas of mixed aged timber stands scattered throughout the forests. The smaller commercial cuts must be scattered throughout the forest each year so that a continuous supply of young forest growth is available at all times. Game managers and foresters recognize the difficulties brought about by past logging history but time and a good timber management should provide the remedy.

What's in store for the 1963-64 hunting season? With virtually the same deer regulations in effect as last year, Virginia sportsmen should reap a harvest of 8 to 10 thousand deer west of the Blue Ridge and 24 to 26 thousand deer east of the Blue Ridge. A State total of 32 to 38 thousand deer is estimated for the 1963-64 harvest.

Wild turkey harvests have varied considerably depending upon the success of the hatching season. The decrease in the number of turkey hunting days both east and west of the Blue Ridge will reduce the 1963-64 harvest to between 1500 and 2000 even if a good hatch occurs.

Black bear harvests continue to fluctuate with the acorn and hickory mast crops. In the past 16 seasons only once has the harvest been over 300 two years in succession. The 1964 bear harvest is more likely to fall between less than 200 to slightly below 300 during the 1963-64 season.

RAIDERS CLINCH TITLE AMONG MIDGET GRIDDERS

The Raiders clinched the midget league 6-man football championship Saturday with a one-sided 31-6 victory over the hapless Chargers. The win left the Raiders with a perfect 5-0 slate with one game left to play in regular season competition.

It was obvious from the kick-off that the Raiders had the game in control. On the first play from scrimmage halfback Ed McQuilkin broke over the left side and raced 46 yards to paydirt.

The next time the Raiders got the ball, McQuilkin broke away again, this time for 39 yards, and the rout was on. End Tommy Burton snared two TD aeriels and Mike Atkins one as the Raiders went to the air for the rest of their scoring.

Steve Snow caught a 12-yd. pass for the Chargers' lone tally. It was only the second touchdown scored against the Raiders this season.

A game this week with the Rams stands between the Raiders and an undefeated season. The champions will meet the 6-man All-Stars in a post season game. Mariners Win 4th Straight Speedy halfback Tommy English led the Mariners to their fourth consecutive victory and at least a tie for second place in the 6-man midget league. English scored three times as the Mariners dumped the Demons by an impressive 25-7 score.

Behind crisp blocking, English ran the opening kick-off back 65 yards for his first marker and broke away for two more first half tallies on dazzling runs of 74 and 36 yards. Butch Palmer hit paydirt from 6 yards out for the final Mariner score.

Brooke Entwistle circled end for three yards and the lone Demon tally late in the first half.

Danny Lake, Jeff Hanft and Hodge Vicolio tied a determined Mariner defense that otherwise contained the Demon attack. Particularly impressive was a fourth quarter goal line stand by the Mariners that began with a Demon first down on the Mariner five and ended four plays later with the ball on the eighth.

Knights Tie Jaguars The Knights made their best showing of the year last Saturday battling the favored Jaguars to a scoreless tie.

8-Man Leagues

Panthers Claw Bulldogs The Panthers dumped the Bulldogs further into the Junior 8-man league basement Saturday as George Fulcher led his mates to a 28-0 victory over the winless Plaza Bulldogs. Fulcher ran and passed the ball as if he were the only person on the field. He scored three touchdowns on runs of 80, 60 and 30 yards. Mike O'Brien added one TD and an extra point to close out the Panther scoring. With only three games remaining in the season, the Panthers now share the lead with the Hornets and Chargers.

Blue Devils Got A Charge The Blue Devils scored first on Keith Gore's 11-yd. run but it was not enough to down the fired up Chargers. Behind 6 to 0 at halftime, the Chargers came roaring back with 13 second-half points to win their fourth game of the season and maintained their position atop the standings. Terry Hines and Jerry Chaplain led the fired up band of gladiators in the second half as each scored to culminate long drives. Defensively, the Chargers got good game from Billy King, Townsend and Markert. The Devils were led by Johnny Johnson.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1963

View Of Virginia Beach

Doris Padrick

Money presents problems. But the biggest problem is how to get the most out of what money you do have. No matter how much or how little you are able to save, it never seems to be enough. With careful budgeting and with the help of a financial expert, you may be able to make some of your income work for you... by investing!

ANDERSON & STRUDWICK on 3110 Pacific Avenue in Virginia Beach are members of the New York Stock Exchange. This is a fascinating place to visit, whether you feel you could or should invest part of your savings or not.

Not many years ago ownership of stock and income from dividends was mostly confined to the upper income families. That no longer holds true. Today an estimated 12½ million Americans own stocks. These shareholders are not rich; the average family income is $7,000 per year.

There are many ways that a small amount invested regularly can help you to become an American capitalist. There is a Monthly Investment Plan which is a pay-as-you-go and as little as $40 every three months you may choose from some 1200 stocks, common and preferred on the New York Stock Exchange. This is not an installment plan as there is no down payment and you do not owe any balance and you are never in debt—you are simply the owner of the stock you purchase. Your account is credited with both full and fractional shares. The Monthly Investment Plan is not designed for short-term buying and selling. Its advantages are best when worked over a long period of time.

The Mutual Fund plan is another happy solution for a small investor. A Mutual Fund is a company which combines the investment money of thousands of people, whose aims are similar, into one large investment fund. By combining their money in one large sum, these investors can obtain the important benefits and advantages that otherwise could only be enjoyed by a person of great wealth.

An Investment Club is similar to the Mutual Fund company in that a group of congenial people get together about once a month to discuss securities with the idea of pooling small sums contributed by each member and investing in stock selected by the group. The average should have about 14 members so that each one may actively participate in the selection and study of securities.

At Anderson & Strudwick you will find William R. Ashburn, Jr., manager, who will help you decide on how best you may be able to invest and look forward to more income as the years pass by. He is ably assisted by representatives Laurence M. Bragg and Frank L. Lawlor. Their secretary is Mary M. English. If you have never been inside a stock brokers office, you will find the machines intricately fascinating also. The familiar ticker tape goes on constantly typing out other interesting items of news as well as prices. There is a TWX which gives direct word on over the counter stocks; the teletype transmits business direct from New York Stock Exchange and the American Stock Exchange; the Quotron gives the last word on prices quoted on New York and American. You can watch the Trans-Lux's moving prices on the wall direct from New York. And on the Board are posted the latest opening and closing prices.

To be a small time investor you should first consider how much you can lose before you have dreams of becoming wealthy overnight! Investing is a stake in your future and works best over a long period of time.

Fairer Sex Learning Car Repair Ways

By Bob Baldwin

VIRGINIA BEACH — Some of the feminine members of the community may soon find themselves adjusting a carburetor or replacing a car's fan belt with the same skill and confidence they possess when changing baby's diapers.

Every Monday night the masculine world of motors is invaded by a bevy of young ladies, mostly housewives and schoolteachers, intent on gaining a bit of self-reliance when a tire goes flat.

They are attending a series of courses in various phases of car care sponsored by Joe Chambers, owner of the 31st St. Phillips 66 service station at Artie Ave.

The classes are conducted free of charge at the station and cover most aspects of a car's workings. "There are about 50 courses in the series," Chambers explained. "In the more advanced courses the girls will get right into the cylinders. If a girl is really interested and attends classes for a year, she would have the basic skills of a real mechanic," he said.

Chambers began the courses two weeks ago. Teaching aids and props are furnished by Phillips Petroleum Company. Each class is attended by about 10 girls and at the conclusion of the course a diploma is awarded for the subjects covered that evening.

The girls come prepared for work, wearing old clothes. After a classroom lecture by Chambers the students get practical experience by working on a 1952 Studebaker provided for use by the class.

Monday night Chambers taught his class how to change a tire without masculine assistance. "If they're going to drive they should know how to cope with emergencies," he observed.

The students are also provided with literature written especially for the woman driver containing additional information and tips on good driving.

When a male motorist spots a woman driver stalled on the highway these days, it might be a good idea to stop and offer a helping hand in spite of all this. Chances are she knows how to change the flat tire, but it's still a pretty messy job for a lady.

Herzer Students In Recital Sun.

VIRGINIA BEACH — Twenty-three young Virginia Beach pianists will take part in Clifford Herzer School of Music's Annual Fall Piano Recital Sunday afternoon.

The participants will include students of both Herzer and Walter Noon.

The recital, to be held at the school at 748 Shirley Avenue, Norfolk, will feature the junior students at 3 p.m., the teenagers at 5 p.m.

Those from Virginia Beach will include Stacy Doyle, Laura Burch, Sherry Butler, Carol Ottenstein, Woody Nichols, Jay McCracken, Ricki Craft, Sharon McCarthy, Nancy Niel, Susan Axelrod, Timmy McLaughlin, Cece Beattie, Michelle Beattie, Susan Glascock, Nancy Harrison, Betsy Ames, Barry Daniel, Valerie Perkins, George Grillo, Theresa Grillo, Theresa Napolitano, Sylvia Handell and Marilyn Thompson.

Miss Berns In Leading Role

JUDY BERNs

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Judy Berns will play the role of Laura in the upcoming production of "The Glass Menagerie" at the Virginia Beach Little Theatre. Judy has been acting since her eighth grade at school when she played the person's daughter, "Eileen" in "One Foot in Heaven". Since then she has done a score of plays including "The Matchmakers" at Northwestern University where she was majoring in Theatre Arts.

He latest role was that of a tough looking, hard-drinking girlfriend of a merchant sailor in "Happy Birthday" here at the Beach. When asked about the transition to the shy, introverted "Laura" of "The Glass Menagerie", she reports that she is delighted that the casting committee did not type cast her in the kind of part she has just done.

"I am serious about an acting career," she states, "and would like to do as many varied roles as possible."

Judy hopes one day to go to London and study with the Royal Academy of Arts there. Traveling abroad will be no new experience for her, as she has lived for four years off and on in France and Germany with her parents, Captain and Mrs. Max A. Berns. Captain Berns is at present serving on the Seafair Staff in Norfolk.

The Glass Menagerie will play November 21-23, and 29-30, at the Playhouse on 17th Street.

Quality Courts Honor Two

VIRGINIA BEACH — Two Virginia Beach motel operators have been honored by Quality Courts Motels, Inc. for outstanding efforts in distributing a total of 17,500 guide books during the past year.

They are: Sidney Kellam, of the Thunderbird Motor Lodge and the Holiday Sands Motel; and Albert Greenspoon, of the Ocean Ranch Motel.

Special appreciation for their efforts was voiced by President John Lacock at the just-ended international convention on Miami Beach. Kellam distributed 12,500 guides and Greenspoon 5,000.

Quality Courts Motels, Inc. is composed of over 500 franchised motels with 35,000 units, both in operation and under construction, in states east of the Mississippi River and in eastern Canada. However, the chain has just announced plans to expand nationally and throughout Canada.

Farm-City Week Observance Urged

RICHMOND — Governor Albert S. Harrison, Jr. has signed a statement urging the observance of Farm-City Week in the observance of Farm City Week, 1963.

Ninth Annual Farm-City Week is scheduled in all of the United States and Canada during November 22-28.

Governor Harrison stated that "The products of our fields, combined with those of our factories, contribute heavily to the economic strength of Virginia, and mutual understanding between farm and city people helps to assure that this will continue to be so."

Chambers explains ignition system to Mrs. Sophie Hodella (center) and Mrs. Helen Davis.

Chapel Becomes Church Sunday

KING'S GRANT — King's Grant Presbyterian Chapel will become the 8th church within the Virginia Beach city limits and the 64th church in the Norfolk Presbytery on Sunday when organizational services will be held at the King's Grant Elementary School on Little Neck Rd. at 3 p.m.

The Rev. S. D. McCammon, executive secretary of Norfolk Presbytery, will preside. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. Andrew R. Bird Jr., minister of First Presbyterian Church of Norfolk.

Other members of the organizational commission include Rev. J. R. Hollandsworth, minister of Calvin Presbyterian Church; J. R. Roughton Sr., chairman of the Home Mission Committee; and elders A. Saunders Corbin, Thalia Presbyterian Church; Hector M. McNeill, Thalia Trinity Church; and William McC. Paxton, Norfolk First Presbyterian Church.

During the chapel's home mission status, the Rev. David H. Burr, former minister of Royster Memorial Presbyterian Church, Corbin and Paxton served as advisory committees.

About 60 persons are listed as charter members. The Rev. Raymond C. Flitton was appointed field minister by the Home Mission Committee and has served the chapel since its beginning in late 1961.

Rev. Flitton was minister of Lynnhaven Presbyterian Church from 1951 to 1961 and served Eastern Shore churches in Belle Haven and Wachapreague prior to that time.

PREPARING THE HOME GROUNDS FOR WINTER

November is the month to take steps to cut down on injury or loss of plants on the home grounds during cold winter months. Broadleaf evergreens are more susceptible to winter injury than deciduous or needle evergreens. A special effort should be made to see that plants go into the winter with sufficient moisture in the root area. Watering shrubs and trees in November and December may be necessary if the soil is dry. Plants are more apt to die from a lack of water than from extreme cold.

Sun and Wind Protection

Broadleaf evergreens subject to winter burn should be protected from the sun, wind, and temperature extremes if possible. This protection can often be provided by locating larger trees or shrubs so they help provide a partial shade canopy or windbreak. Mechanical structures such as snow fences, burlap screens, or polyethylene barriers may be erected to provide protection. The structure should be made and located with care in order not to be objectionable in the landscape picture. Do not let the structural barrier touch the plants because it will cause injury. Evergreens bought can be cut and stuck in the ground around anemones and other broadleaf evergreens to serve the same purpose as structures.

Mulching

A heavy mulch of oak leaves, sawdust, wood chips, pine needles, peanut hulls, peat, or other mulching materials applied after the first freeze helps retain moisture, and reduces the depth of freezing. A critical period for evergreens is often in early spring when the ground is still frozen. The days suddenly become quite warm and there are high, drying winds. These days are especially hard on plants in frozen soils. Protection from the wind is important under these conditions.

Protection from Snow Damage

Evergreens and broadleaf evergreens are especially subject to damage from heavy snow. Check upright evergreens like arborvitae or chamecyparis which have more than one major stem. The stems together if they appear to be weak, because this will help prevent the weight of snow from bending them. Boxwoods have not been thinned properly to allow development of strong stems are apt to be damaged by heavy accumulation of snow. During and after a heavy snowstorm, it is advisable to carefully knock off the snow. Do not attempt to remove snow from shrubs if it is mixed with ice or sleet because it will injure them. Choice boxwoods located in the path of snow slides from a steep roof may have to be protected by a lean structure.

Protection for Rose Bushes

Piling 10" to 12" of soil around the base of established rose bushes will provide some protection. Rose leaves should be cleaned up and burned as a sanitary measure.

Protective Sprays

On the market are various waxes and other sprays for treating foliage of broadleaf evergreens to slow loss of moisture through the foliage. Some spraying has to be repeated several times during the winter because bending of frozen stems and leaves cracks the wax film. These materials are available from garden centers or from your nurseryman. Follow the directions of the manufacturer.

The Flowering Dogwood

The flowering dogwood is one of the best known ornamentals and is widely used in various types of landscape work. It provides ornamental interest during several seasons. It is best known for its spring bloom. This is followed by attractive summer foliage which turns to vivid red in the fall, and it has conspicuous red fruit. Although it loses its leaves in winter, the horizontal branches are picturesque.

The ornamental characteristics of dogwoods contribute to their popularity. Another important factor is their versatility as a landscape plant, both for domestic and public use. Some examples of the functional uses made of dogwoods in landscape work are:

1. A specimen plant in the lawn or garden.
2. In combination with other material to form the foundation composition for a building.
3. To accent a driveway entrance or to outline an approach drive.
4. To furnish an ornamental screen or border planting along a property line.
5. Suitable for a planting under utility lines in the strip between curb and sidewalk.
6. An underplanting beneath a canopy of taller trees.
7. To provide a continuity of color throughout the community.

Nursery or Field Collected Plants

The flowering dogwood is native in Virginia. It is difficult to find a good, pink flowering form in the woods. The pink dogwoods result from budding pink forms on roots of the white.

Many homeowners transplant native dogwoods from the woods and are often disappointed because the plants die. Nursery-grown stock is superior because the plants are full, and have a compact root system because the roots have been pruned. Small, bare root dogwoods may be purchased safely, but plants over 3' tall should be in containers or balled and burlapped. If plants are dug in the woods, be sure to select those under 3' in height and preserve as much of the root system as possible. Follow closely the instructions for planting and care.

Planting

Dogwoods prefer shade but will grow in full sun. They do well in moist, fertile soil that is slightly acid. In soils that tend to dry quickly, organic matter in the form of leaf mold or peat moss should be added to existing soil to help increase water-holding capacity. A good layer of mulch is also important.

Planting steps:

1. Dig a hole deeper and wider than the root system. Refill with a mixture of enough soil and organic matter to accommodate the root ball or bare root system so that it will sit a little higher than when growing in the wood.
2. Firm the soil and water thoroughly. The plant should not settle so it will be the same depth it was before transplanting. AVOID PLANTING TOO DEEPLY.
3. Mulch with approximately 2" of sawdust, leaf mold, or other available materials.
4. Cut back 1/2 of the top portion of the plant on all nursery-grown bare root or field-collected stock to compensate for damage to the root system.
5. Stake to insure a straight trunk and to prevent the small plants from being stepped on.
6. Do not use fertilizer at the time of planting because there is danger of burning the roots.
7. Watering for several months after planting is important. For best effects run the water slowly in order to soak the ground thoroughly.
8. It may be necessary to cut the plant back more if it appears to be drying. Often cutting more of the top will save a plant.

Cultural Recommendations

If dogwoods are growing satisfactorily in a soil that has a reasonable amount of organic matter and is properly mulched to conserve moisture, it will not be necessary to feed them every year. In fact, too much fertilizer will often cause vegetative growth and cut down on flower production. Young plants may be fertilized each year with a complete fertilizer. Avoid cultivating around the roots; use a mulch to keep weeds down and to conserve moisture. Beautiful dogwoods which have never been fed can be seen in the woods.

Avoid barking trunks with the lawn mower. Borers are serious enemies of dogwoods and often enter the trunk through scarred

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

Chevrolet Impala 4-Door Sport Sedan

Here are looks, luxury and comfort you'd expect to set you back plenty — if they came from anybody but Chevrolet.

Fresh-minted styling with clean uncluttered lines that give the '64 Jet-smooth Chevrolet its feeling of new length and lowness.

Rich new interiors with supple fabrics (sink your hand into the new vinyl upholstery of the new Impala Super Sport Series, for instance, and ask yourself if you've ever felt softer seat covering).

Here are the niceties of Body by Fisher craftsmanship like you'll find on expensive cars. And stylish touches like the vinyl-clad roof* you can order on the Sport Coupe.

Door-to-door carpeting and foam-cushioned front and rear seats are standard now in all models, including the modestly priced Biscaynes.

And there's a wealth of power to pick from. Engines from a peppery 140-hp 6 to a 425-hp V8*. Transmissions that are refined for smoother, more silent operation. Sixteen power teams in all.

Then, with all of that going for you, you've got the '64 Jet-smooth ride at work to cushion you from road noise and vibration like few other cars can at any price.

Been promising yourself luxury like this someday? Your someday is here, as your dealer will gladly show you.

THE MIXING BOWL "It's Fun To Cook"

By Lucille Clark

As more and more people are joining the "Count Your Calories" set, I thought you would like to have some new low calorie recipes from the Cranberry Kitchen in Houson, Massachusetts. I found the historical facts of great interest, hope you will too.

Use of Fresh Cranberries
Fresh cranberries make the most colorful dishes of the year. Use them to make cranberry breads, cakes, cake toppings, cookies, desserts, frozen desserts, meat specialties, pies and pastries, poultry dishes, puddings, relishes, salads, sauces.

To Freeze:

During fresh cranberry season, be sure to tuck packages of fresh cranberries into the freezer. Frozen cranberries can be used as successfully as fresh berries in your recipes. Don't thaw the berries. Give them a quick rinse in cold water. Then grind or chop them in their frozen state or cook them as you would fresh berries from the vines.

NOTE: Fresh cranberry relishes, breads and desserts freeze well, too, so make an extra batch for the freezer.

HISTORICAL FACTS OF FIRST FRUIT OF AMERICA—CRANBERRIES

Cranberries, the first fruit of America, are as old as Plymouth Rock and as American as Thanksgiving Day. Long before the first Pilgrim lady set her dainty foot on Plymouth Rock, cranberries were growing wild in the lowlands of Plymouth and Cape Cod. This is their native soil and it is here that over 60 per cent of the nation's cranberries are produced.

The Indians taught the Pilgrim women that the beautiful red cranberries were edible. A favorite Indian dish was Pemican. This was a mixture of dried venison, fat, and cranberries pounded to a pulp, patted into cakes to bake in the sun on the rocks.

Pilgrim women, being English ladies, had an English liking for preserves and stewed fruit. They cooked the wild red berries in water, added sweetening and called it cranberry sauce.

As early as 1683, a recipe for Cranberry Juice appeared in "The Compleat Cook's Guide." It was called, "A Most Pleasant Drink." Directions say: "Put a teacupfull of cranberries into a cup of water and mash them. In the meantime boil 2 quarts and a pint of water with one large spoonfull of oatmeal and a very large bit of lemon peel. Then add the cranberries and as much fine Lisbon Sugar as shall leave a smart."

To appease the wrath of King Charles II against the coining of the Pine Tree Shillings, early settlers sent him "10 barrels of cranberries, 2 hogheads of sump and 3,000 codfish."

American Indians gathered and used cranberries for centuries. Explorers Lewis and Clark found the Indians, of what is now the State of Washington, picking cranberries. Indians in northwestern Wisconsin are as happy harvesting their cranberry crop as were their ancestors.

It took typical American keenness and foresight to develop the wild cranberry into a cultivated fruit. Although cultivation began on Cape Cod, Massachusetts some 200 years after the landing of the Pilgrims, it soon spread to other states. In New Jersey where cranberries were also a native fruit, cultivation began about 1853... and about this time in Wisconsin. A native Cape-Codder, Charles McFarlin, built Oregon's first cranberry bog in 1885 from cuttings of Cape Cod cranberry vines.

Five northern states, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, New Jersey, Washington and Oregon, produce most of the cranberries grown. It takes leveled ground of sand-topped peat to grow cranberries and three to five years to bear the first crop. Plenty of available sand for sanding and fresh water for flooding in winter months are also requirements.

Cranberry vines blossom in late June or early July. The harvest usually starts after Labor Day.

Mechanical pickers are now used in reaping up to 6,000 pounds each a day compared to 330 to 660 pounds with the old fashioned wooden scoop.

Harvested cranberries are taken to nearby cold storage plants. A winnowing machine blows away leaves and a separator bounces good berries on to final inspection and packaging.

Fresh cranberries appear in fall and winter markets in one pound packages... window box or film bag. Either may be placed in home freezers for lengthy storage.

Low Calorie Fresh Cranberry Dishes For Dieters

Are you one of the large group of smart calorie counters? If so, these new cranberry dishes have been made especially for you. Bright cheery cranberry relishes, salads and desserts can be made with this fall's crop of fresh cranberries and liquid sweeteners.

There are many forms of liquid sweeteners on the market. Remember to reduce the amount of sweetener if you are using a concentrate liquid sweetener. For example: if recipe calls for 4 teaspoons liquid sweetener, reduce to 1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon for a concentrated liquid sweetener.

DIETETIC CRANBERRY SAUCE

4 cups (1 lb.) Fresh Cranberries
1 1/2 cups water
4 teaspoons liquid sweetener.
Combine cranberries, water and liquid sweetener in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, then lower heat and simmer until berries pop open (about 10 minutes). Chill to serve. Makes 1 to 1 1/2 pints.

CRANBERRY ORANGE RELISH

4 cups (1 lb.) Fresh Cranberries
2 oranges (quartered and seeded)
4 tablespoons liquid sweetener
Put cranberries and oranges including rind through food grinder (coarse blade). Stir in sweetener. Chill at least 3 hours before serving. Makes about 2 cups.

CRANBERRY BUFFET SALAD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup Fresh Cranberries
1/2 cup water
1 1/4 tablespoons liquid sweetener solution
1 cup non-caloric gingerale
3/4 cup diced apples
3/4 cup diced celery
Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water and set aside. Combine cranberries and 1/2 cup water and cook until skins pop. Force through a sieve; add sweetener. Add hot cranberries to gelatin, stirring to dissolve. Cool slightly. Stir in gingerale; refrigerate until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in apples and celery. Pour into 1 quart greased mold and chill until set. (8 servings).

CRANBERRY SNOW

This cranberry dessert requires no cooking
2 cups Fresh Cranberries
1 orange (quartered and seeded)
2 tablespoons liquid sweetener solution
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
Put cranberries and orange including rind through food grinder (coarse blade). Stir in sweetener. Chill for flavors to blend. Beat egg whites and salt until very stiff. Fold in vanilla and cranberry orange relish.

CRANBERRY DAINTIES

4 cups (1 lb.) Fresh Cranberries
1 1/2 cups water
4 tablespoons liquid sweetener
5 envelopes Low Calorie Raspberry Gelatin Dessert
Cook cranberries and water until skins pop. Remove from stove; add liquid sweetener. Beat until smooth, then return to heat to bring just to boiling point. Add gelatin dessert and stir until dissolved. Pour into an oiled 9x5x3" loaf pan. Refrigerate until firm. Cut in 1" squares and roll in coconut.

CRANBERRY FLUFF

2 cups Fresh Cranberries
1 cup water
2 tablespoons liquid sweetener solution
2 envelopes Low Calorie Orange Flavored Gelatin Dessert
1/4 cup non-fat dry milk
1/4 cup ice water
Combine cranberries, water and sweetener and cook until berry skins pop. Drain, saving berries and juice. Add enough water to juice to make 1 1/4 cups. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to set; then beat until frothy. Combine non-fat dry milk with ice water. Beat at high speed until consistency of whipped cream. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in cooked cranberries. Chill until mixture begins to set. Pile into sherbet glasses. Makes 6 servings.

Boating on the Seine

Early success for a musician is not unusual but for a painter to die at 27 and have behind him a lasting influence on the art of two centuries is rare indeed. This was true of Richard Parker Bonington, who produced such paintings as "View on the Seine" (above). Bonington dazzled the English art world of the early 19th Century and with his feathery brush stroke and keen sense of rich color influenced many English and French landscape painters. "View on the Seine" now hangs in the English gallery of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond. It is a recent gift of Mrs. Lincoln Davis.

Look for Artists Wherever You Travel BY IRVING STONE
The Ferment in Suburban Congregations • Oleg Cassini's Holiday Fashions

Suburbia Today

In This Issue . . .

The Next Time You Go Abroad

... page 10
Go to the museums by all means, says Irving Stone, famous authority on Michelangelo, but don't stop there. In "Look for Artists Wherever You Go" he writes about living artists from Paris to Tel Aviv who need friends and a public—the young ones especially. They want to meet Americans, and meeting them can add greatly to the interest of travel, as Mr. Stone found in happy experiences he describes.

Bigger Churches—and Better?

For the last 15 years our crowded suburban churches have been attacked for being too materialistic and too social and for neglecting to build their spiritual strength. But behind the façade a rumble is being heard, and the signs of change are here. Will Ourler, well-known writer on religious topics, discusses the "stirring of the winds of faith" with ministers, priests, rabbis, and laymen all over the country.

Homemade Million

Margaret Rudkin lived in the "semi-country" in Fairfield, Connecticut, with three small boys and a husband who commuted to the city, and she did her own cooking—sounds familiar, doesn't it? But the bread she learned to bake rose and rose, from a hobby in her own kitchen to the $40-million-a-year business known as "Pepperidge Farm." In the "Remarkable Mrs. Rudkin" Lydia Ratcliff explores the reasons for her spectacular success.

Oleg Cassini on Fashion

With the party season coming up, we asked this well-known designer who has dressed some of the world's most attractive women to sum up his views on how to shed the daily cocoon of windbreaks and sweaters and slacks and turn yourself out shining and glamorous by candlelight. It's easier, thanks to Mr. Cassini's advice, than you might think.

It's the first Thanksgiving all over again. Look, there's even Pricilla and John in the crosswalk! Artist Jo Crapanzano's lilliputian pilgrims and Indians are lost in the land of let's pretend, but not too lost to forget that there'll be cider and cookies after the pagant—and then Thanksgiving!

GETTING AROUND

... to Our Pleasant Places and People

"IF BEN FRANKLIN had had his way, America's national bird would have been the wild turkey rather than the bald eagle," says Virginia Holmgren of Portland County, Oregon. But most of us like to think the eagle's soaring spirit represents this nation better than a turkey's strut—and how could we ever have served up our national totem with cranberry sauce—and can you imagine a turkey (spread-eagled) on Colonel Glenn's shoulder? Let us be thankful that, for once, wise Ben Franklin did not get his way.

R. B. Williams, a rector in Dallas County, Texas, and a super salesman, is convinced that you always have to keep trying. He answered the phone when a call came to his office the other day and a soft voice asked: "Is this the maternity shop?" "No," Williams replied. "But I'd be very happy to talk with you about a larger house."

Thanks for the tip, Paul N. Rober of Jenkintown, Pennsylvania: Next time you take a trip let an artificial "baby sitter" water your plants. First water them thoroughly and let the excess water drain off. Then put the whole plant, pot and all, in a clean polyethylene bag, twist the top, and fasten it with a rubber band. (If it's a large plant wrap only the pot to prevent evaporation.

and close the bag around the stem.) The plastic keeps the water inside but allows just enough air to come through to let the plant "breathe." Your plants will stay well-watered for several weeks. Be careful, however, to keep them out of the sun. The heat would cause the bag to expand and burst and all would be lost.

The mouse of "hickory-dickory-dock" might have been able to scale an ordinary cuckoo clock, but it would take a greyhound to run up the one in Berea, Ohio. It's 13 feet high, weighs 1,500 pounds, operates with seven electric motors, is worth $3,000, and took its maker, Karl Schleutermann (who claims it's the largest ever made), seven months to build. A hand-carved cuckoo, the size of a duck, sounds off with the help of bellows which were taken from an old pipe organ. No accounting for hobbies!

Young Benjie Koslover, of Reading, Massachusetts, is at it again. The other day he returned from his first-grade class wearing an Indian-bead ring. "Did you make it yourself?" asked his mother. "Yes," said Benjie. "It's really a bracelet, but I'm a slow beader."

In Kansas City County, Missouri, Mark Fees, aged 17, spent several sole-thinning days looking for an after-school job. He'd work hard, he promised, do anything—still no takers. Then he placed this ad in the local paper: "Boy, 17—lazy, unwilling to work. Don't want a job, but need one." At 7:30 a.m., the day the advertisement appeared, Mark got his first offer—doing odd jobs at an upholstery company—and took it. Before noon, he got two more calls.

Here's a real soap opera for you. Many a romance has been sabotaged in St. Paul County, Minnesota, in recent years because unromantic pranksters have been foaming up a popular local Tunnel of Love by dumping detergent at the darkened point where the waterwheel creates the current to propel the boats. Recently, however, they have been foiled by a new chemical—one pint of it can eliminate the suds in 10,000 gallons of water.

Now that he's well into the school year, wonder if Eugene Dorn has solved his problem yet. Last summer he amazed an audience in St. Louis County, Missouri, when he played through a program of Bach, Haydn, Schumann, and Kabalevsky like a concert pianist.

after studying for only two years. After the recital at St. Louis Institute of Music, several instructors asked for his autograph—but Eugene could not oblige. Only seven at the time, he was still learning to write.

Early this fall, the Eagle Booster Club of Carl Sandburg High School in Cook County, Illinois, set aside a day in its second annual jamboree to straighten out bewildered football spectators in one easy lesson (ladies take note). The school coach, Joe Devine, and his staff personally explained the intricacies of football formations, techniques, and the purposes of the uniform and accessories. The boosters also arranged for parents and friends to take pictures of the players in full uniform. Refreshments finished up the program, which began after school and ended at 7 p.m. Proceeds from admission tickets went to defray various expenses incurred by the team during the season.

WARNINGS AGAINST accepting auto rides from strangers are a dime a dozen, and we've all seen the news stories and articles about the horrible consequences. Now I think it's high time we were cautioned against something that can be just as hazardous—accepting rides from friends.

Volunteer ride givers come in all sizes and shapes and in a number of categories. One especially to beware of is the absent-minded benefactor—usually a married man. You alight from your bus and brace yourself for the three-quarter-mile walk home—say in blistering 100-degree weather or the roughest blizzard in 18 years. And then Joe hails you cheerfully with, "Get in. I go by your house, you know. No trouble at all."

Gratefully you climb in beside him, your lips already smacking at the extra predinner libation this saving in time will permit you. Joe starts out and then, 150 yards farther along, suddenly slams on his brakes and makes an illegal U-turn. "I forgot," he explains. "Ruth asked me to pick up my suit at the cleaners."

It subsequently develops that his wife also asked him to pick up some oranges and a steak at the supermarket, get a book which has been reserved for her at the library, go to the hardware store to pick up those window shades, and call at Elmwood Electronics for the record player they've repaired.

And if Joe's wife hasn't also asked him to drive six miles out Railroad Tie Road to pick up a baby sitter, you can consider yourself in A-1 luck. The same applies if you get home in time to sit down to what's left of dinner by 9 o'clock.

You're lucky if you get home by 9 o'clock, in time to sit down to what's left of dinner.

Another ride giver to steer clear of is the professional good Samaritan. You encounter him in the same circumstances that held with Joe, and when you get in his car you thank him profusely for his kindness. (You do unless you've already been burned by another good Samaritan.)

"Nonsense!" he retorts. "It's nothing at all. Anyhow, some day you'll probably get the chance to do me a favor." He rides along in silence for a minute or two, and then it develops that this last remark of his has set thought processes going off in his mind. "By the way," he asks, "you have a power saw, haven't you?"

It just so happens that you have. When the ride ends, the favors you have promised him include, in addition to the loan of the saw, helping him jack up his garage, lending him your golf clubs, and permitting his entire family and their weekend guests to use your swimming pool until the first heavy frost. A taxi would have been cheaper.

Another character to make you consider seriously the health-giving and spiritual benefits of walking is the nature lover. If your route home is in a built-up urban area you may get there without delay, but if it goes through natural rustic scenery you're apt to find yourself in trouble.

The nature lover is the dreamer type, often given to submitting poems to the paper, and a sense of time is something he was born without and will never acquire. You tool along for a half mile or so, and gradually he drives slower and slower, his eyes alternating between the road and the horizon, while the cars behind him honk louder and louder.

If this keeps up long enough he may pull off the road onto the shoulder, stop, and let the cars pass. He points to the west, tears starting to well up in his eyes, and in a voice vibrant with emotion, murmurs, "There is a sunset!"

There indeed is a sunset, but the Cartwrights are coming to dinner at your house tonight, and you've promised to help with the canapés and get the drink fixings ready in time.

If your companion merely remains in the car and oohs and ahs over the sunset, you can consider that you got the best of the breaks.

But he may go out on a foraging expedition and insist that you accompany him. People who have accepted rides from nature lovers have been known to find themselves picking ferns or wild strawberries or crouched in a bramble patch observing the courting habits of the patch-eyed seersucker or dodging water moccasins, while their companion points out the spot where he saw a couple of busy beavers eagerly building a dam last month.

And last, but by no means least of the threats, there's the friend with the new foreign sports car which, he is about to demonstrate, can accelerate from a standing start to 70 MPH in just under eight seconds. To him we need merely devote three words:

"Let me out!"

this is your drink...IF you've already enjoyed Martini & Rossi sweet or extra dry vermouth in matchless Manhattans or marvelous Martinis...IF you want to discover how delicious it can be straight on-the-rocks...IF you're a sophisticate who chooses the drink that's fashionable wherever you go...IF you're a modern moderate who wants to join the fun at the party...IF you're an experimenter, with discerning taste—Martini & Rossi Vermouth on-the-rocks is your drink, no ifs, ands or buts.

Look for Artists Wherever You Go

BY IRVING STONE

author of "The Agony and the Ecstasy," "Lust for Life," etc.

UNTIL RECENTLY Americans traveling in Europe who were interested in art had to content themselves with visits to the great national museums: the National Gallery in London, the Louvre in Paris, the Prado in Madrid. This was magnificent visiting and viewing, but it was all very formal and had to do with the epochal accomplishments of the past.

Today traveling Americans have an opportunity not only to see all of the very best and most exciting new art but also to meet the men and women who are creating it. The number of small and intimate galleries in Paris and Rome, for example, have proliferated since the end of the last war, and part of their gratifying success has been a totally new concept: that young artists need friends!

In the late spring of 1949, when Mrs. Stone and I were abroad, we went to the Drouant-David gallery on the Rue du Faubourg St. Honoré in Paris. We had heard that this gallery was backing a young, promising painter by the name of Bernard Buffet. Up to this point Drouant-David had sold very few of Buffet's canvases. We were struck by his tense drama and craftsmanship, how he achieved the essence of a pictorial whole with a few bold forms. We began picking out canvases (I won't say they were dirt cheap, but they were amazingly money cheap) and set them aside, along with canvases by Goerg, Guignebert, Carzou.

The next afternoon when we turned up at the gallery to pay for our canvases, there was Bernard Buffet. The manager of the gallery, M. Fuentes, had driven to Buffet's house that night to tell him that an American was struck by his paintings and was about to buy six of them. Buffet was a tall skinny blond boy of 21, very shy, and very hungry. We took him down the street to Rumpelmeyer's for tea, and I must say he put away one of the most gratifying teas I have ever seen consumed. Mrs. Stone and I liked the young man enormously, and we considered him a friend. From that point forward we watched his career with excitement and almost a feeling of family pride. We have extolled his praises all the way from Israel, Turkey, and Greece through Italy and Spain and the U.S.

The next day when we visited the gallery we found Guignebert waiting to see us. He was older than Buffet, with more experience. The gallery dealer had called him, too, to tell him that we were buying his canvases. To our amazement, this delightful Frenchman had gifts for us, one under each arm: a small study of Breton women for Mrs. Stone and a small oil of fishing boats for me. We became friends on the spot and meet for dinner whenever we are in Paris.

I can't count how many people we have sent to look at the works of Guignebert.

The important point I wish to make is that the Parisian artists wanted to know Americans. They gave liberally of their warmth and companionship. Many of the galleries in Paris follow this practice of bringing together, when possible, the artists and those Americans interested in their work.

One more Paris story before I move on to Rome, Belgrade, Tel Aviv, and Madrid:

It had long been my own opinion that the greatest living painter in France, aside from Picasso, was Jacques Villon, the brother of Marcel Duchamps. The first time I reached Paris I asked Louis Carré, owner of one of the best Paris art galleries, if there would be any chance of meeting Jacques Villon. M. Carré said that he would let me know in a day or two.

Villon appeared delighted to have interested

Americans visit his studio, and so M. and Mme. Carré drove us out there for a Sunday. We saw works on the walls and on easels which confirmed our opinion that this was the finest painting being done, perhaps in all Europe; an opinion in which many critics concur, now that Villon has died.

After an interesting talk and tea, we asked M. Villon who he thought were the best young painters in France. He said, "Let me get my catalog of the May Salon; I have them checked." By a happy circumstance, we had brought our own catalog of the May Salon, where the young artists of France and Europe get a chance to exhibit and from which showing those with even beginning talent manage to secure galleries. Villon picked out six names whose work he had found promising; and we were delighted to find that we had already bought four of them!

BEFORE LEAVING I had expressed to Villon our desire to own one of his canvases. The next day, when we went to the Carré Gallery, I found myself trying to buy price rather than quality because I had spent all of the money we had saved for buying pictures on that particular trip. M. Carré said as we were leaving, "Don't be downhearted; get a cigar box and each day put in a few coins toward a Jacques Villon canvas for your next trip."

The following morning while we were sitting in our hotel waiting for the porters to take our bags down to the boat train, there was a knock on the door. I opened it to find a messenger boy with a package. Removing the wrapping I read a card which said, "Bon voyage!" signed Louis Carré. The gift was a magnificent water color by Villon.

Let us make the fast jet-plane journey from Paris to Israel. We happened to be there for the tenth anniversary of Israeli independence, and there was a large retrospective showing in their national gallery of Israeli painters. Only one excited me greatly. The officials at the museum were gone for several days, and so I had a difficult time locating the artist. Finally, at the end of the fourth day, I found out that he was a retoucher of photographs for a local newspaper.

We drove to the outskirts of Tel Aviv, where we found Molad and his young wife and newly born baby. There were completed canvases stacked in one of the bedrooms and a brand-new one still wet with paint on the easel. This was an eager and intelligent young couple, anxious to make a life for themselves in the world of art. We expressed our interest and suggested that he was painting as well as any of the young men whose work we had seen in Paris. Then we bought two of his canvases—over glasses of wine and homemade cookies and much delightful talk.

We were flying back to our home in Rome the next morning, where I was writing "The Agony and the Ecstasy." The canvas on the easel, still too wet to carry with us, had appealed to me very much. The next morning the American Cultural Affairs Officer in Tel Aviv, a woman interested in art, did something far above and beyond the call of duty: she got up at half past four in the morning in order to pick us up at five and take us to the airport for a 6:30 plane. En route I told her about Molad and what a fine painter I thought he was and also about the wet and delicious canvas on his easel. When we arrived in Rome, we found a cable under the door reading:

"Many, many thanks. I just bought the wet painting and it's already on my wall."

When we reached Belgrade and were asked what we most wanted to see in Yugoslavia, I replied, "The work of your artists." We had an opportunity to meet many of them and were staggered by the fact that Yugoslavia had as fine and creative a school of painters and sculptors as we had found anywhere in Europe.

We were taken to the studio of one of Yugoslavia's best painters, Pedja, where we were so enchanted by the canvases, by the man, his mind, and creative concept, that we immediately selected two oils. We took them home with us to Beverly Hills, continued to correspond with Pedja and watch his work being reproduced in the international magazines. Within a year we had arranged for an exhibition in Los Angeles. We have been devoted friends ever since. Friendships of this nature are important not only in the world of art but in the world of international politics.

There is another story in Belgrade which shows me in my least desirable light. I want to tell it because it taught me a lesson.

One of the Yugoslav painters was a gentle and beautiful man of about 60, Gvosdenovik, living, painting, eating, and sleeping all in his small one-room apartment. Mrs. Stone and I liked several of his canvases, but there was one tender portrait of a young girl that I was crazy about. I asked him the price. Having been brought up in the tradition of bargaining with gallery dealers, I offered him a sum which amounted to only $10 less. He gazed at me in genuinely hurt surprise, asking why I would make a lower offer. Embarrassed, I replied that this was the custom not only in Paris but also in many of the American art galleries. He said in his gentle voice that he had never heard of such a custom, but if I wanted it that way I could have the canvas at the reduced price.

When we returned to Rome, I hung the portrait of the young woman in our living room. She was even more beautiful than I had realized in Yugoslavia. I began to feel terrible remorse. For a number of days my conscience smarted for having done so unnecessary and really ungentlemanly a thing to one of the finest gentlemen I had ever met. After a particularly bad night I got up early, wrote Gvosdenovik a letter of apology, enclosed a $10 check, and asked him if he would please forgive me. He forgave me.

One of the most important proofs that European artists want and need friends was evidenced in Madrid. We had the good fortune to be told about a tiny gallery which was maintained at the rear of an objet d'art shop only recently opened. When we found our way there, we learned that this was one of the first exhibitions since the Spanish Civil War. There had been very little original painting going on, since so many of their best painters were killed or had left the country; this, hopefully, was a new beginning for Spanish art.

IT WAS INDEED a fine beginning. Of the 10 or 12 painters represented, Jardiel, Blasco, Ortiz, Mampo, and others, Mrs. Stone and I found that we liked the work of at least half a dozen, a proportion one rarely finds in a gallery. That afternoon when we left, saying that we would be back the following day, the gallery owner got in touch with the painters and told them of our interest. Friends of ours who had accompanied us also bought several of the small canvases. (Here again they were inexpensive.) We and our American friends met four or five of the talented and totally charming Spanish painters. There began a series of cocktail parties, teas, luncheons, and dinners. Our pleasure was no greater than theirs, for we were among the first Americans to come to Madrid since the Spanish Civil War who wanted to know painters and to buy their canvases and give them friendship.

One misadventure all Americans must be prepared for in their travels among art and artist: One evening in Mexico City my wife walked down the main street to Obregon's bookstore and found the owner, young Obregon, mounting an art show in a small back room. She gazed at the canvases, half on the walls, half on the floor, while Obregon explained that he had gone to 20 of his artist friends in Mexico, including Diego Rivera and Siqueiros, and asked if they would paint him a canvas whose central theme was their studio. Some of them had painted indoors with models, others had painted the exterior, some did self-portraits, at work.

Mrs. Stone thought that the exhibition was an extremely able one and came back to tell me about it. The next day I accompanied her to Obregon's and promptly bought a canvas by Guillermo Mesa, a glowing nude illuminated by light filtering through the studio's north window. Obregon sent word to Mesa, and again it was a matter of mutual delight to buyer and artist.

The misadventure? Of the 20 canvases, believe it or not, Mrs. Stone and I, between us, liked 19. The twentieth had been left unfinished. We could have bought the entire show for a sum of $5,000, a collection of canvases which are today worth a bare minimum of $105,000! However, greed is one of the cardinal sins, so I shall not reprove myself too harshly.

There is a second story from Mexico City illuminating the urgency that a friendly gesture, an expression of interest, or even a modest purchase can have in the life and career of a painter. We went to see a show in the Galeria de Arte Mexicano of a young Mexican painter by the name of Martinez. We were impressed by his projection of character. The canvases were unpriiced, and the gallery owner was away for a vacation.

Shortly after I returned home I wrote to Inez Amor and asked her the price of the painting I had liked. She replied with a quotation that was much too high for me. In my next letter I told her I would like to have the canvas but that I could only afford a certain amount. Inez Amor got in touch with the artist; they had a discussion and decided they wanted me to have it.

After the picture arrived, and we had put it up on the wall, we were delighted to find it as exciting for us as we had remembered. I promptly sat down and wrote the painter a glowing letter of appreciation and of confidence in the future of his career.

A few months later I got back one of the most precious documents in my 30 years of correspondence: a letter from Martinez telling me that he had been caught in a dead period in which he had been unable to paint or even think about painting; that he was beginning to despair. He told me that when my letter arrived it so revived him that he began a passionate spree of painting and had not stopped until he had a dozen canvases completed. They were now hanging in the gallery, where they had received a fine critical press, and were selling.

IT IS HARD TO BE an artist; it is a long, difficult, harrowing road upwards, with one man succeeding where a hundred thousand fail. That is why I wanted to tell this story, to indicate how urgent the spectator and the buyer is to the artist. He must have an audience, he must have people who have faith in him and will back him. This is true in our own country, too.

What we can bring to the young and growing artist, by way of confidence through our friendship, is almost inestimable in value. What we bring to ourselves, to our travels, is a creative involvement which adds a whole new dimension to our way of life.

"And yesterday we went up to the zoo and saw the kangaroos."

BY JOHN BRIMER

BLOOMING PLANTS and cut flowers come high at this time of year, of course, but they're never more welcome than they are from now on, when you want your house looking its holiday best. To keep Thanksgiving chrysanthemums and Christmas roses and all other such joys as long as possible—and to save time and money replacing them—check over these practical tips (which apply equally, of course, to other great occasions, like weddings and receptions, when you have your hands full of flowers):

Blooming Plants

● Water with a light hand. Too much water will drown your plants and cut off vital air from the roots. Too little will make the flowers droop and the leaves shrivel. Begin by watering twice a week and watch results. If the soil parches between waterings, you will want to increase to three times a week. If it stays moist you're on the right track. (There is a new apparatus called "Sprinkle Minder," by the way, now available at about $4 from florists and garden-supply shops, which operates on a chemical-electrical principle, registering the degree of moisture with a moving hand. A probe is inserted in the pot soil and the hand instantly records "Dry," "Moist," or "Wet" as the case may be.) Now and then it is a good idea to let the soil dry out for a day between waterings to be sure that air gets to the roots.

● Provide an island of humidity around the plant. It is damper in the greenhouse than it is in your house, but you can make home life tolerable for plants, blooming plants particularly, by putting the pots on a half inch of sand or pebbles in a wide flat dish or plant saucer. Keep the base wet by daily watering so some moisture is drawn up by the plant and so evaporation takes place continually around it.

● Keep room temperature low—65°, or failing this, at least move plants to a cooler place at night before you go to bed—45° to 50° for azaleas, forced spring bulbs, cyclamens, and chrysanthemums, and about 55° for poinsettias, gardenias, and Easter lilies.

● After the bloom is over many plants—particularly fuchsias, gardenias, azaleas, French hydrangeas, and chrysanthemums—will bloom for you again the next season, if they are set out for the summer, well-pruned to force new growth, and fed and watered. Begonias will bloom again and again, requiring only cutting back to keep the plant strong and vigorous (and you can root the cuttings for a bigger crop).

Cut Flowers

You can keep cut flowers longer, too, if you use a bit of care. For instance:

● Tulips, calla lilies, roses, carnations—wrap in several thicknesses of newspaper and put them in a pail of cool water to harden off for six to eight hours.* Once you have them arranged, they'll keep better, like the potted plants, if you have a cool place where you can leave them overnight.

● Daffodils, dahlias, hydrangeas, poppies, stephanotis—dip stems in boiling water (be quick about it and hold at an angle so steam does not reach the flowers), then harden in 3" of cold water.*

● Poinsettias and chrysanthemums—cut stem ends, sear in candle flame, harden off in lukewarm water up to their necks.

● Calendulas, laurel, evergreen branches, sweet peas, verbenas, and snapdragon—set in deep lukewarm water and harden off in a cool place. Submerge evergreen branches before arranging in a tub of cold water for half an hour (do the same for branches of flowering shrubs and trees when in bud, but not when in bloom). Split stems with a knife, or hammer the ends for about 3" to aid in water absorption.

Before arranging flowers, always trim off the stems by a half-inch or more, cutting them at an angle to add to the absorption area. Don't leave any soft leaves below the water line because they will decay and shorten the bloom life by polluting the water. Use ¼ tsp. boric acid per half gallon of water to retard decay and growth of destructive bacteria. Some experts use 2 tps. each of vinegar and sugar per half-gallon of water to harden off azaleas, cat-tails, laurels, and rhododendrons. Daily cutting will help and so will picking off blooms that have started to fade.

*If you don't want to use these flowers immediately, they may be stored in the refrigerator after hardening for as long as two or three days, carefully wrapped in waxed paper or plastic bags. This is not advisable, however, for those in full bloom.

"Winterize" your trees...now!

You "winterize" your car for winter protection, and if you stop to think, you'll realize it's even more vital to protect your living, breathing trees from winter's killing effects.

Think what a sudden early ice storm could do! Heavily iced branches could crack and break. Burdened limbs could split beyond repair at weakened forks.

Davey experts, with years of experience and modern equipment, can prepare your trees to stand firmly against winter's worst. They will brace and cable weak forks and heavy limbs—now. Dead limbs should be pruned away. And now's an excellent time for Davey to give your trees the vitality for a glorious spring awakening—with a deep-root feeding of new Davey Arbor Green Improved Tree Food, with special humus forming material. Your trees will go right on feeding until the ground is frozen.

THERE ARE new winds blowing in the church spires of our pleasant towns, new spiritual forces awakening in the suburban religious community.

For more than 15 years suburban churches have been under attack. Theologians and sociologists alike have assailed them for being too building-happy, too social, too often a stained-glass country club instead of a redemptive fellowship.

Religious education programs for children are little more than 40-minute Sunday-morning reprieves for the parents, the critics cried. Churches are like corporations, they charged. It's all the big give, the big drive, the big membership rolls that try to measure true religion by mathematical tabulations instead of personal dedication.

Let it be admitted: Much of the criticism, harsh as it has been, was and remains true. All major religions in America have been aware of this. Many have made extensive surveys into the conflicts and challenging questions posed in the outer-city church.

But they are also aware of the spiritual awakening that may make the suburban church one of the most extraordinary religious stories of the 1960s. The signs of change are widespread. For instance:

In a suburban section of Burlington, Vermont, is a church that is not a church at all. It has no building, no altar, no pews. It meets in borrowed halls and holds its Sunday school in similar quarters. Its concerns are with other matters, with the special spiritual assignments carried on by its members, which range from visiting the sick in hospitals and the prisoners in jails, to running a coffeehouse bookshop, where Vermont University students come to drink coffee and talk about religion with the volunteers who serve as waiters.

"Evangelism in this sense," writes William Hollister, pastor of this church that is no church, "means that instead of talking people into coming into our church we live among them as witnesses of the incarnation of the Word."

The truth is that this church reaches out to hundreds of "parishioners" who might never have come into some shiny new marble edifice costing hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In New Jersey two suburban churches—both Episcopalian—recently launched an exchange program in spiritual problems. Only a few miles apart geographically, they are universes apart economically and socially. One serves a rich suburban district; the other a poverty-blighted, crime-ridden slum on the city fringe.

Yet both pastors faced grave problems with their people. Broken homes, infidelities, alcoholism, unhappiness, frustration, bitterness—none of these was a respecter of class, education, or background.

So a pact was made. Couples from the two churches met together in each others' houses, foursomes usually, not for cocktails or social conversation but for spiritual sustenance.

A BANK PRESIDENT and a dock worker—and their wives—sit down together in a tenement flat. They begin their evening by reading a selected passage of the Bible verses. Together they explore the deepest meaning of this passage, its application to their own lives, and their relationships with other people.

In Lexington, Massachusetts, the members of the Hancock Congregational Church grew tired of the social functions that made them known as the "stained-glass country club," and lately they have begun meeting in each others' houses instead to study spiritual problems and needs of the community and to discover how they can be a more effective channel of God's will.

In a Texas suburb a group of Methodist women who met each morning to gossip have turned their Kaffeeklatsch into a prayer cell. In California, ministers are turning what used to be potluck suppers into meaningful sessions in the homes of the laity, where church members and strangers in town share a meal and discuss together what religion should mean in their lives in terms of service to their neighbors.

This sampling across the country could be multiplied hundreds of times over. There are new activities, new concepts, new attitudes. The stirring of the winds of spirit are the latest phase of a movement that began with the end of World War II, with the decentralization of industry in America, the beginning of the population explosion, and the equally explosive expansion of our suburbs.

In the travels and relocations of shifting populations, the growth of the suburbs emerged as one of the great facts of our time—a new way of living for millions—and the shining new churches became the focal point for many community activities.

Almost at once the battle began between those who sought religion for its own sake and those who put the first emphasis on the church "plant"—the building, the Sunday-school adjunct, the parking lot.

THE CONFLICT was summed up with force by a Lutheran minister, the Reverend Martin E. Marty of the Chicago suburb of Elk Grove, in a report in the publication City Church:

"In the middle of the suburban Paradise Regained, in the middle of the amiably nihilistic, low-keyed non-believing situation of casual this-worldliness, it is a miracle to see one man of faith.

"Defenders of suburban faith have had to work with adding machines to measure evangelism and the stewardship programs that characterize many suburban churches."

Thousands rebelled against this lack of true religious fiber. They rebelled against glad-handing pastors who ran their churches like corporations, they rebelled dissolves 7 of the most stubborn spots

"Today, more than ever before, they are seeking true spiritual values. The suburbs, despite the cry of isolation, do provide intercommunications and friendships that may make this search ultimately triumphant."

He speaks as a suburban minister, as a part of this ferment of faith, where men and women, no longer content with the outward and visible signs, are seeking a new religious understanding, and their ministers, as Robert Strom says, are finding new ways to help.

Insurance protection that fits together

THOROUGH COVERAGE WITH NO COSTLY OVERLAPS—AN IMPORTANT EXTRA YOU GET WITH A HARTFORD AGENT

There are two ways to go about getting family insurance protection. One way is to buy policies on a piecemeal basis—life insurance from one source, car insurance from another, health and home from still another.

The other way is to sit down with a Hartford Agent and, together, work out a single insurance plan to meet your family's specific needs. A Hartford Agent is a good man to do this with because he isn't just a salesman—he's a professional insurance advisor with experience in planning family protection.

A Hartford Agent can explain the newest insurance plans designed to help you get more coverage for your money. He can help you figure out the amounts of coverage your family needs. And he can help you arrange the way you want to pay for your plan—on a monthly, quarterly or yearly basis.

There's a well-insured feeling waiting for you now at your nearby Hartford Agent or broker. You'll find him listed in the Yellow Pages or wherever you see the familiar Hartford Stag displayed.

THAT IS HOW THEY GOT THEIRS. AND SO WILL YOU.

Local Talent

■ If the energy that goes into amateur theatricals in the suburbs could get Americans to the moon, surely the moon would have a population of thousands by now. Of course, almost the first thing the Mooners would do would be to organize a little theater club of their own (like the one Kay Kato has sketched here at home). And soon they'd be excited over whether to do Albee or Ibsen, who would have the lead, and how to make next year's big fall production even better than this year's smash hit!

Now that you've decided to buy an organ...

You may know that Hammond builds two basic types of organs. Before you make your once-in-a-lifetime choice, you should know how the two types differ from each other and why both offer you advantages you won't find in other makes of organs.

FIRST, HAMMOND'S CONSOLE AND SPINET ORGANS

Hammond builds 14 Spinet and Console Organs in seven series, from a magnificent Console Model at about $4000 (including tone cabinet) to a trim Spinet Organ priced at less than $1000. They differ, naturally, in size, in design and finish, in equipment... but in their basic music-making features they are identical. From the largest to the smallest, each has the unique Hammond tone generating and control system that has given Hammond Organs their remarkable range of orchestral and instrumental effects and their matchless organ tone.

The Hammond Organ Tone-Wheel System

In all Hammond Spinet and Console Organs, musical tones are produced by tone wheels rotating freely on constant-speed geared shafts. The edges of these steel discs are shaped in a series of precisely positioned high and low spots, rather like notches. As these edges pass magnetic pickups they create minute pulses of electric current which are then converted into tones.

Since the tone-wheels turn at fixed speeds, the tones generated cannot fluctuate, cannot go flat or sharp. The system is so rugged, that temperature or humidity changes don't affect it. This system, even on the earliest Hammond Organs, has never required tuning.

NOTE: The solo pedal unit (available only on the RT3 Console Model and on the D100 series Consoles) has vacuum tubes as a tone source. As tubes age, pitch may be affected. The design, however, allows the organist to tune the unit to his own particular preference.

THE HAMMOND RT3 CONSOLE MODEL.
FROM $3350*, PLUS TONE CABINET. AVAILABLE IN WALNUT OR OAK.

The Hammond Harmonic Drawbars

All Hammond Spinet and Console Models are equipped with this exclusive tone control system. Together with the tone-wheels, the drawbars give Hammond Organs a breadth of instrumental voices, a scope of expressive musical effects, unmatched by any other organ.

As the Harmonic Drawbars are pulled forward, they alter the harmonic character of the notes being played, and in an almost endless variety of combinations, produce the simulated voices of nearly every known instrument, combinations of instrumental voices, full orchestral effects, and many qualities of tone no other instrument at all can play.

The Hammond Organ Touch-Response Percussion

By now, nearly all organs have percussion of some kind, to produce the effect of plucked strings, chimes, xylophone, or emphatic piano tones. But the big Hammond difference is this: with other organs, you get all percussion or none. Every note is percussive until the switch is turned off. With Hammond, however, you can bring percussion in or out on a given note, or phrase or passage. You do this simply by the way you touch the keys. This unique feature is patented by Hammond Organ Company.

Hammond Patented Reverberation

Reverberation is basic to true, rich organ effects. It is an echoing effect gained by playing an organ in an acoustically "live" room. Hammond has a special reverberation system so unusual it, too, is patented. Play a melody in your living room, and make it sound as if you were playing in a concert hall, even though your room is "deadened" by carpeting, draperies and upholstered furniture.

Make this sound as moderate or as big as you like. From the first time you touch the keyboard, Hammond Patented Reverberation makes your music richer and more pleasing.

Hammond Organ Customized Tone Selection

All Hammond Console Models offer this exclusive feature which makes it possible for each organist to adapt the organ to his own particular style of playing, his own personal tonal preferences. With a screwdriver and a few minutes time, you can alter any or all of the 18 pre-set tonal combinations from those set at the factory to the ones that satisfy your own ear, taste and style of playing.

SECOND, THE NEW HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN

When Hammond introduced the first chord organ 13 years ago it was a completely new concept in organs. It established a new system of music and playing, and opened a long-closed door to thousands who had thought they'd never play any instrument.

It differs from our other Hammond Organs in several important ways. It has a single keyboard with chord buttons. It has tone tablets instead of Harmonic Drawbars for tone control. Its tones are produced electronically by vacuum tubes.

It is so easy to play that many people play it well without taking a lesson... and yet it is so musical, so versatile, that a goodly number of professional artists find it a constant and fascinating challenge.

The Chord Buttons

This Hammond development has eliminated one of the great problems of learning to play any keyboard instrument: left-hand chording. Now with one finger, you can play any of 96 full chords, simply by pressing clearly marked buttons. This is almost magic to beginners, and even accomplished musicians say it adds great facility to their playing.

The Rhythm Bar

On the chord button panel, just under the heel of your thumb, is a horizontal bar. As your finger presses a chord button, you tap the bar with a rhythmic wrist movement. This brings in a subtle, but very noticeable, pulsing or beat which accents the rhythm. This is another feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

The Bass Pedals

As the toe of your left foot presses one of the bass pedals you automatically play the proper bass accompaniment for the chord and melody you're playing. Our bass pedals sound the root chord, the other plays the fifth of the chord. By tapping one and then the other, you add not only rhythm, but pleasing tonal color to the bass. This is a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

The Tone Tablets

Ranged across the organ above the keyboard are twenty tilting tablets which control and change the character of the music from soft woodwinds to bright strings to brilliant brasses. They also allow you to blend these voices to your liking. Two of them control Hammond's unique Touch-Response Percussion, a feature patented by Hammond Organ Company.

Hammond's Picture Music for Beginners

Even if you can't read music, you can play a Hammond Chord Organ the first time you try. Our Chord Organ comes with a seven volume library of specially written Picture Music to show you exactly which key to play, which chord button to press, which tone tablets to set for various effects. The happy result is that you can sit down at your Hammond Chord Organ the day it arrives and begin to play pleasant music immediately. And as you progress, you may be surprised to learn that literally thousands of pieces, from classics to show tunes, have been specially arranged and scored for the Hammond Chord Organ.

AND NOW, YOUR DECISION

You will live with the Hammond Organ you buy for many years... possibly for a lifetime. You will probably pass it along to the parents of your grandchildren. Choose it carefully.

The facts presented here are rather flatly stated. Some are necessarily technical. None can more than hint at the richness, the variety, the stirring magnificence of Hammond Organ music. All this you must discover alone with your family, in your own home, with the kinds of music you like the best... and in the satisfactions of your growing skill.

We'd like to send you a handsome brochure that shows all our Hammond Organs. The coupon will tell us where to send it. Meanwhile, a visit to your Hammond Organ dealer will give you an opportunity to hear a Hammond Organ... and to play one if you like.

Her personal memories reach back into the savory Irish kitchen of her childhood in Flushing, New York, where her grandmother presided over the pots and pans.

"Our cooking was simple and delicious—no fancy stuff and sauces for us. My grandfather often did a bit of shopping on his way home, and when he stopped at the slaughterhouse, he would bring a treat—"the liver and the lights." That meant a fresh calf's liver and sweetbreads.

"My grandmother had a cousin who fancied herself a singer. Poundcake was always on hand for her visits."

Young Margaret joined them in tea, poundcake, and tear-jerking Irish ballads.

"I would sit on my gilded chair crying my eyes out," she remembers, "and because I felt so bad for the sorrows of Ireland, I would be given an extra piece of cake."

Even in those days she was interested in cooking. "I started with baking-powder biscuits and then learned to make cream sauce without any lumps." Her first full-fledged "menu" consisted of soup, baking-powder biscuits and "chocolate layer cake to end up with."

Since then her repertoire has stretched well beyond the bounds of Irish home cooking and now includes everything from sole Veronique to Hungarian Christmas bread, shrimps Pireneus to something she calls "Boeuf Stroganoff Without Panic."

DESPITE HER unusual set of business principles, Margaret Rudkin has been cited as one of the most successful businesswomen of our time. In little over a quarter of a century she has seen Pepperidge Farm leap from 100 loaves of bread a week to more than a million; from one helper to 2,000; from weekly sales of $20 to annual sales of more than $40 million; from a single loaf of bread to more than 50 products, ranging from apple turnovers to cocktail crackers and fancy cookies. And Pepperidge foods are sold today not only in every corner of the U.S. but all over the world, as well.

Not long ago, a friend browsing through a street in Hong Kong spotted a small pyramid of Pepperidge products in a shop window. As soon as she got home she reported to Mrs. Rudkin, who merely nodded—Irish eyes smiling.

Could Gordon's possibly be older than the London Bobby?

Surprisingly enough, yes. It was in 1829 that Sir Robert Peel reorganized the London Metropolitan Police, who promptly became known as "Peelers" or "Bobbies". But this was sixty years after Alexander Gordon had introduced his remarkable gin to London and given it his name. Happily, the Gordon's you drink today is based on that original 1769 formula. That explains its unique dryness and delicate flavour. Explains, too, why Gordon's is the biggest selling gin in England, America, the world.

"PLAY IT DOWN by day (with lisle stockings, sturdy tweeds—the whole sporty look, if you wish), but for important evenings coming up during the party season dress in striking contrast with floor-sweeping skirts—go in for luscious velvets and brocades in radiant color—be romantic—be totally feminine," says Oleg Cassini, who has dressed not only Mrs. Kennedy but countless other beautiful and glamorous women as well.  3. Remove chops to rice. Use one-half of olives and all pepper quarters for garnishing chops (see photo). Set broiled tomatoes between chops. Spoon mushrooms and remaining olives between chops and tomatoes, forming a wreath on rice.
 4. Blend a mixture of the water and cornstarch into liquid in skillet. Bring to boiling and boil 1 to 2 min., stirring constantly. Pour sauce over meat.
- Center Garnish—Thread romaine leaves, 2 green peppers, and 1 sweet red pepper onto a large skewer and insert it in an orange (see photo).

About 12 servings

The enchanting fjord city of Stavanger, Norway, is noted not only for its beauty and friendly people but for its world-famous sardines. I visited Stavanger to learn about the Norwegian sardine industry—from the time the catch is held in nets in the cool waters of the fjords for three days . . . the smoking process . . . the drenching with pure olive oil . . . and finally to the spot-sampling from cans opened at the government control center. Extremely high standards of flavor and quality are set for these famous little fish, and rigid controls are exercised to insure superiority in every can. I agree with the Norwegians who like their incomparable sardines best when served as they come from the can, but these tempting recipes suggest that you serve them with added flavor and adornment for your appetizer tray.

SARDINE CARTWHEEL

- 1 slice pumpkinseed or rye bread cut from a round loaf (bread slice about 8 in. in diameter and $\frac{1}{4}$ in. thick)
- Herbed Mayonnaise (see recipe)
- 1 chilled hard-cooked egg
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
- 1 to 3 cans ($\frac{3}{4}$ -oz. each) Norwegian sardines, about 22
- Water cress leaves
- Cocktail onions
- Lemon wedge

1. For a perfect round, invert an 8-in. bowl over bread slice and cut with pointed knife around edge to remove crust. Spread bread generously with Herbed Mayonnaise.

2. Separate yolk from white of egg; finely chop white and sprinkle over mayonnaise. Sieve yolk; toss with lemon peel and salt and sprinkle lightly over white, reserving about 1 teaspoon for center garnish.

3. Arrange sardines spoke-fashion over egg with large ends of sardines placed about $\frac{1}{4}$ in. from outer edge of bread and tails toward the center. Turn sardines once, so a little egg yolk will adhere. Spoon reserved egg yolk in center of circle.

4. Break wooden picks into various lengths; thread one, two, or three cocktail onions onto each pick, depending upon length of pick. Insert picks into center of canapé in a cluster.

5. Arrange water cress leaves around outer edge of sardines on canapé to make a $\frac{1}{4}$ -in. border.

6. Using a broad spatula or turner, transfer canapé to serving plate. Squeeze a few drops of lemon juice over each sardine.

7. To serve, cut canapé into pie-shaped wedges with a whole sardine on each wedge. 20 to 22 canapés

HERBED MAYONNAISE

Blend $\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon grated onion, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon dill weed, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon crushed tarragon, and 2 teaspoons finely snipped parsley; cover and chill until ready to use.

PIQUANT HOT SARDINE CANAPÉS

Toast 5 or 6 slices bread on one side. Remove crusts and cut each slice into 4 triangular pieces slightly larger than sardines. Spread untoasted sides with Butter Spreads and top with sardines from a 3¼-oz. can Norwegian sardines. Garnish with slices of tomato and green pepper. Set under broiler 3 in. from heat source for about 1 min.

For Canapés using Angostura Butter, drizzle an additional 2 or 3 drops of the aromatic bitters over each sardine after broiling.

BUTTER SPREADS

Whip $\frac{1}{4}$ cup firm butter until fluffy. Remove about one-half and blend in $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters. To remainder, add and blend in 4 teaspoons drained prepared horseradish and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon lemon juice.

About 22 canapés

Note: If desired, omit broiling and serve canapés after garnishing.

SARDINE FINGER CANAPÉS

Toast 7 slices bread on one side. Remove crusts and cut each slice into 3 strips. Spread untoasted sides generously with Herbed Mayonnaise (see recipe). Coat sardines from a 3¼-oz. can Norwegian sardines with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup shredded Parmesan cheese. Place one sardine on each bread strip. Set under broiler 3 in. from heat source and broil until lightly browned. Garnish each canapé with a tiny sprig of parsley at each end. Serve hot. 21 canapés of Surprises

craftsman always has some new project stirring

■ L. Z. Carlson, of Golden Valley, on the edge of Robbinsdale, Minnesota, is a man, says his wife, who "never just talks about a project. He does it."

He has built an enclosed swimming pool for his house with water heated enough so his family can swim from Easter on through late fall. He has scooped earth from outside his basement wall, opened the basement to the lawn, and built a dressing room, kitchen, and sewing room down there. Then he connected upstairs and downstairs kitchens with an electric dumb-waiter. He extended his garage so that the end of it could be his workshop or an apartment, as needed. And, recently, he divided one large bathroom into two smaller ones.

Every room in the Carlson house has its surprises—including the upstairs kitchen where a chute with a step-on cover at floor level takes wastepaper to the basement. Occasionally Mr. Carlson employs a helper; mostly he does all the work on his projects himself.

What next? The Carlsons are talking about building a new house from plans they've drawn up themselves. The house would include a bowling alley, a driving range, and there's no telling what else!

A feature of the sewing room is a three-way mirror Mr. Carlson made from doors. His wife is using it to study a new dress.

What's Different About THE CATHOLIC CHURCH?

Even from the outside, you can see that the Catholic Church is different from all others.

And it is easy to mistakenly imagine that the chief difference is in the things that can be seen... the clergy, the Sacraments, the forms of devotion, and Catholic respect for the authority of the Pope.

But the thing that makes the Catholic Church unique is this:

It claims to be the true Church of Christ... and the only one.

This claim is often resented, and sometimes ridiculed, by honest and devout people of other faiths. They regard it as an evidence of Catholic arrogance... an affront to their own sincerely-held convictions... a scheme of the Catholic hierarchy to destroy other church bodies.

The plain fact is, of course, that the Catholic Church made this same claim during the reign of Peter, the first Pope, nearly 2,000 years ago, and has continued to do so down through the centuries. It was obviously not designed, therefore, to offend present-day Christian church bodies.

Christians generally agree that there can be only one true Church. And for the first 15 centuries of Christendom, a reference to "the Church" meant only one thing to Christians everywhere—the Catholic Church. Today there are hundreds of church bodies professing to be Christian, yet differing from one another in basic doctrine, forms of worship, and attitude toward the authority of the Church.

This creates a bewildering problem for those seeking Christ's true Church. And we have no desire to criticize or offend those who sincerely make a choice different from our own. But we are happy, yes, eager, in fact—to explain why over 550 millions of people today accept the Catholic Church as the true Church, just as our Christian forefathers did in apostolic times.

You may not agree with Catholic teachings and beliefs, even after reading the powerful evidence we are prepared to submit. But if you are confused... and feel that you have not found the true Church... we invite you to investigate the Catholic claim and decide for yourself in your own good conscience. Just fill in the coupon and we will send you, without cost or obligation, a tremendously interesting pamphlet on the true Church. Nobody will call on you. Write today—ask for Pamphlet No. SU-16.

On Sales Tax

Attorney Urges Area Lawmakers Work Together

VIRGINIA BEACH—Bayside attorney L. Charles Burlage urged Sunday that Tidewater's 23 General Assembly members work together on a metro basis in a campaign to enact a statewide sales tax.

Burlage suggested the legislators from Hampton, Chesapeake, Portsmouth, Norfolk, Virginia Beach and Newport News meet in advance of the 1964 session to plan a "united front."

In letters to the legislators, Burlage called for "bold and dramatic action" to resolve economic problems arising from the high cost of education in the area.

"North Carolina has gone a long way towards solving this problem with a sales tax," he pointed out.

City Safety Chief Gives Out Facts

Chief Reeves E. Johnson explained this statement today by saying "Many motorists don't realize it, but just as soon as they get from behind the wheel they become pedestrians."

"Therefore," he said, "it should be a simple matter for the motorist to put himself in the pedestrian's place and anticipate many pedestrian actions in time to avoid an accident." Last year in Virginia 205 pedestrians were killed in motor vehicle accidents. Another 2,343 were injured.

Johnson pointed out that of the 77 urban pedestrian fatalities in 1962, 40 happened while pedestrians were crossing streets between intersections. Another 9 were killed while entering the street from between parked cars.

Some pedestrians act as though they had the right of way and pay no attention to vehicles, he warned. Others may be "late-starters" and find themselves stranded in the street with traffic beginning to bear down on them.

"You'll always play it safe if you take it easy when approaching an intersection," he cautioned Virginia Beach motorists.

The Chief pointed out that November weather and early hours of dusk and darkness combine to make it difficult for motorists to see pedestrians.

According to the Governor's Highway Safety records, approximately one-third of the pedestrians killed in the six months from October to March die in accidents occurring between 5 and 8 p.m.—the first hours of dusk and darkness.

"Put yourself in the pedestrian's place," Chief Johnson urged. "Anticipate his actions, and you may help to avoid a needless traffic tragedy."

The Virginia Beach Bureau of Safety and the Governor's Highway Safety Committee are co-operating this month on a program to reduce pedestrian traffic accidents.

Survey Cards

Mailing Dec. 1

VIRGINIA BEACH — Postmaster Joe T. Crosswhite, Jr., announced today that Rural Mail Carriers and Star Route Contractors will begin distributing December 1, 1963, Livestock Survey cards to farmer patrons on their routes about November 20.

Your Post Office assists the Department of Agriculture each year in making this and two other surveys.

Livestock cards returned by farmers to their carriers will be mailed direct to the Virginia Crop Reporting Service in Richmond. Information from each card, if properly reported, will then be tabulated and combined with other reports to give indications of changes in livestock on Old Dominion farms. Using these facts estimates will be made of the number of cattle and calves, hogs and pigs, sheep and lambs, and chickens on farms at the end of the year. In addition to the end-of-year, inventory counts, the number of milk cows, the calf crop, the wool crop, fall sows farrowed and pigs saved, and plans for spring farrowing will be determined from information obtained from the December 1 Livestock Survey.

So, next week if you find in your mailbox a card titled "Livestock Survey, December 1, 1963," don't put it aside. It was placed there by your carrier. Postmaster Crosswhite urges that you fill out the card and return it to your carrier as soon as possible. It is important that you return the card for your farm since only a given number of farms will receive these cards, and your community will be represented accordingly to the number of cards returned.

Carriers helping with this survey are: Ernest M. Seneca, Jr., route one, Virginia B. McClanahan, route two, Mildred D. Whitehurst, route three, and Marion G. Bright, route four.

These committees are responsible for administering the various USDA action programs of the ASC Service in the counties. The most active of these programs in this area are the Agricultural Conservation Program, Acreage Allotment and Marketing Quota Programs, Feed Grain, Price Support and other regulatory programs.

James E. Warren, Chairman of Virginia ASC State Committee, led a discussion of duties and responsibilities of committees. W. T. Powers, State ASCS Executive Director, discussed background of ASCS farm programs which included the farm problems of soil water conservation, farm prices, overproduction and underconsumption.

With a large per cent of committee members without prior service, every effort is being expended to acquaint these officials with background information on the programs they are authorized to administer at the county level. There will be additional meetings dealing primarily with the specifics of each of the programs coming under their jurisdiction.

The Richmond meeting is one of five such meetings at which ASCS State Office officials reviewed the duties and responsibilities that county committees assume in administering programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Following these meetings, county committees will conduct similar training and orientation sessions for community committees. Virginia Beach community committees will attend their first meeting on Dec. 4 at Blackwater Fire Station.

Among those represented at Tuesday's meeting were also the counties of: Chesapeake, Nansemond, Newport News, Southampton, and Sussex.

Eight builders won nine major awards in Practical Builder, a Cahnners Publishing Company magazine.

Top merchandisers of homes in the nation will be presented with gleaming statuettes at the annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders, in Chicago December 11-15.

Runners-up will receive plaques and special awards will be given to other building firms for their merchandising campaigns.

VIRGINIA BEACH — County committees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) from Virginia Beach, along with committees from 34 other Eastern Virginia counties, met in Richmond last week for an orientation meeting following their recent election to county committees.

Attending from Virginia Beach were: Chris Krasenbill, Chairman; Jennings Furlough and Russell Dudley.

These committees are responsible for administering the various USDA action programs of the ASC Service in the counties. The most active of these programs in this area are the Agricultural Conservation Program, Acreage Allotment and Marketing Quota Programs, Feed Grain, Price Support and other regulatory programs.

James E. Warren, Chairman of Virginia ASC State Committee, led a discussion of duties and responsibilities of committees. W. T. Powers, State ASCS Executive Director, discussed background of ASCS farm programs which included the farm problems of soil water conservation, farm prices, overproduction and underconsumption.

With a large per cent of committee members without prior service, every effort is being expended to acquaint these officials with background information on the programs they are authorized to administer at the county level. There will be additional meetings dealing primarily with the specifics of each of the programs coming under their jurisdiction.

The Richmond meeting is one of five such meetings at which ASCS State Office officials reviewed the duties and responsibilities that county committees assume in administering programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Following these meetings, county committees will conduct similar training and orientation sessions for community committees. Virginia Beach community committees will attend their first meeting on Dec. 4 at Blackwater Fire Station.

Among those represented at Tuesday's meeting were also the counties of: Chesapeake, Nansemond, Newport News, Southampton, and Sussex.

Birdneck Point Residents Slate Special Meeting

BIRDNECK—Residents of Birdneck Point will be given an opportunity to view and discuss proposed plans for a garden-type apartment building in that area at a special meeting Monday night.

The meeting has been called by the Birdneck Point Community League at 8 p.m. in the Cavalier Place for the 2-story building, to be built by Heritage Land Corp., will be unveiled to the residents at that time.

The proposed building site fronts over 652 feet on Laskin Road and is bordered on the east by Cardinal Road and on the north by Tanager Trail. It is bordered on the west by one of the Cavalier Club's fairways.

John James, member of the law firm of James and Consolo, which will represent Heritage Land Corp., said Monday that the structure would be a "first class" apartment building.

Application for a zoning change from residence suburban to multiple family residence has already been filed and is scheduled to come before the Planning commission Dec. 9, James said.

Plans for the building were brought before the Community League's board of directors earlier this month. The board and representatives of the land corporation decided to offer all Birdneck Point residents an opportunity to discuss the project before any formal action was taken.

Though actual construction plans are not yet complete, James said the building would probably have about 40 luxury-type units and plenty of on-site parking. The entrance would be on Laskin Road.

"That property is now zoned so that small houses can be built in the area. The minimum requirement is only 800 square feet. This apartment building would put the

Mrs. Caffey died in Defeat Hospital at 3:57 p.m., shortly after being admitted with a shotgun wound in the stomach.

Although the choir practice was underway in the house, there were no witnesses to the shooting, Lussion said.

Caffey is being held in jail at Princess Anne Courthouse.

Green Thumb Answers Given

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA. — Would you like to have flowers all winter? You can have them with a small home greenhouse.

But, will the greenhouse be plastic or glass? Will you build it yourself or have it done by contract? Can you heat it from the house furnace or need a separate heater? Will construction be the lean-to or free-standing type?

These and scores of other questions are answered in "The Home Greenhouse," a correspondence course of six lessons offered by The Pennsylvania State University.

It deals with building sites and types of construction, heating and ventilation, building materials and each greenhouse. There's a lesson on general greenhouse management. The last lesson explains growing snapdragons, carnations and chrysanthemums as cut flowers and with African violets, geraniums and chrysanthemums as potted plants.

Cold sores, less commonly known by their Greek name of "herpes simplex", are the fluid-filled blisters that spread from one side to another on the skin. The disease is caused by a virus infection which often remains inactive, triggered into eruption by fever, heavy colds and emotional upset.

Turkey Season Fishing Rule Starts Dec. 16 Changes Made

For the first time in many years, opening day hunters in Eastern Virginia will have to hold their fire on turkeys, according to John McLaughlin, Chief of the Game Commission's Law Enforcement Division.

The Commission pushed back the opening day of the turkey season this year in Eastern counties to December 16 in an effort to reduce the kill of the big birds which have been declining somewhat in recent years. Western turkey hunters will experience a similar cut on the end of their season.

A kill of nearly as many adult hens as juvenile birds has indicated poor nesting during the past two seasons. This high kill of hens has been sharply cutting the breeding stock in many areas. The delayed opening of the Eastern season was calculated to reduce the "chance" kill by deer and small game hunters during the opening weeks of these seasons. Thus, most of the turkeys will be killed by turkey hunters rather than by hunters who flush them on deer drives.

As a further effort to increase the amount of recreation per bird, the Commission approved a gobble season last spring in all counties where the turkey population was sufficient to stand this type of shooting. This selective shooting removes the old gobblers, the true "biological surplus" in turkey populations, after the breeding season has passed. A similar season is contemplated for the spring of 1964.

Men Cagers To Register Tuesday

OCEANA — Registration for a men's basketball league will be held Tuesday, November 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the City Recreation Dept. office on Indiana Avenue, Oceana.

RICHMOND — The Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries approved several changes in fishing regulations for the 1964 season at a recent meeting in Richmond. The changes adopted include year-around trout fishing for Carvin Cove, Philpott and South Holston Reservoirs and a 12 inch minimum size on smallmouth, largemouth and spotted bass on the Dan River and tributaries below Brantly Steam Plant and the Roanoke River and tributaries downstream from Niagara Dam. Trot lines and set poles will be prohibited within 600 feet of all dams, and designated Roanoke County trout waters will be the Roanoke River below the corporate limits of Salem. The taking of non-game fish by gillnetting, snagging and similar methods was prohibited in the Roanoke and Dan Rivers in counties where this type of fishing is otherwise permitted. These regulations will become effective January 1, 1964.

A proposal to eliminate creel limits on crappie, bluegill and other sunfishes in the waters of Bugg Island and Kerr Reservoir was made at the request of the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission. This would make the fishing regulations of these two states conform on these interstate waters. This proposal will come to a final vote at the next Commission meeting on January 24.

Other fishing seasons, creel limits, and regulations for 1964 will remain unchanged from those in effect this year.

A delegation from the Stonewall Rifle and Pistol Club of Staunton advised the Commission of their intention to sponsor legislation permitting the year-around hunting of non-game species with pistols from sunrise to sunset except over inland waters, and allowing the hunting of game birds and animals under the above conditions with pistols of at least 350 foot pounds muzzle energy during regular seasons and under the same restriction as applied to rifles. (This would prevent the use of weapons less than .23 calibre for deer and bear and prohibit the use of pistols in counties where similar rifles are now prohibited). After considerable discussion, the Commission voiced no opposition to the proposed legislation as outlined.

A group of Augusta County landowners announced their intention to sponsor legislation permitting the shooting of undesirable non-game animals from vehicles during the daytime on private lands by landowners or their agents. The Commission voiced no objection to such a proposal.

The Commission announced its intention to propose, in January, a six-day spring gobble season from April 27 through May 2 in all counties open last spring, plus any of those which declined last year that would like to reconsider. The Commission staff was instructed to get a consensus of public opinion from the counties involved for presentation at the January meeting.

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Hail the Champion Cavaliers Eastern District Grid Kings

Princess Anne High School's Cavaliers scored 68 points in their football game with Warwick last Friday night and the victory gave them just about everything in the Virginia Eastern District for the year. This, of course, includes the district championship and they did it with a 9-1 won and lost record for the season.

But, Princess Anne not only topped the district in the won-loss column, but in total offense and defense for the entire season. Many of the Cavalier's ardent followers still can't understand their opening game loss to Great Bridge. The latter team, incidentally, finished second behind P. A. in the final standings.

Everyone connected with the Princess Anne team deserves much credit for their splendid record this season. Coach Pete Sachon spoke proudly and boldly before the season commenced that his PA team was a team "without a weakness." The first game defeat dampened the spirits of some of the Cavalier followers, but their magnificent comeback to win their next nine games was a tribute to the coaches, players and students of the school.

The Sun-News proudly salutes the Princess Anne Cavaliers, kingspins of Eastern District football for 1963.

Our Food Supply Is Safe

"Food and Drug Administration laboratories have provided a conclusive answer to the prophets of doom who spread fear about our food supply. . . . After two years of intensive analysis on food samples purchased at random from supermarket shelves, FDA gives the U. S. food diet a complete OK. An ample supply of all necessary vitamins even after cooking . . . so little pesticide residue that it is almost impossible to detect it . . . nuclear fallout well within the safety guidelines established by the Federal Radiation Council."

The quotation is from a newsletter issued by the National Association of Food Chains. It is certainly of universal public interest

Job Maker

Of what use are profits?
 There's a quick and easy answer. You can say that profits benefit the owners of businesses, large and small. And so they do—though it is a fact, according to various public opinion polls, that the percentage of profit earned by typical enterprises and whole industries is far lower than is generally believed.
 That aside, profits have another extremely important use. They make jobs.
 A brief editorial and statistical graph in the August issue of Nation's Business tells the story concisely. Its substance is this: "When profits are low, unemployment is high. When profits are high, unemployment is low. In short, profits make jobs."

The graph—which covers the 1954-1962 period—bears out these words. When profits are squeezed down, unemployment rises. When profits are adequate, unemployment declines.

Yes—profits make jobs.

Banker Group Gets Award

The outstanding service which the Virginia Bankers Association has given the State's agriculture, both through educational programs for better banking services and through special activities in the agricultural field, has received special recognition from The American Bankers Association, the national organization of the banking industry. The Association's Agricultural Committee Chairman, T. P. Aston, president, Lafayette Savings Bank, Lafayette, Indiana, has announced that the Virginia Bankers Association has been awarded the Committee's annual Agricultural Award on behalf of the bankers of the State.

The Agricultural Award is presented each year to the state bankers' associations of those states whose programs and activities have been notable service to agriculture during the preceding year. This is the 24th year that Virginia has received the award, indicating the continuous interest on the part of banks in a sound agricultural economy.

The award recognizes the wide range of projects carried on as a means of bringing greater understanding and cooperation between the farm and financial communities. The Agricultural Committee considered such activities as the Virginia Bankers Farm Credit Conference at Natural Bridge, County Key Banker program, subscriptions to the 4-H Club News to club leaders, distribution of educational materials to schools, cooperation with CARE and Farm Safety Week Committee and informing banking of changes in agriculture and agriculturally related businesses and how these changes influence credit requirements and services.

In presenting the award, the A.B.A. Agricultural Committee stated that "state association activities through the years have played a prominent role in helping banks remain the largest lenders to agriculture. Today's dynamic agricultural industry presents a real challenge to bankers to see that efficient farm businesses receive the kinds and amounts of credit they need. Beyond making farm loans, however, banks have a responsibility to assist farmers by every means possible in making the adjustments necessary for the future development of our agricultural economy. This award is presented in recognition of the banks' efforts to provide that 'extra' service to the state's farmers. This recognition is based not only on Virginia banks' leadership in serving the credit needs of agriculture, but also because of their activities in behalf of educational work in the use of credit; in promoting improved farm practices; and in cooperating with farm, livestock, and commodity organizations."

The work is planned and directed by the state agricultural committees and implemented by county key bankers. It is the work of these groups in Virginia which has brought this award to the state's banks.

Worker Survey Dates Are Set

Census Bureau interviewers will visit a sample of local families during this week to collect up-to-date facts on employment and unemployment. It was announced today by Director Joseph R. Norwood of the Census Bureau regional office at Charlotte.

The Census Bureau gathers facts each month in its Current Population Survey in 357 selected areas throughout the country. The information obtained about the current employment situation is used in compiling national figures which are published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, U. S. Department of Labor. Figures from the September 1963 survey showed a total of 69.5 million Americans employed—46 million men and 23.5 million women. Those unemployed numbered 3.5 million—1.9 million men and 1.6 million women.

Census Bureau interviewers who will call on households in this area in November include: Mrs. Helen K. Blasingham, 1205 N. Fairwater Drive, Norfolk, Va. 23508; Mrs. Edna A. Hill, 3008 Kilbridge Drive, East Chesapeake, Va. 22936

Many women habitually stage a balancing act in the home that would scare a circus performer right off his trapeze. The Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company states that no amount of caution will enable you to safely use a stool, rickety chair, wooden crate, or a stack of books as substitutes for an approved step ladder. Off-the-floor chores are both easier and safer to perform with sensible climbing equipment.

HORSES BRING FOLK SINGERS TOGETHER; NOW ON WAY TO FAME

VIRGINIA BEACH—One of the finest folk-singing combinations in this area began for two high school seniors as a result of a mutual interest in, of all things, horses.

Sixteen-year-old Claudia Coleman began picking away at her father's old tenor banjo about four years ago but she didn't really start taking it seriously until last summer when she found herself singing with Janie Ostrum on a hootenanny for Great Neck Stables Day Camp.

Janie, also 16, possessed such a similar feeling for music that the pair have since developed a closely-knit singing style that seems to please everyone who has heard them.

"We sound a bit different from the ordinary folk music groups since we use only one instrument at a time and rely on just our own two voices," they explain. "Everybody says we blend awfully well, so I guess maybe we do."

Claudia, who provides the instrumental accompaniment for the group, is equally at home on banjo or guitar.

In spite of their large measure of talent, the pair have made few public appearances. "I don't think our parents would like to see us running around and appearing in night clubs," according to the girls.

Janie is a senior at Princess Anne High School. Claudia, who will graduate from Country Day School in June, will attend the American School in Lugano, Switzerland for a year, starting next fall.

That gives them about nine more months to explore the field of folk music.

"If we could cut a record and it sold, it could mean some welcome money for college," Claudia says.

KNOWN DIABETICS IN U.S. NUMBER MORE THAN 1,600,000

Almost everyone knows something about diabetes. And a lot of what we think we know isn't so.

The experts have estimated that there are more than 1,600,000 known diabetics in the United States, and that there are about 1,400,000 more Americans who have diabetes and don't know it. These figures are plus untold hundreds of thousands more who may develop diabetes if they don't follow a balanced diet, keep their weight down and have periodic physical examinations by their doctors to detect early changes in how their bodies use sugar.

What is diabetes?

It is a disorder in which the body cannot make full use of some of the foods we eat—mainly the carbohydrates, or sugars and starches. The pancreas, a large gland lying behind the stomach, does not make available enough insulin to turn these foods into energy or to store them for future use.

Diabetes can be controlled by planned diet, exercises and, in many cases, insulin or oral medication. Well-controlled by planned diet, exercises and, in many cases, insulin or oral medication. Well-controlled diabetes can lead active and useful lives.

Most likely candidate for diabetes are overweight persons past the age of 40, particularly those who are related to diabetes, and especially older women. But diabetes can hit anyone at any age.

Symptoms include increase in thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, itching, easy tiring, changes in vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

To encourage Americans to find out whether they have diabetes, the week of Nov. 1963 has been named Diabetes Week. To find out whether you have diabetes, visit your doctor and ask to be given a test. Many communities will have special detection programs during the week. Call your county medical society or diabetes organization for information.

 "I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most valuable of all titles, the character of an 'Honest Man'." Washington

The days since Diogenes beat the bushes in search of an honest man have seen countless worthies equal to that description. Honestly isn't quite as scarce a virtue as we are sometimes moved to fear. In fact, when we consider that we have created a society working within a vast, ill-fitting framework of human values, it is encouraging that our hold on strict honesty is not a bit more tenuous than it actually is.

CARELESS CAMPERS CAUSE OF FIRES

More than 3,000 destructive forest fires start each year because campers are careless with cooking fires.

If you are a camper, follow the accepted rules of the trail in building your fire. Clear away leaves and other dead foliage from the spot you select. Stay away from tall grass and brush. Never leave a fire unattended, and finally, make certain your fire is out before you leave the campsite.

Campers should also check to see whether a permit is needed before starting a fire in a public park area.

JOB TRAINEES FIND NEW WORK

By U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D., Minn.)

The Manpower Development and Training Act is proving its worth in combating one of the basic causes of long-range unemployment, and in encouraging sound manpower planning based on research.

In 1959, the Senate Special Committee on Unemployment Problems, of which I was chairman, recommended "institution of a nationwide vocational training program through federal grants in aid to the states, including specialized courses for youths who have dropped out of school and for older workers who require retraining." Passage of the Training Act in 1962 was a beginning toward meeting the needs identified in our committee study.

By October 10 more than 2,107 training projects for over 83,700 unemployed and underemployed persons had been approved since August 1962. As of October 11, 32,000 trainees had begun or completed training. Approximately 31,000 are presently being scheduled for courses.

Of the 15,000 workers who had completed courses by September, 70 percent have been placed in jobs almost wholly or predominantly related to their training.

In addition, experimental and demonstration projects have been approved to serve 31,000 individuals. These projects are aimed at developing new methods of reaching the hard-core unemployed. They are directly concerned with the jobs in big-city slums, the older worker, the emotionally handicapped, the educationally deficient, the dropout, minority groups and other disadvantaged workers in the labor force.

Data compiled so far shows that MDTA programs are focused on meeting the needs of primary wage earners. Over 75 percent of the men and 40 percent of the women enrolled in courses under the Act are heads of families or households. Of those who have completed training, 75 percent of the men have been placed in jobs as compared to about 60 percent of the women.

Almost half the trainees have been drawn from the ranks of the long-term unemployed; that is, individuals unemployed for 15 weeks or more. This is twice the proportion of long-term unemployed found among the Nation's jobless totals.

Much of the training is being provided to individuals with limited educational attainment. Approximately 40 percent of the trainees have not completed high school. One out of every ten trainees had a grade school education or less.

Length of the training course varies depending on the skill being taught. Average length of courses is 22 weeks; however, many such as practical nurse, auto mechanic, and electronic technician take 52 weeks, while others such as nurses aide, auto service attendant and electronic assembler may require only about 6 weeks.

We have found that reaching the hard-core, long-term unemployed is the most challenging aspect of the training program. So many of the people we are aiming at just do not possess the basic education which would permit them to absorb conventional training. Congress has before it now amendments which would provide greater assistance to those unemployed who have low educational backgrounds. I hope these amendments are speedily approved.

Dramatic Part New Challenge To John Hafling

JOHN HAFLING

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Courtyard Playhouse at Virginia Beach is becoming a Home Away from home for John Hafling who is playing the part of Jim, often referred to as "The Gentleman Caller", in Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie".

His wife, Jane, however, is understanding, as John and Jane have just had several weeks rehearsing together at the Dome, for the Princess Anne, Follies. "It was a lot of fun," she states,
"and I don't mind if John wants to do something serious for the Little Theatre now."

Serious is the word, and John is looking forward to the experience of opening night in a dramatic role.

"It's a new field for me," he says, "

EROSION EXPENSE $46,000 FOR FIRST QUARTER OF YEAR

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach Erosion Commission has announced operating expenses of $46,000 for the first quarter of the fiscal year beginning last July 1. An additional $4,500 was spent for new equipment on the main dredge.

The figures were released in a report to the commission's monthly meeting Tuesday.

The commission voted to pay a $100 electrical bill for the Virginia Beach Fishing Pier and Amusement Corp.

The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey maintains a tidal gauge on the 15th Street pier and the Federal Beach Erosion Board operates a wave gauge at the same spot. In the past, operators of one or the other of the two federal installations have activated the wrong electrical switch, causing the pier lights to stay on all night.

Now, however, there is a separate cable which feeds electrical current to two federal installations.

KING'S GRANT—The King's Grant Presbyterian Church became the official name of the eighth Presbyterian church within the city's boundaries Sunday at organizational services presided over by the Rev. S. D. McCammon Jr., executive secretary of Norfolk Presbytery.

The constitutional question was asked by Rev. McCammon and the response made by the church the 64th in the Norfolk Presbytery.

The sermon, "The Mark of a Living Church," was delivered by Dr. Andrew R. Bird Jr., pastor of First Presbyterian Church of Norfolk.

Elders, deacons and trustees were elected at the congregational meeting.

City Installing Bridge-Tunnel Traffic Lights

BAYSIDE—The city started installing traffic lights this week on the approach road to the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel in an effort to control the road's increasing traffic problems.

Lights will be located at Jack Frost Road, Pleasure House Road and Shore Drive for an estimated combined cost of about $25,000.

The state has agreed to absorb the cost of the light at Shore Drive but the city must bear the cost of the other two.

Since the approach road opened a few months ago a great number of accidents have occurred there. Especially at the Pleasure House Road intersection.

The accident rate has been so high, in fact, the Virginia Beach Police Department found it necessary to station two officers at the intersection each morning and afternoon when the commuting and schoolbus traffic was at a peak.

Placing of the three lights came about after a survey of the area was made.

The state did not approve a cloverleaf interchange, as suggested earlier by the city, but did agree to the lights when it became apparent that some type of traffic control was necessary.

U-K RECREATION

MEETING DEC. 4

KEMPSVILLE—All managers and coaches of semi-professional baseball teams residing within the City of Virginia Beach have been asked to meet in the Recreation Office at Union Kempsville High School December 4, at 7:30 p.m.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the formation of a league composed of the various teams. It is hoped that each manager will have as many representatives of his team as possible at this meeting.

Available fields, practice schedules, regular playing schedules, and franchise fees are among the important items that will be discussed.

Hotel Group Adopts New Name Tag

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Virginia Beach Hotel, Motel, Cottage and Apartment Association decided recently that the name of the organization was just too long.

Henceforth, says President James L. Kitchen, the association will be called "Innkeepers of Virginia Beach."

The organization, chartered about 1900, is one of the oldest trade groups in the city.

The group now encompasses the entire city, rather than restricting its membership to the Borough of Virginia Beach as in the past.

At its meeting Friday the organization appointed Mrs. Addie Sykes to the position of membership chairman. Membership goal for 1964 has been set at 100.

Final plans were made to send 50 Virginia Beach residents to the Governor's Travel Conference meeting in Richmond today.

Kitchen announced Tuesday that the trade group has obtained a post office box. Correspondence should be addressed to: Innkeepers of Virginia Beach, P.O. Box 533, Virginia Beach.

Webbon To Be League Speaker

KING'S GRANT—R. W. Webbon, Director of Public Works for the City of Virginia Beach, will be guest speaker at the November meeting of the King's Grant Community League to be held tonight at the King's Grant Elementary School at 8 p.m.

His topic will be "Future Improvements In The King's Grant Area," according to C. W. Taylor, program chairman of the League.

Plans for the annual Christmas bonfire and carol singing will be outlined by Mrs. Jean Haywood, who is in charge of this event.

The date and arrangements for a dance to be held during the holidays for the residents of King's Grant will be announced by Mrs. Eleanor Hanson, social chairman.

Following the meeting, a bake sale is to be held and members are asked to contribute home baked goods. Mrs. Lee Eldridge and Mrs. Rachel Willis, Ways and Means, co-chairmen, will be in charge of the sale.

Steady Crowds At Chamber's Art Exhibit

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Chamber of Commerce's open house Sunday to introduce the first in a series of art exhibits by members of the Virginia Beach Art Association was well received, Executive Director Roy LaMere said this week.

He said the crowds were not overly large at any specific time but were steady throughout the afternoon.

"We were encouraged enough about the response to go ahead with the series as planned," LaMere said.

The next series will feature portrait work by the local artists and will open about the second week in January.

Following series will feature seascapes, award-winning works and other categories.

The first series of more than 30 paintings emphasize commerce and culture. The works are displayed on the office walls and the general public is invited to drop by the chamber to see the exhibit. The offices are located at the corner of 25th Street and Pacific Avenue.

City May Seek Own Water For Future Needs

BY BOB BALDWIN

VIRGINIA BEACH—The water contracts approved by Norfolk City Council Tuesday and by Virginia Beach and Chesapeake last week, will keep Norfolk water flowing into the two new cities for the next five years. But the question remains, "Where will Virginia Beach obtain water when the contracts expire?"

Beach officials have been reluctant to comment on the possibility of an independent source of water supply, but the wording of the new contracts and the contents of a water service report made by Malcolm Pirnie Engineers, clearly indicate that such a possibility exists.

The Pirnie report was made for the two new cities of Virginia Beach and Chesapeake last June.

Nothing in the recent water pacts would prevent Virginia Beach from establishing a water supply of its own during the next five years although Beach officials say that actual use of such a system would have to wait until the contracts expire.

According to the Pirnie report, an independent water supply system could be owned and operated by Virginia Beach in a five-to-ten year period.

The report states that anticipated water needs of the City of Virginia Beach could be met until the year 2000 by developing a reservoir system outside its city limits.

Virginia Beach already has a system of water distribution lines in the Borough of Virginia Beach. Under the new contracts it would also purchase Norfolk's distribution lines within its boundaries if it should set up its own water supply.

For Women Only—
If You Ask Me By Audrey Smith

Are you making plans for your holiday cooking? The holiday season can bring trying times. The following is a recipe on "How To Cook A Husband" which you might find helpful during the holidays—or for that matter, the year round.

How To Cook A Husband

A good many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement. Some keep them constantly in hot water. Others let them freeze by carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words. Others roast them.

No husband will be tender and good managed in this way; but they are really delicious when properly treated. In selecting a husband, you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in buying mackerel, nor by the golden tint as if you wanted salmon. Be sure to select him yourself, as tastes differ. Do not go to market for him as the best are always brought to your door. It is far better to have none, unless you will patiently learn to cook him.

A preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is best. See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed and mended, with the required number of buttons and strings sewed on. Tie him in the kettle by a strong silk cord called "comfort" as the one called "duty" is apt to be weak. Make a clear steady fire of love, nearness and cheerfulness. If he sputters and fizzes, do not be anxious; some husbands do this until they are quite done. Add a little sugar, in the form of what confectioners call "kisses", but no vinegar and pepper. A little spice improves them, which must be used with judgment. Thus treated, when done, you will find him very delicious, agreeing nicely with you and the children, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and set him in too cool a place.

TEEN TOPICS . . . By Lacy S. Oliver Asst. Home Demonstration Agent

Last week we talked about helpful hints for cooks. With that beginning the next step is actual preparation.

I know sometimes getting started is the problem. Here is an idea. If you don't have anything to do this weekend, (in other words no date) instead of being a Sad Sue, why not get the girls together? Who knows—one of them just may have a brother or a cousin who is dying to meet someone new!

Whether your gathering is a snack, a supper, or a lunch, try serving one of these quick easy specialties. They will be good to practice on and good to eat:

Ring Around Tuna Salad
1 (1 1/2 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
1 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup (6 1/2 or 7 oz. can) tuna
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 (1/2 cup) chopped pimiento
1/2 cup drained and sliced ripe olives
1/4 tsp. salt

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve gelatin over hot water. Slowly add evaporated milk to mayonnaise in large bowl, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice, salt and dissolved gelatin. Fold in remaining ingredients and mix well. Spoon into 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill in refrigerator until firm. Unmold on serving platter. Serve garnished with salad greens and cucumber or tomato slices.

By the way, Is Salad Making New to You?
Dissolving gelatin is simple. Place gelatin and cold water in a small heat-proof glass dish. Place in a small pan of hot water. Allow gelatin to stand in hot water 10 minutes.

If you have never unmolded a salad before place salad mold in hot water for just a few seconds. Remove from water, place platter over the top . . . and flip! Garnish with greens and colorful vegetables.

Your purse slim?
Serve easy-to-make homemade strawberry ice cream. Smooth—delicious and only 29c a quart. Calorie watching? Never fear! When they're made with whipped evaporated milk instead of overly rich cream, desserts are 1/4 lower in calories, too!

Homemade Strawberry Ice Cream
2 10 oz. packages frozen sweetened berries
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 1/2 cups marshmallow topping
1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk
Mix strawberries with marshmallow topping in bowl. Allow to stand 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meantime, chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft crystals form (25-30 minutes). Whip evaporated milk until stiff (2 minutes). Add lemon juice; whip very stiff (2 minutes more). Blend with strawberry mixture. Place in refrigerator trays. Freeze until firm (about 3 hours). No more stirring needed.

Five-Minute Fudge for the Girls
3/4 cup (small can) undiluted evaporated milk
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups (about 16) medium dices marshmallows
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 tsp. vanilla

Place evaporated milk and sugar in large saucepan. Heat to boil, then cook 5 minutes. Begin timing after mixture begins bubbling around edges of pan. Remove from heat, add marshmallows, nuts, chocolate and vanilla. Stir fudge until marshmallows and chocolate are melted. Pour fudge into buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool; cut in squares.

Caramel Fudge. Prepare fudge as directed above, using caramel chips in place of semi-sweet chocolate.

Five-Minute Fudge Rolls. Make Five-Minute Fudge as directed above. Spread about 1 cup chopped nuts on heavy waxed paper. Pour fudge mixture over nuts. As fudge cools, form into roll. Slice. With this variety of recipe ideas you should be on your way to developing both skill and confidence in your cooking.

OCEAN PARK FRIENDSHIP PROGRAMS PAYING OFF

BAYSIDE — While Tidewater waits for the Bridge-Tunnel's opening to bring its water-separated areas closer together, some members of the Ocean Park Woman's Club have a head start toward togetherness—turning the Eastern Shore into a next door neighborhood of their own city of Virginia Beach. By building "bridges of friendship," the ladies have made Cape Charles seem as close to Virginia Beach as Atlantic Avenue is to Pacific—and Virginia Beach boosters are growing in numbers from Kiptopeke to Chincoteague.

Joint Trips

This "Hands Across the Bay" project started almost by accident, when Ocean Park members invited clubwomen from across the bay to join them on trips to State and District Federation meetings, and had their first "takers" in September to attend the State Board meeting in Roanoke.

The joint trip proved to be so much fun that in October Mrs. C. W. Carlson, President of the Young Woman's Club of Cape Charles; Mrs. L. K. Jones, also of the Cape Charles club; and Mrs. E. T. Daisey, Vice-president of the Woman's Club of Accomack County, played hostesses to Mrs. W. H. Twiford, President of the Ocean Park Woman's Club, Mrs. A. F. White, and Mrs. Cam Farmer, both past presidents of the club and all of Virginia Beach.

A day-long sightseeing tour took the group all the way to Assateague Island for a picnic, with many stops and detours to see things of interest on the way. Naturally the Virginia Beach contingent wanted a chance to show off their home territory, so

Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Jones came over for the Ocean Park club's November luncheon and stayed overnight to see the sights. Their outspoken delight in the things shown them prompted an announcement that they were going to adopt Virginia Beach as their second home town, and pledged themselves to boost its attractions up and down the Eastern Shore.

During their visit to the new offices of the Virginia Beach

EDITORIAL SPEAKING

Now That The Water Question Is Answered, We Suggest...

Everyone is happy now that the question of a water supply for the City of Virginia Beach is finally answered, at least, for the next five years. A contract with the City of Norfolk for that period has been signed. Amen.

However, five years is a short period of time and it will slip by before we know it. The Sun-News suggests that Virginia Beach officials not wait the five years before thinking again of a water supply for the city. We suggest that steps be taken immediately to insure a water supply in the future and that such a problem that has existed for the past year or more not develop again.

We do not necessarily advocate a separate water supply for the City of Virginia Beach. In fact, we are inclined to favor an area-wide or metropolitan water system to serve this great Hampton Roads area. This would seem to be the most logical solution to the water supply problem for the entire region.

However, if it becomes evident that a metropolitan water system is not feasible for any reason, then we feel that a separate independent water supply system should be set up for Virginia Beach.

But, regardless of the type of water supply system we repeat that Virginia Beach officials should begin at once to answer the question for it could come up again in five years. Action in this matter should be started at ONCE.

A Costly Fraud

Something President Kennedy said at a press conference last May deserves periodic repeating. Much more important, it should have a far greater impact on government policy than seems to be the case.

The President was asked a question concerning the controversy over private electric power development as against government development. The implication was that various major projects were being blocked by an adverse governmental attitude toward private utilities which wished to undertake them.

The President replied: "... if a private company can develop a site and provide a service more satisfactorily than the Federal Government, then the private company should go ahead. Indeed, ... I would put the burden of proof upon the Federal Government to prove either that the site will not be adequately developed, that the service would not be satisfactory, and that only the Federal Government can do it before I would support the project."

That is certainly a clear and unequivocal statement of position. Yet men high in the ranks of the Administration, as well as in other branches of government, are constantly urging more and more socialized power—and more and more big projects whose costs run in the hundreds of millions. No one can rationally argue that the utility industry is unable to undertake any needed project. And no one can rationally argue, either, that the industry is incapable of doing the job adequately and providing top service. Its standards, in every aspect of the business, are the highest attainable. It has proven, by its deeds, that socialized power is not needed and amounts to a costly fraud which every taxpayer helps pay for.

The strength of this country, and the very existence of our free institutions, rests on the rock of private enterprise. That is true of power development just as it is of every other field of enterprise.

"The Place To Economize"

The danger of steadily boosting federal spending was emphasized repeatedly during House debate on continuing the present $309 billion debt ceiling through November, with another increase to something approaching $320 billion in prospect then.

Representative Herlong (D-Fla.) pointed out that "the place to economize is when the authorization and appropriation bills are before us, not after the fact when the bills come in."

"I have not voted," he explained, "for those things that made this debt limit as high as it is, and I shall continue to vote against those things that I think are, or will result in, unnecessary government expenditures."

The country sorely needs more legislators who think and act this way.

"An Abundance of Pioneering"

"If we look backward, we can see that the last of the American physical frontiers has vanished. Gone are the prairie schooners, the great herds of buffalo, the colorful old horse cavalry winding into the sunset. And every so often some practicing cynic sets up a deafening clamor to the effect that the loss of our frontiers has also brought about an accompanying loss of opportunity for the enterprising."

The words are those of Keith Funston, President of the New York Stock Exchange. He made them in a speech soon after he had returned from a trip to the old west. Then he went on to stress his point: "Undoubtedly our last frontier has disappeared. If we interpret the word in only its literal geographic sense. But the word is actually far more inclusive. By definition, a frontier is a region, any region, not yet fully explored and settled. In our contemporary world, we can find that there is an abundance of pioneering still before us."

Indeed, there never was a time when so much effort, knowledge and skill was given to exploring the unknown — and money too. Last year alone $15 billion was spent on research—100 times the 1940 figure. And research represents pioneering in its highest, most potentially productive aspect.

As for opportunity, it is "... knocking more frequently than ever," in Mr. Funston's view. To take just one example, to qualify for listing on the exchange a corporation must attain considerable size and stature. Nineteen corporations listed this year were incorporated since 1945—and one began in 1957 with only $1,000 of capital.

So it goes—in business, finance, the arts and sciences, in every facet and aspect of human affairs. Never were there so many pioneers—and they seek boundaries our forefathers could not have conceived.

IMPROVING QUALITY WHILE HOLDING COST DOWN REAL PROBLEM

(Second in series of three articles)

Virtually anyone can improve quality if there are no restrictions on cost.

But to improve the quality of a home as a place to live in and enjoy without increasing its cost is a whopping undertaking. Yet this is the goal of the National Association of Home Builders and the Tidewater Association of Home Builders. It is the objective behind the changes that have and are taking place in the industry.

The big obstacle in our battle against costs is the price of land. It has skyrocketed in the last 10 years—in some areas as much as 3,000 per cent! Cost of labor, too, is rising. Yet the lid has been pretty well kept on house prices, due to better management efficiency and improved procedures.

This is not to say we have prevented any increase in house costs, but the increases have been held within reason. They are far below the jump in the cost of land.

A survey by the Federal Housing Administration of homes on which it has insured mortgages revealed that the median sales price in 1956 was $13,200. In 1962, six years later, it was $15,200. In those six years, the median price home had become larger in size.

There also has been a continuous improvement in the standards for new homes during this six-year period.

For instance, new homes today have an increasing amount of mechanical-electrical equipment, such as built-in dishwashers, garbage grinders, wall ovens, larger refrigerators, and more attractive ranges.

More homes have luxury finishes, such as wood paneling. More insulation is incorporated. More homes have air conditioning. Larger glass areas and even double or insulating glass is used. There are far more patios or terraces for outdoor living. All these things tend to offset and obscure the cost savings obtained through improved productivity.

The effort to combat costs by greater building efficiency is continuing. One of our recent major projects in this connection was TAMAP—or, to give it its full name, the Time and Methods Analysis Program.

We wanted to determine if industrial engineering methods were applicable to site construction conditions. Two study houses, essentially the same, were built at Berne, Ohio, near Cleveland. The second house incorporated construction work and methods suggested by the data compiled from the building of the first house.

We made over 500,000 observations of the work-steps on the two houses. We kept an exact count of all materials, including nails, staples and screws, that were either used, wasted or scrapped.

Ocean Park Church Gets New Pastor

OCEAN PARK—The Rev. Paul E. McCullough has recently accepted the pastorate of the Ocean Park Community Church.

A native of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., Rev. McCullough has gained much recognition as an educator among theological institutions throughout the country and has written articles for "The Sword of the Lord," one of America's most widely read weekly religious journals, and the "Baptist Bulletin."

He graduated from the Philadelphia School of the Bible in 1941; received his B.A. degree from Columbia Bible College in 1946; a B.D. degree from the Winona Lake School of Theology in 1950; and the Th.M. degree from the same school in 1954.

After receiving additional schooling at Grace Theological Seminary in Winona Lake, Ind., and Dallas (Tex.) Theological Seminary he spent three years as a pastor in Ohio.

Rev. McCullough was head of the Department of Theology at both Cedarville (Ohio) College and Piedmont Bible College in Winston-Salem, N. C. While at these two colleges he was responsible for developing the libraries and later reorganized the library at Shenandoah Bible College in Roanoke.

Since 1960 he has been dean of the Virginia Bible College in Norfolk where he also teaches systematic theology, Old Testament survey, biblical introduction and other courses.

He and Mrs. McCullough have one daughter, a tenth grade student at Norfolk Christian High School.

SBA Loans Streamlined

RICHMOND — Clarence P. Moore, Regional Director of the Small Business Administration, announced today a "streamlining" of SBA lending programs to speed the handling of loans to small businesses.

New procedures, tested in a pilot operation in the New England area, have been ordered put into effect in all SBA regional offices throughout the country. "By eliminating red tape, reducing paperwork, realignment of personnel, easing technical requirements and acquiring the necessary financial data promptly, the SBA office in Boston was able to reduce the time which formerly elapsed between receipt of a loan application and disbursement of funds by nearly one-third," Moore said.

"Because of the success of the streamlined procedures in New England, I have directed all of our regional offices to put them into effect immediately," the Regional Director said.

Moore stressed that the new procedure will in no way weaken the soundness of the SBA business lending program.

"We will continue to insist on a thorough evaluation of each loan application," he said. "We are merely eliminating some of the less essential paperwork and speeding up the operation."

OBSERVATIONS ON WRESTLING'S 'WEIRD WORLD'

Text by Ruby Jean Phillips
Photos by Dick Dyer, Boice Studio

VIRGINIA BEACH — The lights and sound system were getting a last minute check and wrestlers were scurrying into dressing rooms for costume changes. A festive atmosphere prevailed throughout the arena as the aroma of popcorn mingled with the chaotic babble of an excited capacity audience.

Such was the scene last Thursday night when the Alan B. Shepard Civic Center launched its bi-monthly wrestling matches.

Backstage activity was much like that of the theatre. The men who walked through the dressing room doors were well dressed, some following the pattern set by Madison Avenue. But this picture was quickly shattered by those who emerged a few minutes later. Gone were the neat business suits and in their stead were skimpy trunks that revealed the massive, muscular bodies, gleaming as if oiled.

Some of the wrestlers attempted individually with gimmick accessories — western boots, a thick black beard, shaved head or spangled vest—all of which seemed cumbersome when worn with nothing but tight swim trunks.

But these are the tricks of the trade in this weird world of wrestling. They lend glamour. And certainly they add to the spectacle the crowd is clamoring to see.

Wrestlers are like so many gladiators before a match, pacing the floor and preening themselves for the "kill" as they wait to dash into the arena under a blanket of cheers and catcalls from a highly pitched audience.

Nothing now resembles Madison Avenue. There are no indications that a short time ago these men talked quietly of their regrets at being away so often from their families to battle this whirlwind existence that deprives them of a normal life.

A transition was made behind those dressing room doors. These men are professional wrestlers, some of the leaders in their field, and they are prepared for the sport they have mastered to perfection. They snarl and pant and flex their muscles. They are ready for the show expected of them.

What pulls young men into the wrestling profession?

"I enjoy it. There is a challenge in bodily contact with one opponent you don't get in team sports," commented 28-year old Johnny Weaver, teammate to Cowboy Bob Ellis in Thursday night's main bout. "Besides, it's the only thing I know."

But this opinion is not shared by Rip Hawk who has spent 15 of his 33 years in the ring.

"Sure, some will say they wrestle because of the sport and bodily contact and all that, but don't you believe it," he said. "There's money, big money, in wrestling and that's the only reason anyone would go into it. It's a hard life because of all the traveling. But there's big pay and little work and that's why we wrestle."

Dr. Menendez, a black bearded giant who recently portrayed the role of Fidel Castro in the movie "We Shall Return," has an entirely different answer. He claims it offers him the excitement and adventure he once experienced while exploring for diamonds in South America.

Because the sport demands a strenuous schedule to maintain physical fitness, a wrestler's career in the ring may be limited by his age. But again there are conflicting opinions. Dr. Menendez and Rip Hawk have already laid groundwork for an early retirement while Weaver insists that age doesn't matter. Perhaps the reason for this is Weaver is still in his twenties while the others have passed the 30 mark.

Doc, at 36, is preparing for a life in Hollywood with roles in two television shows, "Tallahassee

Cowboy Bob Ellis runs to help Johnny Weaver drag Rip Hawk across the mat.

Raiders End Perfect Season

VIRGINIA BEACH—The Raiders ended the 6-man football league season last week with an unblemished record of 6 wins and no losses by defeating the Rams 27-13.

The running attack of the Raiders was led by Ed McQuilkin for two TD's and Ted Todd for another tally with the assistance of Jeff Snodgrass' key blocks.

The combination efforts of Gray Hodgson and Tommy Burton accounted for another score.

For the Rams it was speedy Pete Thomas on the ground with excellent ball handling by David Winecoff. Martin Thomas also proved effective on the line.

The undefeated Raiders were coached by Lt. C. E. "Pete" Garber with the assistance of Lt. (j.g.) Joe Feibel.

HERFORD SALE AT ORANGE MONDAY

STAUNTON — A recent announcement by the Virginia Herford Association, Staunton, indicates that their Ninth Annual All-Polled Calf Show and Sale will be held Monday, at Orange, Virginia.

This event is considered one of the top offerings of quality Polled Hereford bulls and females in Virginia each year.

JAGUARS, CHARGERS CLOSE SEASON WITH VICTORIES

Jags Rip Demons
The Jaguars and the Chargers closed out the Midget 6-man slate with wins and the ease with which they won has been indicative of their improvement during the season.

The Jaguars scored 21 points as they were led by Mike Brunich, Keith Adams, Michael Kleinann in their romp past the slipping Demons. The Demons were favored to win, but the Jags were not to be denied as they held Brooke Entwistle scoreless by putting up a strong defense.

Chargers Dump Knights
In other Midget action the Chargers posted a 35 to 12 win over the hapless Knights. The Chargers took over at the very outset and completely dominated the play with Steve Snow and Michael Phillips showing the way. Ralph Hitt stood out for the Knights.

Chargers Win 8-Man Title
The Chargers moved into the throne room as they tied the Hornets 0 to 0 in the best defensive battle of the year. With neither team able to muster an offense the Chargers managed to move into sole possession of the number one spot by virtue of the tie. Defensively Jerry Strohkarb, Colton Markert, and Steve Townsend stood out for the Chargers. The Hornets were led by Fred Farley, Mike Triptow and Ed Lachman. The game was considered as an upset victory by the Hornets, especially since they were playing without the services of their No. 1 quarterback.

The next big game for the Chargers will be the All-Star encounter on Dec. 14.

Blue Devils Stun Panthers

The Blue Devils scored in the first and last periods to hand the Panthers their second defeat of the season 14 to 13. Keith Gore skinned end for 30 yards for the first 6 points and Gary Harvey went 25 yards for the second TD with Bob Waring adding each extra point. The Panthers carried a 13 to 7 lead into the second half, but the advantage was not enough to win the crucial battle. George Fulcher and Mike O'Brien once again led the Panther attack, but they could not hold their fired up neighbors from the north end. The win leaves the Panthers with a 4 and 2 record and tied for second place with the Blue Devils who are also 4 and 2, by virtue of the Hornet game that was won by forfeit.

The Chargers have but one game remaining and the Panthers have only pride at stake as the Chargers have sewed up the title.

Salute To Virginia Beach Hospitals — Present And Future

Public Invited To Visit Sunday

VIRGINIA BEACH—The General Hospital of Virginia Beach will open its doors to a visiting public Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. and afford them an opportunity to see what progress has been made in an overall revamping.

Sunday's open house will be held in observance of National Hospital Week.

During the past two years, since the present building was acquired from private owners and chartered by the state as a non-profit, non-stock hospital, the facility has taken great strides in filling the medical needs for this fast growing city.

The first major improvements after the acquisition on Dec. 1, 1961, was to set up an open staff operation and expand the 25-bed capacity by converting offices on the first floor into patient area. Improvements were also made to the operating and delivery rooms, nursery, x-ray and laboratory department and emergency room.

The next step came with the construction of a 2-story wing that opened last December and created additional administrative offices and room for nine more patient beds.

The hospital has come a long way in two years. It is adequately staffed and equipped to care for the people of Virginia Beach. Yet, its 47-bed capacity makes it small when compared to the enlarged city's exploding population, now estimated at over 100,000 persons.

And until the new 105-bed hospital is completed, probably in 1965, the present hospital must suffice and all of these improvements have been made for just that purpose.

Also, the present building, at 25th Street and Arctic Avenue, is being groomed to fill a very necessary role when the new hospital opens. It will be used as a branch and will provide space for elderly and intensive care patients, thus releasing more beds in the new plant.

Construction on the new hospital at Hilltop is already underway and the activity has been a welcome sight to those who have supported and followed the project's progress over the past few years.

In 1961 there were two hospital groups at work—the General Hospital of Virginia Beach and the Princess Anne Memorial Hospital—and both had their applications for Hill-Burton federal funds denied.

For a year the much-needed project lay dormant and it wasn't until the two groups consolidated under the Virginia Beach name in August, 1962, that activity resumed.

The combined efforts of both supporters accomplished what the divided efforts had failed to do and on October 25, 1962, George D. Brooke, president of the board of directors, announced that the United States Department of Health had approved the hospital's second application for federal funds.

The grant was for $1,430,000 and is to be made available over a three year period.

Still to be raised, however, was $500,000 which must come from the generosity of the citizens of the greater Virginia Beach. The campaign for pledges, under the direction of Judge Robert S. Wahab and Ward, Dreshman, Reinhardt, Inc. of New York, started in the winter of 1962 and continued through this spring.

Last December W. Earl Willis of Farmville was named liaison officer and future administrator of the new hospital and assumed these duties in March of this year.

Five contractors bid on the plans completed by Baskerville & Son of Richmond and on October 14 the Department of Public Health approved the $2,169,865 bid of J. A. Jones of Charlotte, N. C. Construction got underway immediately after this contract was signed.

The 20-acre hospital site on First Colonial Road, about one mile north of Hilltop, was donated for this purpose by Mrs. Levi Old, widow of Dr. Old, and her son, Dr. Levi Old Jr.

The first part of a 4-phase plan of construction calls for a 2-story 105-bed—59 medical and surgical, 24 obstetrics with 33 bassinets, 13 pediatrics and 9 intensive care—institution with all necessary central facilities.

When needed, a second phase will add a third floor and its 66 additional beds will bring the total capacity to 171. Another 84 beds will be added in the third phase with the construction of a fourth floor. The final phase will consist of 50 minimum care beds, constructed in a unit adjacent to the hospital.

This unique 4-phase construction planning has provided the hospital with a map that will carry it through any future community growth.

Once completed, the new hospital is expected to employ between 200-250 persons and maintain an annual payroll of half a million dollars. Another half a million will be spent annually to purchase supplies, a greater portion of which will be spent locally.

The new facility will also draw into the area many physicians of all medical specialties.

Because of these many aspects, the city will benefit in many ways from both the present and planned hospitals. Not only will the residents receive the finest medical care, but the entire community will grow from the additional revenue derived from additional employment and wages, from hospital personnel, increased real estate purchases from the new physicians and staff members and the purchase of supplies.

Auxiliary Great Aid To Hospital

VIRGINIA BEACH—During its one-year history, the Auxiliary to the General Hospital of Virginia Beach has taken an active part in bringing about many needed hospital improvements.

In the past year, 117 volunteers, called "pink ladies" because of the color of their uniforms, gave 6,109 hours of service as receptionists, messengers, clerical workers and nurses aides at the hospital.

During the summer a class of teenage girl volunteers were trained to assist the nurses in laboratory and emergency room. Three teenage boys also worked as volunteers at the hospital during the summer.

The first money-making project undertaken by the Auxiliary was the Great Neck Stable Horse Trials in April, 1963. The money raised went toward the purchase of air conditioning units. Funds obtained from the Auxiliary's recent scrap paper drive were also used for this purpose.

The waiting room was redecorated under the direction of the auxiliary and, at present, the ladies are engaged in doing some much needed work on the grounds and getting the fire escape painted.

During the past year a Memorial and Special Gifts Fund was begun for the purpose of equipping a pediatric department in the new hospital and to finish air conditioning the present building.

Donations may be sent to Mrs. C. M. Walkley, London Bridge, in memory of deceased persons. An engraved card will be sent to the bereaved family notifying it of the donation.

Three nurses aid classes were held during the past year. The Volunteer Services chairman is Miss Sue Brooke. Anyone interested in this rewarding work may call her at GA 8-4302.

The present hospital is being used by the Auxiliary as a training ground for volunteers so that enough women will be trained to take over and start work immediately in the new hospital when it is completed.

Auxiliary officers are: Mrs. Preston F. Hix, president; Mrs. W. J. Vaughan, vice president; Mrs. William Romoser, recording secretary; Mrs. Braden Vandevanter, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Bernard Bateman, treasurer.

This room is typical of the hospital's expanded patient facilities.

BEAUTY - SKIN DEEP

The beauty of some ornamental plants in your home grounds is only skin deep. Poisons may lurk within.

During the fall season, some ornamentals develop seed. Caution children not to put seed and fruits in their mouths. For instance, the castor bean plant develops seed in late summer and fall. The seeds are attractive for play purposes, but if eaten the results may be fatal. If young children play where castor beans grow, examine the plants for clusters of flowers or fruits. Leaves and other parts of the plant are poisonous, too, but they are not likely to attract "browsing" children.

Other bushes develop seed surrounded by an attractive red, pulpy structure. They are tempting to young children who mistake them for cherry-like fruits. The aril alone is not poisonous, but the seed, leaves, and twigs are dangerous.

The sap of some familiar plants also can be irritating to the skin of some children and adults. An uncomfortable rash, or even blistering, may develop if iris is handled—especially the underground rootstock. Lily-of-the-valley, snow-on-the-mountain, lady slippers, cypress spurge, and others also contain irritating ingredients. Happily, these plants are not as toxic as poison ivy, and they affect only a few people. Some of the nightshade group develop attractive berries, and these berries are dangerous if eaten—especially if eaten—especially if they are not fully ripe.

PLANT BULBS NOW FOR SPRING COLOR

If you fancy a colorful flower border next spring, now's the time to prepare for it. Bulbs planted this fall will provide an early show of color before most other plants are ready to bloom.

Some of the familiar bulbs which will bloom in the spring include daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, bulbous iris, crocus, snowdrops, and chionodoxas. In the average garden soil, plant crocus and snowdrops and other small bulbs about 2 inches below the soil surface. Plant tulips 6 to 7 inches from the top of the bulb to the surface of the soil. Plant daffodils fairly deep—about 6 to 8 inches from the soil surface to the base of the bulb. Generally, all bulbs should be planted deeper in light soils than in heavy soils.

Bulbs do well in good garden soil if the drainage is good. If the soil is poor, improve it. It is important to add organic matter to poor soils. Don't use animal manure when bulbs are planted, or you may have trouble with rotting. During the growing season when the plants are above ground, use one or two light applications of nitrogen fertilizer.

You can plant bulbs in a flower border along with perennials since most bulb plants are not too tall. They can be grouped to the outside of the border in front of taller growing perennials. Group by varieties in masses so you will have a good display of color. Bulbs are also attractive in the foundation planting around the terrace, of the driveway entrance, or used to naturalize wooded areas.

When you buy bulbs: know the types, color, size of bulbs, and the place they grow best; use colors that harmonize with the rest of the garden; check to be sure they are not diseased; buy specific colors or varieties you want—many packages often contain two colors of one color, and some bulbs usually are of two colors.

GRASS FOR THE GARDEN

It's hard to keep up the garden! Because many garden ornaments are made of wood, they are in danger of rotting.

Some also spend the winter in perennial rootstocks and common weeds, and others in the soil. Proper sanitation will destroy much disease causing material.

Fall is the best time to clean up the garden. Usually, plant material taken off the garden areas should be burned. It should not be used in a compost pile unless the compost is to be spread on fields growing crops other than vegetables.

PLASTIC GREENHOUSES

Popular as well as practical are plastic greenhouses. One of the top designs tested is a gothic shaped house which is economical and easy to construct.

The main features of this greenhouse are its pleasing appearance, low cost, ease of construction, structural strength, clear span, and plastic film covering easy to apply. Wooden lath strips secure the film only at the ridge, end rafters, and bottom edge.

Natural testing conditions at VPI have proved the gothic greenhouse will withstand snow accumulation, hail and sleet, and winds of over 70 miles-per-hour. The four-mil polyethylene film covering easily lasts from the fall on into the summer months. This film has been treated chemically to prevent deterioration from ultra violet rays from sunlight.

The 21-foot wide greenhouse can be built any desired length, in multiples of four feet, to a maximum of 100 feet. The framework consist of built-up rib-type curved rafters constructed in a jig, and planed posts to which they are attached.

Bracing and two framed ends complete the structure. Film is applied on the ends, and the greenhouse proper can then be quickly covered with film 20 feet wide by whatever length is required, one piece for each side.

Tests at VPI show that there is no significant difference between horticultural crops grown in plastic greenhouses and crops grown in conventional glass houses. Since plastic greenhouses cost from one-tenth to one-fifth as much as glass houses of like size, they should be more widely used in horticultural crop production.

THE MEANING OF "SOIL"

What does soil mean to you? When people answer this question, their answers are similar to those of several blind men describing an elephant. Each man touched the elephant at a different spot, gained different impressions, and gave contrasting answers.

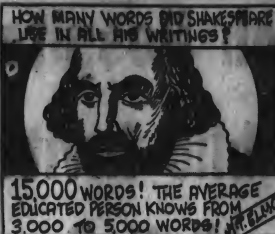

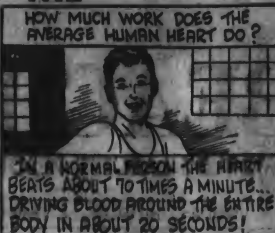

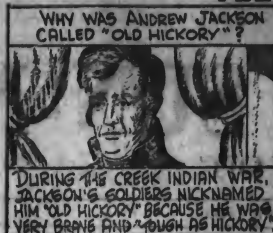

Likewise, people from various walks of life have varying impressions and reactions when they hear the word "soil".

To the small child, soil is mud pies and fun; to his mother it is a material which is trucked on the carpet. It is never completely removed by soap and water from the hands and face of any male under 12. To the geologist, soil is overburden which must be removed before he observes materials below. The construction engineer considers it as material on which he can or cannot build with success. To the average homeowner, soil is an unmanageable mixture of clay, cement, sticks, and stones on which grass will not grow, but weeds will.

To the farmer it is a precious mixture of mineral and organic matter, air, and water on which life depends. He considers soil not only as the medium through which he earns his living and produces food for the world, but he also believes that its wise use is basic to the economy of the nation.

Much effort is made each year to learn more about soils and how to manage them more intelligently in a permanent agriculture and urban economy. Studies are being made as to how advance planning and looking into the future can lead to apportioning soils to the best advantage for many uses other than agriculture. This is a big challenge to the world today—can we use our soils so wisely that they will last?

CHEVROLET

Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-wall construction. Chevrolet Fleetside—best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMPside. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame-floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.

The Mixing Bowl

IT'S Fun TO COOK

By LUCILE CLARK

SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

Simplicity may be the key to most meals we serve today but Thanksgiving dinner is something else again. Ever since the first Thanksgiving, this has been a day of sharing the harvest. The more food you serve, the more traditional your meal. Yet to prepare all that food you can take many short cuts, still coming out with a true-old-fashioned Thanksgiving feast which looks as though you had spent not days but weeks in the preparation. Actually, you'll spend only a few hours.

Most important, of course, is the turkey. For best results, and to make it easier on yourself, buy frozen turkey. Not only is it literally the freshest turkey you can buy but it also lets you buy your bird ahead of time and you avoid last minute rushes. A few "reminders" as you cook the turkey: rub the cavity lightly with salt before stuffing, also roast in oven breast side up. For the most even browning, cover top of bird with aluminum foil, remove foil about 30 minutes before end of cooking time. Your oven heat guide: about 25 minutes per pound at 325°F.—for a 14-16 lb. turkey or to 190°F. internal temperature if you use a meat thermometer.

To celebrate Thanksgiving in all its tradition, make two stuffings this year. Neither take much time and each has a unique and delicious flavor. For the turkey itself... Gold Harvest Stuffing. You use a prepared stuffing base to save time but this is all that is ordinary about this stuffing.

Golden Harvest Stuffing
1 1/2 lb. Kielbasse sausage, diced
1 cup chopped onions
1 1/2 cups hot water
2 8-oz. pkgs. prepared stuffing mix
2 cups whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate

Saute Kielbasse and onions until lightly browned. To hot water, add stuffing mix. Toss lightly. Add corn, Kielbasse, onions and monosodium glutamate and blend gently. Makes enough stuffing for a 14-16 lb. turkey.

For a stuffing on the side, and for variety of flavor, whip up: Pepper Crunch Dressing
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup fine bread crumbs
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup slivered almonds
5-6 cups cornflakes
1/4 teaspoon seasoning salt about 1 cup water

Saute onion in cooking oil until golden brown. Combine with other ingredients and bake in oven with turkey in covered casserole, about 1 hour.

With your turkey and stuffing you'll want to serve vegetables in abundance... probably two varieties of potato, squash, boiled onions, a green vegetable. For your festive holiday table garnish the turkey with heaps of frosted fruit. Dip white grapes and red crab apples in lightly beaten egg whites, then roll in granulated or powdered sugar. Looks lovely, very frosty and crisp and tastes delicious.

Another idea, perhaps you'd like to add fruit flowers to the tray on which you serve the turkey. These look beautiful, yet they're really easy to make. For fruit flowers that look like mums, try making them from oranges. Beginning at the blossom end of the orange, and going almost to the stem end, cut the peel in 16 equal sections or "petals." Lift the petals with a knife tip and then, with your fingers, gently separate the peel from the fruit. Remove the fruit, leaving just the petal shell. Repeat on a second smaller orange, except cut only 1/4 way to stem and leave fruit inside. Set this orange in the first petal shell.

Here's another important turkey tip: hearty, delectable, but greaseless gravy. Quick way to remove grease... place a few ice cubes in warm turkey juice. Grease clings to the ice cubes and leaves the clear, hearty liquid for your gravy. Remove grease-covered ice cubes and make gravy as you normally do.

You'll also want very crisp celery. For this, place celery in ice water to bring out crunchiness. One very effective trick here: remove the heavy outside pieces of celery, cut them lengthwise into narrow strips, then chill in ice water. Strips will curl very prettily. Another nice and simple touch: radish roses which you can prepare a day ahead, keep in ice water in refrigerator. The longer they stay in the water, the more they "blossom."

Be sure to take advantage of every short cut you can. But also be sure that on Thanksgiving Day of all days, you serve the only type of meal which is proper for Thanksgiving... a turkey feast that compliments the harvest.

Petal Pretty Potatoes

Yield: 8 servings
4 cups cooked, washed sweet potatoes
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1/4 cup molasses
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
8 miniature marshmallows

Mandarin orange sections
Combine sweet potatoes, butter, molasses and spices. Place sweet potato mixture in a buttered 11 by 7 by 1 1/2 inch baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 25 minutes. Remove from oven. Place marshmallows on top of sweet potatoes. Arrange 4 mandarin orange sections around each marshmallow to form a flower. Return casserole to oven for another 5 minutes.

For dessert—what? Pumpkin pie—of course!

"Sun Punks" Pie

"Enny man who don't luv pumpkin pie," wrote Josh Billings, 19th Century humorist, "wants watching cluss, for he means to do sumpin' mean the fast good chance he can git!" There just isn't anybody so mean he wouldn't love this delectable pumpkin pie. One of its surprises is a somewhat unusual dash of pure vanilla extract which creates a wonderfully rich flavor.

Vanilla Pumpkin Pie

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/4 teaspoon ground mace
3 large eggs
1 1/2 cups mashed cooked pumpkin
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
1 cup milk

Pastry for one-crust 9-inch pie
Vanilla Whipped Cream, optional
Combine the first 5 ingredients. Beat in eggs. Stir in pumpkin and pure vanilla extract. Add milk. Mix well. Turn mixture into a 9-inch pie plate, lined with unbaked pastry. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400°F.) 50 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve cold, garnished with Vanilla Whipped Cream, if desired.

Vanilla Whipped Cream

Add 1 tablespoon sugar and 1/4 teaspoon pure vanilla extract to 1/4 cup heavy cream. Beat with a rotary or electric beater until soft, stiff peaks form.

YIELD: One 9-inch pie.

Alcohol Film To Be Shown

SANDBRIDGE—The physical, psychological and social aspects of alcohol addiction are explored in a film to be shown at the Tabernacle Methodist Church Sunday at 8 p.m.

"For Those Who Drink," a widely acclaimed lecture film, features R. Gordon Bell, M.D., member of the Medical Advisory Board of the Alcoholism Research Foundation of Ontario.

Using effective blackboard diagrams, Dr. Bell illustrates the phases through which an alcohol addict progresses from social drinking.

Likewise, the filmed presentation graphically demonstrates the stages encountered by an alcoholic as he moves toward treatment and rehabilitation.

The film dramatically depicts the symptoms which first classify the potential victim as a social drinker, then a problem drinker and, finally, an addict.

Those interested in the problems of alcoholism will find in this film a vast reservoir of information, according to the Reverend LeRoy Davis, pastor.

"Because 10% of social drinkers are potential alcoholics, it is of the utmost importance that large numbers of persons view the film," he says.

Rev. Davis points out that the film is not designed to promote total abstinence but to "educate the views relative to the victim of alcoholism."

"A knowledge of the stages through which a person must pass from social drinking to alcoholic addiction, and the phases encountered by a victim of alcoholism as he is treated medically, therapeutically, and psychologically will help every concerned person in the discharge of his responsibilities to the user of alcoholic beverages," Rev. Davis commented.

Tabernacle Methodist Church is located on Sandbridge Road, east of Va. 615.

"RAISING" CHILDREN BY THE BOOK

Here is a man who is exercising that choice!

He believes that children growing up in the free world ought to know the Author of Liberty. He wants his son and daughter to cherish and embrace the spiritual insights God has given man.

This father introduced his children to the Bible when they were very young. Today the Book of the Ages is their friend. Tomorrow it will be their guide through the frightening age to which they have been born.

The American Bible Society — supported by earnest Christian citizens and the churches they attend — enables millions of families around the globe to share our heritage of Truth with this new generation on whose spiritual fibre rests the hope of the world.

The Church is the greatest force on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every parent should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

They are: (1) For the new child. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Mary, Mary" Next Film At Beach Theatre

"Mary, Mary," opening Wednesday at the Beach Theatre, is the newest in the sequence of top hit films made from top hit stage vehicles which has become the specialty of Warner Bros.

Recent Warner pictures in the sequence have been "Gypsy," "The Music Man" and "A Majority of One." Ahead lies "My Fair Lady."

The basis of "Mary, Mary" is a play, by Jean Kerr, author of "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," that ran more than 1,000 performances on Broadway while two road-companies toured it all over the U. S. and a third covered Europe.

Having acquired this prized property, Warner's gave it the A-treatment. Mervyn LeRoy, noted behind-camera figure, became producer and director. Debbie Reynolds was cast as the contrary Mary whose romantic up-and-downs form the plot. Barry Nelson and Michael Rennie, who for the role created the hilarious ex-husband and a fading movie-idol, were chosen to do the same for the Technicolor screen. Diane McBain, fast-rising television and movie beauty, was cast as a headstrong socialite. Hiram Sherman, well-known comic actor, was lured to the Coast for a rare screen appearance as a puckish lawyer. William Travilla, the fame of whose designs has spread far beyond Filmmville, was assigned to create the wardrobe of the Misses Reynolds and McBain.

The upshot of all this talent, plus the great technical resources of the Warner studio, is a zippy, funny, human film spiked with the memorable lines, and marked by the comedy-style, that have kept stage audiences laughing by the thousands.

Songbirds Join Kaye

Comedienne Nancy Walker, gospel singer Mahalia Jackson and the singing Clinger Sisters are Danny Kaye's guests on "The Danny Kaye Show" Wednesday on the CBS Television Network from 10-11 p.m.

Miss Jackson, currently on a concert tour, will sing "Deep River" and then will be joined by Kaye in a second song, yet to be selected.

Kaye, who opens the show singing "When My Sugar Walks Down the Street," joins Miss Walker in a production number titled "Magnolia Blossoms of 1932," backed by the show's dancers and singers.

In the first of two sketches, Kaye and Miss Walker join in illustrating love then and now—first as it might be portrayed in Shakespeare's theater in Old England, complete with music and verse, then as it might be delineated by an angry young playwright of the contemporary English stage.

In the final sketch, Kaye and Miss Walker are joined by comedian Harvey Korman in a talent playhouse sketch titled "Srenagaki," the story of the world's greatest undiscovered soprano—a charwoman who can sing only with a mop in her hand.

Kaye and the Clinger Sisters—Melody, Peggy, Patricia and Deborah—close the show with the song "Be My Little Baby Bumble Bee."

Eye-Witness Account

MOURNERS FLOCK TO WASHINGTON

By Bob Baldwin

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Thousands of us stood, pressed closely together in the blustery wind, waiting to pay our last respects to the late president.

We came by car, plane and chartered bus from Ohio, Virginia, Illinois, North Carolina and every other state throughout the continent.

We were young, we were old. We were lawyers, students, business men, laborers, clergymen, nuns, artists, doctors. By birth we were Caucasians, Negroes, Chinese, Puerto Ricans, Filipinos.

It was impossible to tell how many we were. Some of us held transistor radios to our ears and listened as news commentators estimated our size.

They told us the next day, after the doors to the Capitol rotunda had been closed, that 250,000 of us had passed by the casket which held the remains of John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Civic League Incorporates

POINT O' WOODS — The Point O' Woods Civic League has been incorporated as a non-profit organization in order to accept a land donation.

This move was taken at the November meeting when the members approved an amendment to this effect.

The acre to acre and a half site will be used for a playground. It will be donated by Lawrence Goldrich, builder of the community.

Tom Cauldin, playground chairman and attorney Raymond Powers was named chairman of a special committee to legally permit the league to qualify as a non-profit organization.

President William A. Lindner announced that the next meeting will be held Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. at Eastern Shore Chapel. All members and Point O' Woods residents are urged to attend.

Most of us didn't get that far. For hours the line barely moved. A few of us, after standing for seven, eight and nine hours, collapsed and were unable to go further.

Others of us had hundreds of miles to drive, back to our homes, our jobs and our families, and had to leave after a day of waiting.

Others, after spending the night, had to be turned away the next morning.

Many of us were very young. A poorly dressed couple took turns holding their two-year-old above the crush of our bodies.

Many of us were college and high school students, excused from next day's classes and willing to wait all night if necessary.

A few teenagers, arriving at the line of march, giggled and pushed at first. Then, ignored by the rest of us, they fell silent and remained in the line without speaking.

From time to time a great pressure from behind caused us to surge dangerously forward. After each crushing wave we turned to each other and asked, "Are you all right?"

When we looked behind us, all we could see were more of our own faces.

We didn't talk much. Each of us seemed alone with his own thoughts but all of our thoughts were with the man lying in state under the Capitol's massive dome.

There just wasn't much to say. While we waited, our radios said that a man named Lee Harvey Oswald had been murdered. This new fact drew little comment.

Some of us, standing close to the Supreme Court Building, directed our gaze momentarily at the words above its entrance: "Equal Justice Under Law."

The air grew more chill as the sun sank behind the Capitol dome. It appeared that few in the slow moving line would actually catch a glimpse of the president's casket.

Those of us who began to leave were glad we had come as far as we did. We knew as we left that others would remain to the end.

By leaving, we realized, we were making their wait a little shorter.

FLOODING PROJECT DELAYED

VIRGINIA BEACH — City Council Tuesday postponed action on a proposed project to relieve flooding conditions on Holly Road in the area between 43rd and 45th Streets.

City Engineer Charles S. Kiley presented to council a survey of the project which reportedly would relieve flooding from heavy rainfalls at a cost of $12,783.

Kiley said a second survey, dealing with similar problems on 17th Street just west of Parks Avenue would be made after a field inspection had been made in cooperation with state officials.

A survey there would involve plans for the future Norfolk-Virginia Beach toll road, Kiley said.

City Manager Russell B. Hatchett read council members a letter from Norfolk assemblyman Toy D. Savage, requesting each of Tidewater's city governments to list subjects they feel should be presented to the next meeting of the General Assembly.

Savage's letter said the subjects would be considered at the next meeting of the Committee for Area-wide Cooperation, and a joint list prepared for presentation to the General Assembly.

Copies were also sent to the mayors of Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Hampton, and Chesapeake.

Council turned the matter over to the City Manager.

Council also approved:

• A use permit application by Pavab Inc. to operate a 40-acre borrow pit near Newtown Road on the north side of Virginia Beach Boulevard.

• An ordinance adopting the fire prevention code recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

• An ordinance providing for inspection of street and utility improvements during land development and subdivision.

Council discussed briefly the need for a master plan for the city's future needs and voted, at Hatchett's suggestion, to let Planning Director F. Mason Gamage estimate the cost of such a plan so it could be considered in the city budget for the coming year.

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Sanitation Department of the City of Virginia Beach has announced that Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, will be observed as a holiday and the usual garbage collection throughout the city will not be made.

Garbage will be collected on Monday for those areas on a Thursday-Monday schedule, the announcement stated.

MEMORIAL PRAYER

By
Rev. Beverly Felty
Virginia Beach Methodist Church

All Mighty and Eternal God, we humbly bow in Thy divine presence to lift our hearts in humble gratitude for the bountiful blessings Thou hast so generously bestowed upon us.

As we count our blessings, may we not forget the grave responsibility which Thou has placed upon us to bring peace in freedom to all mankind.

Help us, O God, to employ our strength and all our material resources to defend the human dignity of every citizen in every land, but may we ever be mindful that human progress and the elimination of fears and intangible anxieties can be achieved only as we as individuals make our personal contributions in the realm of moral and spiritual values.

While we conceive and construct the mighty weapons of war, to discourage the enemies of freedom, may we walk in the paths of righteousness so that Thy wisdom may be our wisdom and Thy purpose our purpose. As we search for more effective methods to increase our knowledge, to improve our way of life, and to protect our national and international interests, may we not forget that man's basic fundamental and eternal need is God.

As we push back the horizons of knowledge, may we place our hands in Thy hand and seek first Thy kingdom and Thy righteousness so that our advances into the storehouse of Thy ancient and boundless truths may not overwhelm us but instead dispell the darkness that lies within us and bring the warming rays of Thy healing power to the souls of all men everywhere.

Again we pray for our former president's family, asking for Thy comfort and Thy strength for them and that they may be aware of Thy presence.

We pray for our new president and ask that he may receive Thy divine guidance as he undertakes the duties of his office, which have been thrust upon him. And we pray for us as individuals, as a church, as a nation, that through us Thy will may be done and Thy kingdom may come on earth. In Jesus name, Amen.

City Mourns JFK Death

A blanket of gloom woven from a nation's grief covered this normally gay resort city Monday as residents bowed their heads in silent tribute to a fallen leader. The streets were bare, the serenity broken only by the timed blinking of needless traffic lights.

The quietness was eerie. There were no shuffling feet, roaring motors or honking horns. There were no joyous shouts from running children or cheerful greetings between passing neighbors. There were no clinking cash registers or clacking typewriters or ringing telephones. There was only stillness.

This city, like many hundreds across the nation, had come to a complete standstill. This mass display of grief, spontaneously produced through individual decisions, was the greatest tribute the American people could pay the late President Kennedy.

The respect for this dynamic man was so widely felt that no prompting was needed for this show of affection. It was a movement from the heart. Closed doors seemed to symbolize the respect but it was the hushed voices and drawn, unsmiling faces that mutely testified to the sorrow.

There was Monday, and will be for many years to come, a flow of mental pictures of the man the people had learned to know so well. And for those of us who saw him during his brief visit here 19 months ago there will always be a very special image.

From the moment he stepped from the plane at the Oceana Naval Air Station until he left a short 20 minutes later, President Kennedy dominated the activity around him and completely captivated the cheering crowd.

His appearance was that of a youthful, vigorous young man but his stride and carriage was that of a leader. His smile was warm and friendly but there was a confidence and purpose about his manner that indicated he was a man of decision, strong in his convictions. He stood as a giant among those around him. He was unquestionably the president, the leader, the commander-in-chief.

The life of John Fitzgerald Kennedy is now stilled. But not the picture he left here that day: the straight, regal carriage that said "I am your president"; and the smile that said "I am your friend."

BIRDNECK RESIDENTS OPPOSE APARTMENTS

BIRDNECK — More than 100 Birdneck Point residents turned out Monday night to openly oppose rezoning that would permit the construction of an apartment building in that area.

The action took place at a special called meeting of the Birdneck Point Community League at the Cavalier Golf and Yacht Club.

The vote to oppose the project was unanimous.

Plans for the 2-story garden-type apartment building were outlined by representatives of the Heritage Land Corporation.

The proposed building site fronts over 652 feet on Laskin Road, is bordered on the east by Cardinal Road, on the north by Tanager Trail and on the west by one of the Cavalier Club fairways.

Application for a zoning change from residence suburban to multiple family residence has already been filed and is scheduled to come before the Planning Commission Dec. 9.

Many of the residents indicated they would appear at this hearing to oppose the change.

Rose Society Hears Heutte

BIRCHWOOD—The Tidewater Rose Society met recently at the Administration Building of the Norfolk Botanical Gardens. Frederic Heutte spoke on "Preparing Your Garden For Winter." He said that it was a good idea to prune off one third of the years growth on roses to reduce whipping by the wind. It is also important to clean rose beds thoroughly and use a dormant spray—one in January and one in the spring at pruning time, and to mulch the beds for the winter.

W. B. Harrison was re-elected President. Other officers are Edward Tippo, 1st vice-president; Dr. M. L. Krieger, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Fred Wallace, secretary; and Charles J. Turres, treasurer.

Board of Directors appointed were: Mrs. Josephine Turrentine, Frederic Heutte, A. J. Ayo, J. E. Eller and E. D. Duval.

Duval was also appointed representative for the Tidewater Rose Society to the American Rose Society's area nomination committee.

New members welcomed to the club were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Overton and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Luker.

Plans are being formulated for the installation dinner to be held in January. Mrs. Evelyn W. Hoffman, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Krieger and Mrs. Eller were appointed chairman for this affair.

"No one knows what he can do until he tries..."
Most of us have a tendency to be wary of attempting something new. Often times this reluctance to face new problems is unnecessary, because once a wholehearted effort is made we find we have capabilities of which we were not aware.

During a lifetime we will be called upon many times to meet new challenges, and now and then we may try our hand at something for which we are not physically equipped or temperamentally suited with unhappy results. However, even this failure has its reward; we at least know that it was not a task which we might have completed successfully if only we had tried.

TOE-LENGTH SWEATERS

One of the most elegant looks for a dinner dress this year is the floor-length knit. It combines that wonderful blend of elegance and simplicity we have all admired in daytime knits. Perhaps this can be an excuse for those of us whose knitting projects seem to get out of hand says Mrs. Anne Sterling, Director of Consumer Relations for the American Institute of Laundering. Professional care is a must with these dressy knits.

TEEN TOPICS . . .

By Lucy S. Oliver

Thanksgiving is almost here and, of course, Christmas is close behind. This means the party season for young people is getting into swing.

Are you planning a party? Well, then do plan it! Impromptu's are fine, but a real party gives you an opportunity to meet new acquaintances, make friends, and let your guests know one another better.

Even if you are not thinking about having a party right away, you should still be able to profit from these tips. They may sound complicated, but the first few times you are entertaining, give them a try.

CHECK family plans before you set a date. Even in a home of your own, you'll have to consider others.

PLAN to do most of the preparation. You'll need a helping hand here and there, but your family won't be around to help you with a lifetime of entertaining.

INVITE your guests well ahead of time. Written invitations aren't necessary, but when phoning remember to give the date, hours of the party (and address to new acquaintances). Anything in the way of special clothing for sports such as skating or swimming should be mentioned, too.

KEEP the food simple! Don't spend all your time in the kitchen . . . there's a party on. And several overly expensive get-togethers just may take the place of the date dress or bathing suit you simply can't live without.

MAKE the menu, check for ingredients you'll need, and do the shopping a day or two ahead. Just be sure to have plenty of the things you serve.

Like just about everything else in this world, a successful party is one that takes into full account the feelings of people for each other. So, in every stage of party planning, think about what the people you invite would most enjoy.

Avoid Hostess Pains! Several days beforehand, plan the entertainment. See that records are selected, check the record player, collect ideas for games, or whatever's needed for evening fun. And while you're at it, inspect your dress. The successful hostess is dressed and waiting when her guests arrive.

Cut down on Clean-Up for large groups, with paper plates, napkins and cups for informal gatherings. For a few, serve buffet style with the prettiest china . . . it's easy on you and mixes up the guests. But after the ball is over, just be sure to leave the kitchen clean and tidy!

The good hostess considers herself. Sounds like selfishness doesn't it? The truth is that whatever type of party you plan you should enjoy every second of it—from the first plan to the last goodbye.

Why? Because the world loves a relaxed hostess. Plan a party you think you would like to attend.

Consider The Neighbors! Whether yours is a house or an apartment, remember that voices and music carry. In fairness to the baby who's just gotten to sleep . . . watch the noise.

Accidents Do Happen. If a family illness or crisis makes it impossible for you to have the party at home, first try having it at the home of a friend. Otherwise, just call your guests and explain you're postponing it. They'll understand.

P.S. Next time you are a guest, remember your own party! The hostess has gone to a great deal of time and effort to make the evening enjoyable. Do your part by appearing at your most attractive and pleasant self.

New Business Opens At P.A.

PRINCESS ANNE — More and more new businesses are opening up in Princess Anne as that borough expands with the growth of the enlarged City of Virginia Beach.

The latest business venture in this historic section of the city is strictly for the ladies—a beauty center designed to fill the needs of the fashion-conscious population.

The Princess Anne Beauty Salon will hold its grand opening Monday and for the first week will offer free shampoo and sets, by appointment only.

The shop is owned and operated by Mrs. Ann Long, a graduate of Marinella School of Beauty Culture.

It is located on North Landing Road about one half mile from Princess Anne Court House.

Mrs. Long, a native of Norfolk, has been associated with the beauty profession for over 13 years. Much of this time was spent in Maryland and on the Eastern Shore.

Since returning to Tidewater about a year ago, Mrs. Long has wanted a shop of her own.

The opening of Princess Anne Beauty Salon Monday will bring about the realization of this dream and will also fill a great need for the women who live in and around Princess Anne Borough.

Nation Mourns the Death of Its President, But Guilt Not Hers

It is almost impossible to comprehend the events of the past several days with the memory of tragedy sure to remain forever with Americans, who were shocked beyond words at the news of the murder of President John F. Kennedy.

The Nation was deeply moved and filled with remorse at the horrible incident that took place in Dallas, Texas, as the President was enjoying a triumphant entrance into that great city.

Many words have been said and written of the feeling of the American people and the peoples of other countries that this dastardly act had been committed. Sympathy has poured forth from every corner of the globe for the young widow, her two children and the Kennedy family.

Heads of State and leaders throughout the world traveled to Washington for the funeral on Monday to pay their last respects to the late president. This was a great tribute to the young and vigorous John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

Through all of the shock and sadness during the past weekend there were many expressions concerning the assassination of the President. Many, to us, seemed disturbing and might not be said in retrospect.

A Senator said that the responsibility lay on "the people of Dallas" because this is where the event took place. One of our highest judges said the President's murder was stimulated by the "hatred and malevolence" that are "eating their way into American life." One of the country's leading newspapers said "none of us can escape a share of the fault for the spiral of violence." And, there were other expressions of a similar nature.

Statements such as these may be attributable to the shock and suddenness of events surrounding the President's death. Surely, they do not reflect, in our opinion, a proper appraisal of the tragedy. These statements can only come from men who have not been abroad in the land, neither paused to reflect how the events came about nor observed in what manner the whole American people have responded to tragedy.

Presidents, by tradition, like to get out among the people and President Kennedy particularly enjoyed being with the people and being close to them.

It is pure nonsense to lay blame on the whole of Dallas where the good people of that city turned out to honor and greet their President. To even suggest that these people share a murderous guilt or that the whole of America must share the guilt is utterly ridiculous. Such an indictment is vicious.

There are madmen everywhere and such acts of violence are possible throughout the world. No one city, area or section is to blame for what happened last Friday in Dallas, Texas. The blame was buried with the funeral of the assassin this week.

The assassination of President Kennedy was a tragedy never to be forgotten by the American people, but the Nation as a whole should not be held liable nor should the shame of guilt be placed upon Her.

American Farmer Always Looking To New Markets

The American farmer is the most adventurous farmer in the world. One reason is that he is always ready to capture new markets for his products. The door to another new market has now been opened to him—perhaps the most lucrative of all.

City people who don't have room to play, hike, swim, or camp, are looking for outdoor fun and are willing to pay for it.

If you are a landowner or operator and want to know more about this coming business boom, you should ask the local representative of the Soil Conservation Service, or the local office of other agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for a copy of AIB 277, "Rural Recreation Enterprises for Profit".

Just off the press, this publication lists and describes the many ways you can get started in the recreation business and take advantage of the increasing demand for fun in the sun. "The local SCS office, Virginia Beach, Virginia has copies."

Aubrey N. Holmes, Work Unit Conservationist, said.

The publication points out the opportunities for income from vacation farms and ranches, picnic and sports areas, fishing waters, camping, shooting preserves, and cottage and recreation sites and the like. It discusses legal angles and financing, what to charge, how to advertise, and how to deal with customers. And it tells of the assistance available from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other public agencies.

"This is one of the ways we can strengthen Rural America," Mr. Holmes said. "Local landowners and operators can put idle land to work and turn it into an entirely new business in their community."

NIMMO HAVING

The Rev. Frank D. James, Pastor of Nimmo and Salem Churches extends a special invitation to the congregations of Beech Grove, St. John's, Tabernacle, and Salem to attend this service and worship God on Thanksgiving Eve.

BASKIN' IN THE SUN

By GORDON BASKIN

Everyone talks these days about that "mess" in Washington, and the members of the largest debating society in the free world get upset about this name-calling. I don't see how the Association for the Protection of Pork-Barrelers can afford to be too vocal in their rebuttals, as long as there are people around like Wee Bobby Baker and his pals.

The most recent hoe-down that is causing the taxpayers to scream is that little trip Representative Hays took to Paris. Nobody minded Hays going to Paris—among other places. What bugged the folks was who he took along for the ride. Seems that Mr. Hays took a fellow named Ernest Petinaud along. He's a waiter in the dining room of the House of Representatives. Actually he's the headwaiter. I guess Mr. Hays wanted a better table for his bean soup for lunch, and taking the headwaiter to Paris certainly is the largest tip ever given within the memory of man.

Mr. Hays is quoted as saying the Ernest is a "nice guy and that he deserved a break." Not with my money he doesn't! I am not in favor of tipping this man with even counterpart funds. Hays says that Ernest ran errands while he was in Paris, and further says that he "understands" French, but doesn't speak it.

In case Mr. Hays is planning another jaunt, I will be glad to go along, as will several million other people. I will be happy to take that $27.00 a day for delivering messages. I would like to ride that jet that the Air Force sent to haul the group. I have a large number of people who would pay hard cash to see me tired and feathered, but I think I could dredge up a few folks who would certify that I am a "good guy" and "deserve a break." Apparently this is all you have to be to get a trip to Paris.

I loved the comment made by one of the Congressmen. He said, "Petinaud will do more good for the United States than half the members of the delegation." Boy—that ain't no lie! I'd change that quote just a little bit. I'd say that he probably did more good than all the members of the delegation.

Miss Guthrie Is YWCA Speaker

VIRGINIA BEACH — Miss Anne Guthrie, who has traveled in more than 70 countries and lived on three continents, will be guest speaker at the YWCA annual dinner Monday at 7 p.m. at Galilee Episcopal Church.

Miss Guthrie is author of the book "Madame Ambassador," published in 1962, which is a biography of Madame Pandit, president of the United Nations General Assembly in 1953 and sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru. She knew both these outstanding people while living in India and working in the U.N.

As one of the International Secretaries of the YWCA, Miss Guthrie has had one advantage which does not come to the usual world traveler. She has lived for 5-year periods in Argentina, India and the Philippines where her home became a meeting place for women of many nationalities.

She has also held YWCA executive positions in South America, Burma and Ceylon as well as in the United States. Since 1949 she has lectured on the U.N. and international affairs throughout this country.

Bayside P.O. Studies New Building Plan

BAYSIDE — Local post office officials are studying the preliminary floor plan for the new Bayside Station.

It will be built on the east side of Pleasure House Road, south of Bayside Bowling Lanes. The new building will contain 5,141 square feet of floor space.

The plans are being carefully looked over by Postmaster Joseph T. Crosswhite, Jr. He and his supervisors are looking them over to see if they wish to recommend any changes.

When the preliminary plans are completed they will be sent back to the regional office of the Post Office Department so the final plans can be made. The contracts for the building will be let soon after this, the postmaster said.

The building, which will provide space for 25 carriers will be constructed under the department's lease construction program. Under this program a private owner builds the building and leases it to the federal government.

Crosswhite said he is still waiting for approval from the Post Office Department on the proposed mail distribution center. Temporary facilities are being opened in Princess Anne Plaza.

This building, to contain at least 20,000 square feet of floor space, is to be constructed on Virginia Beach Boulevard. It will replace the overloaded Seapines Station as the mail processing center for the city.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1963

View Of Virginia Beach

By
Doris Padrick

Thanksgiving 1963... what is there to be thankful for? The whole country mourns in unison the loss of our young president, and you may feel helpless and hopeless about life and all its so-called blessings.

In what can we rejoice with so much unhappiness and uncertainty surrounding us? The pain of loss is so great, where is the room for gladness?

Death is a part of life; the beginning of eternal life, the Bible teaches us. It will come to all of us sometime. The shock does not come from the fact of death in itself; it is more the realization that we are left behind and that the loved one is no longer with us—to see, to touch, to feel.

We have united as one in grief over the senseless assassination of a man we felt belonged to us. It is a personal loss shared by all.

But we all also have or will have to face someday such a loss in our own family or from among dear friends. How do you cope with that?

"Blessed are they who mourn; for they shall be comforted"—that is the key to Thanksgiving. Those who have suffered know this to be true; this is one of the miracles that follows grief. How are they comforted? Because you care! Either the soul who has gone was important to you, or the survivor who grieves is your friend.

While nothing can be done for the departed, your sharing the feeling of loss is a great comfort. Don't shy away from the fact of death; be there to comfort those who mourn. Care about them. The flowers you send, the tears you shed, the words you utter, none are as important as your caring.

Be thankful that you do care, that you do hurt, that you do grieve. None are so dead as those who care not...

Tri-Hi-Y Sponsors Charity Projects

LYNNHAVEN — The Theta Tri-Hi-Y of Princess Anne High School has several charity projects underway for the months of November and December.

The members have assembled a basket of canned goods which will be presented to a needy family Thanksgiving.

They are also collecting all types of adult games and records to be used at Norfolk Municipal Hospital.

Last weekend the girls collected money in various sections of the city for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.

For Christmas the members will make toy octopi to be presented to children in area hospitals.

P.A.C.C. Changes Date of Party

VIRGINIA BEACH — The Princess Anne Country Club has changed the date of its "Upstage and Downstage" revue until Dec. 7, Club Manager Roy M. Niel Jr. announced this week.

It was originally planned for this Saturday night.

The black tie affair will be open to members and their guests and reservations will close at 200.

DAM NECK TRAINEES CONTROL "DRAGONFLY"

DAM NECK — Looking like a giant dragonfly with its twin rotors whirling, the QH-50C drone helicopter rose off the concrete apron, hovered a moment, then settled back down.

The drone, better known as DASH (Drone Anti-Submarine Helicopter), was being controlled by a trainee crew from a U.S. Atlantic Fleet destroyer.

At the U.S. Fleet Anti-Air Warfare Training Center, Dam Neck, crews are being trained by Utility Squadron 6, Detachment II, in the operation and maintenance of this latest addition to the Navy's growing anti-submarine forces.

A DASH crew is composed of an aviation jet mechanic, an aviation electronics technician, an engine man, an electronics technician, and an officer in charge. During operations aboard ship the crew also includes the CIC (Combat Information Center) officer.

A mission would be carried out in this manner. The drone is armed in the hangar and moved to the launch area on the flight deck.

From his control panel the deck controller starts the engine and then maneuvers the drone away from the ship and sends it on its way to the target area. When the drone appears on the CIC radar display the control is turned over to the CIC controller who then plots the course to the target area.

At the optimum weapon drop point the CIC controller releases the weapon load and then commands the drone back toward the ship.

When it comes within sight, the control is returned to the deck controller who then executes the approach and landing.

There were some losses of the drones during early tests because of electronic troubles. Now with most of the bugs out, the program is going ahead and today seven destroyers are operating DASH: the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Wallace L. Line and Hugh Purvis in the Atlantic, and the John R. Craig, Everett F. Larson, Perkins and Buck in the Pacific.

Plans are to have some 200 ships fitted out with the DASH system by 1968. This number includes 131 World War II destroyers being modernized under the FRAM program.

What is DASH and what is its mission?

The DASH system goes hand in hand with the destroyer FRAM (Fleet Rehabilitation and Modernization) program which has been adapting destroyers with flight decks and hangars for the drones.

A drone, weighing about 1200 pounds empty and standing nearly 10 feet high, is powered by a gas turbine engine producing 300 horsepower. It has two contra-rotating 20-foot rotors.

The radio-controlled aircraft is capable of carrying a variety of anti-submarine weapons.

The droneless craft is controlled from either the flight deck of the destroyer or from the Combat Information Center. Shipboard radar is used for tracking the drone and sonar is used for detecting the underwater targets. A display system combines the radar and sonar information to enable the CIC controller to position the drone over the target area.

A mission would be carried out in this manner. The drone is armed in the hangar and moved to the launch area on the flight deck.

From his control panel the deck controller starts the engine and then maneuvers the drone away from the ship and sends it on its way to the target area. When the drone appears on the CIC radar display the control is turned over to the CIC controller who then plots the course to the target area.

At the optimum weapon drop point the CIC controller releases the weapon load and then commands the drone back toward the ship.

When it comes within sight, the control is returned to the deck controller who then executes the approach and landing.

There were some losses of the drones during early tests because of electronic troubles. Now with most of the bugs out, the program is going ahead and today seven destroyers are operating DASH: the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Wallace L. Line and Hugh Purvis in the Atlantic, and the John R. Craig, Everett F. Larson, Perkins and Buck in the Pacific.

Plans are to have some 200 ships fitted out with the DASH system by 1968. This number includes 131 World War II destroyers being modernized under the FRAM program.

Virginia Was First In "Thanksgiving Day" Observance In U.S.

By John N. Wilkinson

Virginia can claim many "firsts". Among them is the first "Thanksgiving Day" observance in America.

Although millions of Americans have been taught that the first Thanksgiving Day celebration was held by the Pilgrims at Plymouth, Massachusetts in 1621, several such observances had taken place in Virginia long before the Mayflower sailed.

America's first formally designated "Thanksgiving Day" service was held at Berkeley Hundred (now Berkeley Plantation) on December 4, 1619. On that day thirty-nine English settlers, under the leadership of Capt. John Woodleaf, landed at Berkeley, on the James River from Jamestown. The service took place in accordance with one of the directives contained in the "Instructions" of the group's charter. It reads as follows:

"Impr we ordaine that the day of our ships arrival at the place assigned for plantation in the land of Virginia shall be yearly and perpetually kept holy as a day of thanksgiving to Almighty God."

At least two other thanksgiving services were held in Virginia before the Pilgrims' arrival in Massachusetts. One was held in 1607 at Cape Henry, when the Jamestown colonists first entered the Chesapeake Bay. Another was held in June, 1610 by the survivors of Jamestown's "starving time". Of the 490 colonists who had been at Jamestown in the fall of 1609, only 60 were alive the following spring.

Abraham Lincoln, in 1863, was the first U.S. President to designate the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day. Lincoln had visited Berkeley in the summer of the previous year to confer with Union General George B. McClellan, following the bloody Seven Days' Battle. Ironically, Lincoln landed at the same spot where Woodleaf settlers had held their first thanksgiving service in 1610.

It was at Berkeley in the summer of 1862 that "Taps" was composed by Union General Daniel Butterfield and O. W. Norton, one of his buglers.

Berkeley was the birthplace of Benjamin Harrison V, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and his son, President William Henry Harrison, of "Tippecanoe and Tyler Too" fame. Traitor Benedict Arnold plundered the mansion for the British in 1781 and burned the Harrison family portraits on the front lawn.

Although Berkeley suffered heavy damage in the Revolution and during the Civil War, it has been tastefully restored and today stands much as it did during the eighteenth century.

Superb Acting In "Menagerie"

The Virginia Beach Little Theatre production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" was perhaps too ambitious for local audiences but certainly it was a fine outlet for the excellent acting of the four principals.

Thursday's opening night had the traditional mishaps, especially in overlong lighting blackouts between scenes, but the lines were delivered with the perfection of seasoned performers.

Anne Henry, as the mother, had a very difficult role that entailed lengthy dialogue with a strong southern accent. It is much to Mrs. Henry's credit and talent that not once did she slip from character or indicate to the audience that she was other than that nagging, flighty woman.

Foy Shaw, as her son, was equally good though he might have been stronger in his emotions when he exploded from the constant barrage of criticisms from his mother and ended up calling her a "witch on a broomstick."

John Haffling's role as the gentleman caller was the smallest part in the play but he took advantage of the lines and was quite convincing as a self-impressed braggart.

But the real laurels of the cast go to Judy Berns who, as the introverted daughter interested only in her little glass figurines, came through as a tormented young woman pathetically withdrawn from reality in a blanket of childish innocence.

In true Tennessee Williams style, "Menagerie" is more a character study of slightly demented people than a drama dealing with incidents of action that end on a climatic note. Because of this, the play rests solely on the shoulders of a competent cast.

Mrs. Henry, Miss Berns, Shaw and Haffling fulfilled this responsibility more than adequately and they are to be commended. But "Menagerie" should be attended by those who appreciate fine acting and Tennessee Williams plays; not by those who expect a light evening's entertainment.

The Courtyard Playhouse was filled to capacity Thursday night and whether or not the audience agreed on the selection of "Menagerie" they surely must have agreed that the drab setting was beautifully executed with the costumes, properties and lighting.

Artists Donate Works To Aid Palsy Campaign

VIRGINIA BEACH — At least 35 leading Virginia artists have donated works to be auctioned Saturday for the benefit of the United Cerebral Palsy Scholarship Fund.

The auction at 2:30 p.m. will highlight an all-day Arts and Crafts Fair to be held at the Star of the Sea Recreation Center. Proceeds will go toward the summer camp fund of the Cerebral Palsy Development Center.

Paintings for the auction were hung Saturday and will be on display all week. Among the distinguished contributors are Walter Thrift, A. B. Jackson, John Curran, Charles Sibley, Cornelia Justice, Vance Mitchell, Edna Sara Lazaron and Yella Bornstein.

Prospective buyers will have the privilege of browsing amongst the works, deciding which original creations they would like to own.

Next to each work, an envelope will be available for sealed bids from those who may not be able to attend the auction in person.

If auctioneers Maury Rignato should be unable to wrangle a higher bid from his audience than the highest bid found in the envelope, the absentee buyer wins.

Mrs. Ruth Laakso, chairman of the hanging committee has entered several outstanding works of her own in the auction.

The paintings to be auctioned were obtained largely through the efforts of Miss Betty Crawford, chairman of the arts committee for the Parents' Council of the Council of the United Cerebral Palsy Scholarship Fund.

The committee composed a list of prominent artists and then set about asking them by letter to donate works of art.

In addition, various civic groups and clubs will operate booths.

The Princess Anne - Virginia Beach Junior Woman's Club will have a Parcel Post Booth stocked with European as well as American gifts; the Tidewater Federation of Garden Clubs will sponsor a Christmas Centerpiece Booth; The Ft. Story Officers' Wives and N.C.O. Wives Clubs will have a Handicrafts Booth; secretaries from Dam Neck working with

Notes from Your Agricultural Agent

By E. R. "DICK" COCKRELL, JR.

This past week, November 22, has been commemorated all over the United States and Canada as Farm-City Week. Farm-City week has received special interest in Virginia Beach, by a special proclamation of Mayor Frank A. Dusch.

This is the ninth year that such a week has been honored in an effort to create better understanding between people of the farm and of the city. In the Tidewater area, a year-round effort has resulted in a continuous good feeling of understanding between the people of various economies. This is because the people of the City recognize the value of the farm and the farm product. They also recognize that the farmer buys many consumer goods and that he and his family is an important segment of his buying population.

The farmer recognizes the value of the man in the City, because the businessman is selling him products which he needs, and is also buying products which the farmer has to sell.

Therefore, in the Tidewater area, there is always a good, mutual understanding of the interdependence of one industry with another, and this week has been set aside to commemorate this feeling of good understanding.

To celebrate this national event, the Agricultural Committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce, which represents the cities of Virginia Beach, Chesapeake, and Norfolk, held on November 22, their Annual Farm-City Luncheon. Mr. P. H. DeHart, Associate Director of the Agricultural Extension Service, was the featured speaker. Farm leaders and businessmen from the three cities attended the affair held at the Admiralty Motor Hotel.

Soil Conservation District to Meet

The Annual Meeting for the Area 6 Soil Conservation Districts will be held on December 3, 1963, starting at 9:30 a.m. at the Pine Tree Inn. Mr. Walter Menden, Supervisor of the Virginia Dare Soil Conservation District, will represent Virginia Beach. Special invitations to members of the City Council, and the City Manager have been accepted.

Dairymen Urged to Attend 11th Annual Short Course

Ten years of experience in conducting the annual Short Course for Dairymen has been used in planning this 1963 Program, which is sponsored by the Agricultural Committee of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce. Dates for this outstanding event are December 3 & 4.

As before, the place is the educational building, First Christian Church, 1800 Colonial Ave., in Norfolk. Dairymen are urged to place their registrations with the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce so that arrangements can be made for space and meals.

A rather outstanding program has been arranged for the two-day annual affair. Speakers will come from our local area, from Virginia and North Carolina.

On Tuesday, December 3, Mr. B. F. Wilson, Manager, Norfolk Cooperative Milk Producers Association, will discuss production of the producers' price; production of the product will be discussed by Mr. Gill Morgan, At Large Dairy Council of Tidewater, and Mrs. E. E. Robinson, Executive Director of the Dairy Council of Tidewater, will discuss your place in the dairy council.

Many dairymen have realized a reduction in butterfat tests during the previous drought season, and Dr. J. T. Huber, Dept. of Dairy Science, will discuss some practical measures for this.

Dairymen in the Next Decade will be discussed by Dr. Wilson D. Bell, Dept. of Agriculture, VPI, will be the keynote program of the day. I know that all dairymen and agricultural businessmen serving the dairy industry will want to have this outstanding talk by Dean Bell.

Registration Program
The registration program will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, December 2, 1963, from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

ber 4th. This will be followed by the "Use of Herbicides," presented by Mr. Allan Kates, Weed Specialist from VPI.

Dr. Murley will again appear on the program in presenting "The Latest Developments in Loose Housing For Dairy Cattle."

The Annual Business Meeting of the Southeastern Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be held at 2:00, with John J. Cogliandro, President of the Association, handling the business meeting. This is the first annual meeting of the Southeastern DHIA, and an outstanding panel discussion will be presented, to both the members and non-members attending.

I believe that this is an outstanding program. I believe that it is one which every progressive dairyman must attend. In today's business world, it is especially important that dairymen stay right on top of the very latest developments, as well as to maintain a high level of information on the state of business. I think this is a "golden" opportunity for our progressive dairymen, and in Virginia Beach we have no dairymen, except those that are progressive. Therefore, we will be looking for every dairyman in Virginia Beach to attend this truly outstanding event.

New Dairymen in Virginia Beach

It is my pleasure to welcome to Virginia Beach a new dairy farmer. He is Mr. Fred Yoder, who is now located on Princess Anne Road between City Hall and Kempsville.

He is milking 100 Holstein cows, and is doing an outstanding job with them. We are real pleased to welcome Mr. Yoder and his family to Virginia Beach, and wish them much success in their dairy farming operation with us.

Retail Florists Meeting

The VPI Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Retail Florists Association, will conduct a meeting on December 12, on The Care of Christmas Pot Plants and Out Flowers.

The meeting will be held at the Norfolk Wholesale Floral Corporation, at 601 E. Brambleton St., Norfolk, Virginia. Florists from Chesapeake, Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport-News, and area are invited to attend. Announcements will be forthcoming at an early date.

Hereford Heifers Find New Home

As you ride along North Landing Road, and look out the window like I do when I am driving, you will see about 100 new Hereford heifers on the R. P. Midgett farm. Beautiful pasture and beautiful heifers, which will one day be a fine herd of brood cows.

Bobby purchased these Choice and Fancy Hereford heifers at one of the recently held Feeder Calf Sales, and they are truly a uniformed lot of fine quality animals.

By the way, I am told sometimes that I should give equal time to both breeds, so, therefore, I want to be sure to mention that Howard Salmons, down at Back Bay, has a new Angus bull. I want to get down to see the new herd sire of the Back Bay Angus Herd, and I am sure that Howard would welcome you down also.

Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Now—'64 Chevy II...

with a V8 engine

Now you see it. Now you don't. When a Chevy II does that kind of disappearing act you know without looking twice: It's a '64 with a V8 engine.

That's right. A full-grown 195-hp Turbo-Fire V8.* It's available for the first time this year along with a choice of three other engines—the standard 4 (in 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6.* (And all of them, happily, maintain their high spirits on modest amounts of regular gasoline.)

You can take this V8 through the gears most any way you choose—with personal encouragement from a finely honed 4-speed shift* if you like.

But the changes that have come over this new Chevy II aren't by any means confined to what happens when you slip into the driver's seat.

There are new styling features like the tasteful grille design and trim accents, for instance. And the larger self-adjusting brakes that further reduce upkeep on a car that already has a reputation of coming about as close to perpetual motion as anything on four wheels can get.

The place to get the full details on the '64 is your Chevrolet dealer's. And after you've got them, we hope you'll attend to one further detail yourself. Drive it.

New Helicopter For Reserves

NORFOLK — The Naval Air Reserve Training Unit (NARTU) stationed aboard the Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Virginia, is in the process of commissioning a new Helicopter Squadron. The new helicopters to be assigned to NARTU are the HSS-1N's which are outstanding in anti-submarine warfare.

IT'S Fun TO COOK
By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

With more and more U. S. mainlanders falling under the spell of Puerto Rico vacations, the American Spice Trade Association saluted the unusual cuisine of the commonwealth at a dinner for the food press October 23 at the Hotel Biltmore.

As part of "Operation Bootstrap," Puerto Rico is discovering itself and learning to value its past as well as its present. At one time Puerto Rican nutrition authorities dismissed native foods as worthless. Recently a leading nutritionist said:

"We now are trying to go back and mend our error committed when we thought our mangoes, plantains, casabe and our other foods were poor... We know it is not necessary to do away with our food habits and traditions..."

Actually a great many Puerto Rican dishes are original and flavorful. At the crossroads of New World exploration in the 15th and 16th Centuries, Puerto Rico reflects the seasoning secrets of many cultures in its cooking. Not only the Spanish, led by Columbus and Ponce de Leon, but Portuguese, Africans, Dutch, English, French, Danes and Italians all contributed something to the Puerto Rican menu.

Herbs, the very popular anise, coriander, fennel, sage, thyme, rosemary, mint, sweet marjoram and parsley reached Puerto Rican gardens 400 years ago. Onions and garlic from the Mediterranean area were instantly popular with the original Borinquen Indians. The bay (or laurel) tree and the ginger root found a happy home on this sunlit and fertile island. Capsicum pods which became the paprika, red pepper and cayenne of our spice shelves, were natives of the Caribbean and Latin America. Allspice, trees grow wild on Puerto Rico as they do on many other Caribbean islands.

As might be expected in a country with large crops of sugar cane, everyone loves desserts, sweeter perhaps than is customary on the mainland. Cinnamon, there, as in most parts of the world, is the leading dessert spice, closely followed by anise, cloves, ginger and allspice. Beans, rice, starch, root vegetables, fruit, chicken, pork, and a variety of fish have been made up the basic diet. Today more milk and meat is being consumed and nutritionists have been telling the islanders how to complement their traditional diet with foods rich in the nutrients they lack.

Certain food habits are dear to them: They like, for instance, both a hot lunch and dinner (No hasty sandwiches for them!) Puerto Rican stores one sees triole-decker lunch pails, shallow pans of enamel set one on top of the other. Such a lunch pail is called a fiambra. In it a workman carries hot rice, beans, stewed meat or codfish and perhaps tomatoes.

The menu prepared by the spice trade association's home economists mirrored the old and new patterns in Puerto Rican cookery. As might be expected on an island long under the influence of the Spanish, Arroz con Pollo and Paella are extremely popular dishes. Equally typical is a flavorful pickled fish, Pescado en Escabeche, and green beans with the flavorful multi-purpose sofrito sauce. Carne Mechada is stuffed eye round steak, pot-roasted in a delectable sauce, the piece de resistance of any good dinner.

a Pumpkin Flan which is a beautifully spiced pumpkin custard or, equally delicious, Ginger Ice Cream served with Mantecaditos, anise-flavored Spanish cookies.

RELLENO (Stuffing)

1/2 lb. ground chuck
1/2 lb. ground ham
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1/4 cup sweet pepper flakes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons capers
2 tablespoons chopped olives
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1 bay leaf
1/2 cup seedless raisins (optional)
1/2 cup hot water
Combine the first 8 ingredients in a saucepan. Stir and cook 10 minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Cool. Keep a jar of this mixture in the refrigerator for stuffing vegetables. Below are two stuffed vegetable recipes.

STUFFED MASHED POTATOES:
Mix 4 cups mashed potatoes with 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper. Cook and stir 45 minutes. Cool. Shape 1 teaspoon stuffing in a ball and wrap a thin coating of mashed potatoes around it. Sprinkle with cornstarch and fry until browned in deep fat preheated to 350F. Drain on paper towel. Serve as a hot hors d'oeuvre or make them larger, using 1 tablespoon stuffing and serve as the main dish.
YIELD: 4 dozen small balls or 18 larger balls.

STUFFED CABBAGE LEAVES:
For this dish, use 12 large outside leaves of cabbage. Wash leaves and cut out the heavy coarse part of the center stem. Cook in boiling water to cover 2 to 3 minutes or only until they are wilted. Flatten leaves on a board and place a heaping tablespoon stuffing in the center of each. Fold the edges of the leaves over the filling and hold in place with toothpicks. Place in a buttered 10-inch skillet. Add 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon instant minced onion, 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder, 1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Serve hot at the main dish with some of the sauce spooned over the top.
YIELD: 6 servings, 2 rolls each.

FOOTBALL

A number of years ago, someone wrote in a college magazine in evident paraphrase of a verse of the Psalm of life the following: "Lives of football men remind us in blood. And, departing, leave behind them Half their faces in the mud."

JUST A THOUGHT:
On the field of sports and in the game of life, the best players are those who observe the rules of fair play and good, honest competition.

But it can now be said that our football stars come out of the field of glory with whole faces, thanks to the helmets they wear and a score open play as compared with the old days.

The changes in rules concerning substitutions of players are evidently designed to give a team with fewer men a better chance with an opponent that can place any of several teams on the field. Short of actual warfare and a situation of life and death it does not seem very sportsmanlike to employ several different teams to win a game against an institution that can put a small number of men in the field.

The personal foul still draws a stiff penalty and this is it should be. For a personal foul is an ugly violation of the good sportsmanship which the game should promote rather than destroy and it makes the player against whom the penalty is assessed a kind of traitor to his own team. Thus the display of ugly temper becomes a costly indulgence. Come on, let us go to the game.

Your Social Security

If you have a Social Security card, the Social Security Administration has a record of the earnings reported for you. This record is kept under your individual account number, so no matter how many people have the same name as you, you can count on your earnings being posted to your proper account. Modern electronic data processing machines, able to store tremendous quantities of information on reels of magnetic tape, are used. A single reel of magnetic tape holds the lifetime earnings records of 60,000 people.

Of course, these machines cannot record your earnings to your account unless your employer has furnished your account number—and your employer cannot furnish this number unless you first provide him with it. So accurate record keeping is a three-way deal. You, your employer, and the Social Security Administration must all do their share. We urge you to make sure that your account is properly credited. We will provide you with a post-card form to request an accounting of your record. Ask for form OAR 7004. The address is 220 W. Brambleton Avenue, Norfolk, Va. 23510.

the Secret of THANKSGIVING

ALL FOR THE CHURCH THE CHURCH FOR ALL

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Does the "horn of plenty" make us thankful?

We do not become thankful by our abundance. The spoiled child lavished with gifts is not thankful.

It is not the horn of plenty, but the bigness of our heart that makes us thankful. The blessings God gives are infinite, but we must have the capacity to receive. Like a child who carries a bucket of water from the sea, we can only carry as many blessings as our heart will hold.

The capacity to receive comes through worship and prayer. We go into the presence of God and think deeply about our life. Understanding is awakened. With new eyes, we see our blessings and are grateful. We kneel poor, and rise rich.

Thanksgiving Day brings us a special opportunity for worship and prayer. Isn't this why we want to be in church with our family? Here we discover the secret of thanksgiving.

THE HARRY FAMILY

BY LLOYD DUNHAM

Support Given To Journalists

RICHMOND — The Newspaper Fund Inc. of New York City has granted $1,900 to support a journalism workshop for high school teachers and newspaper advisors to be held at Richmond Professional Institute next summer.

The special, two-week workshop program, offered for the first time, will be conducted starting June 15 under direction of the RPI Journalism Department.

Jack R. Hunter, department acting director, announced the Newspaper Fund grant today. The fund is supported by gifts from the Wall Street Journal.

Hunter said the Virginia Press Association and Richmond Newspapers Inc. also are supporting the workshop. He noted that the new program is the second of its kind developed at RPI in two years to further journalism in Virginia and the region.

Last summer, RPI began the annual Virginia High School Newspaper Editors Workshop with 77 top students from around the state participating. Hunter said plans for the 1964 Editors Workshop will be announced later.

The Teachers Workshop will accommodate 20 persons and two graduate credits will be available. Receipt of the Newspaper Fund grant will enable the Journalism Department to offer selected teachers scholarships covering all RPI expenses, Hunter said.

NEW MATERIALS IN HOME BUILDING ARE DELIGHT TO BUYER

(Last in Series of Three Articles)

A whole new family of building materials has joined the housing industry. They are a delight to the builder and the home buyer, for they help substantially in making a new home more attractive, durable, and easier to maintain.

Plastics are among the newest members. The plastics now in use are lightweight and moldable. They cover many surfaces in the home—walls, floors, cabinets and countertops. They come in almost a limitless range of fresh, clear colors.

Aluminum is also a booming new building material. A few years ago it was used mainly for doors and windows. But now entire houses are clad in aluminum. As a building material, it is comparatively easy to handle. It can be sawed, planed, drilled, nailed, stapled, and bolted.

Of course, the materials we have known for centuries—wood, brick, stone—still are the basis of the house today. But changes are being made here, too.

Old, familiar building materials are taking on a new look. Concrete block, once the ugly duckling in the family of building materials, has acquired texture, pattern, color, beauty and distinction.

New finishes give wood a longer life and enhance its natural beauty.

Improvements in home building materials extend even to fastenings. There is an increasing use of glues and adhesives to fasten the various parts of a house together. The new adhesives are incredibly strong. Nails and bolts are also better.

There is something on the order of 250,000 hand motions involved in the nailing of a house. Most of the nails on a finished surface must be set, pulled, and painted over. This is a time consuming and costly operation. New glues and adhesives will mean more efficient production.

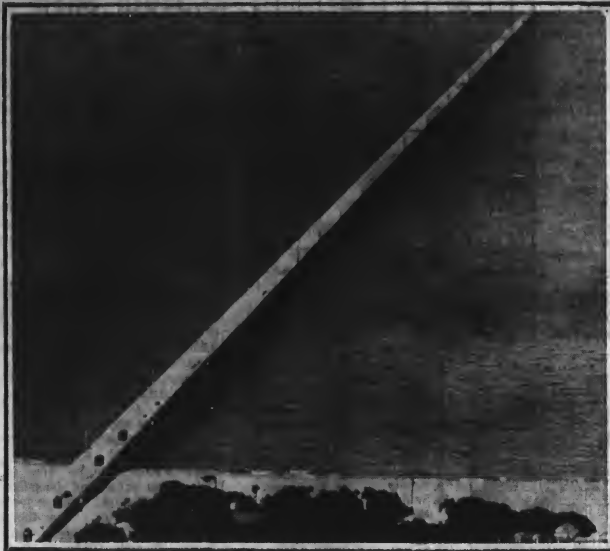

Along with the changes in the procedures and materials of home building have come changes in the individual home builder. Today, he is not only a builder but a land planner, designer, engineer, an expert on financing and a salesman. Obviously, one man could not personally comprise all this, but today's home building management is apt to have such experts on the staff or available on a consulting basis.

A number of colleges and universities have established courses having to do with home building. Many of the industry's recruits in the future will be found among these graduates. So strongly does the National Association of Home Builders believe that the future of the industry belongs to the trained youth, that it has established a scholarship program. It awards about $10,000 each year to encourage promising students to enter some field of home building. The association selects the schools at which the awards are made but the designation of winning students is left to the faculty of each institution.

The changes in the industry have been varied and many—but they have all pointed to a better built home, with greater comfort, convenience and livability.

CHESAPEAKE BAY BRIDGE TUNNEL

The Virginia Beach Sun-News Will Publish a Souvenir Edition Telling the Story in Words and Pictures of the Longest Bridge Tunnel in the World!

This gigantic engineering project will connect Virginia's Eastern Shore with the great Tidewater area with one terminus of this bridge-tunnel complex located in the great new City of Virginia Beach.

Two tunnels, each more than a mile long, are a part of the great Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel. The tunnels will allow ample clearance for the largest ocean vessels. In addition to the two tunnels there will be four man-made islands that will link the tunnels with overwater bridges.

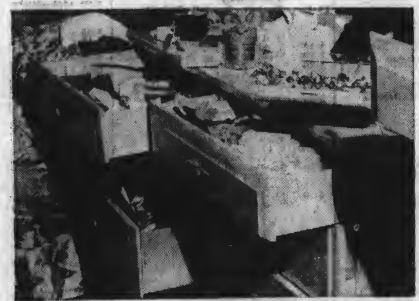

As a tribute to this great project the Virginia Beach Sun-News will publish a special Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel edition early in 1964 prior to the official opening. We know this edition will give an incite as to what can be expected of the impact on the area's economy and future.
